Air Mail Radio
Out of Order

"Sparks" and "Contact" Short
Circuit Apparatus And Are Wearing Electrically Bob-bed Ears as Result.

Twice in recent months the United States radio station here has been put out of commission temporarily, and each time a cat was responsible. The radio is used for transmission of important messages of the postal department at the air mail station. One time "Sparks" who gained this name by virtue of his contact with the powerful electrical apparatus, was to blame, and the other time "Contact," another of several pet felines at the station, was guilty of the offense.

Were it not for the apparent penchant of the cats for the sparks that play about the electrical apparatus in the room at the station where Radio Operator Gale each week received thousands of words by wireless, the two incidents probably would not have occurred.

But the cats like to be in the electrical room and the men in charge of the air mail station have to be on the alert to keep them out. Their alertness, however, failed to prevent the two accidents.

Sparks got off lightly with his experience with electricity and was only "knocked out" for a short time.

Contact, who was named before he received his baptism of electricity, got the worst of it and was unconscious for two hours afterwards. As a result of his experience, the cat's ears are a little shorter than those of the average cat, the electrical current having burned them off until they are nothing more than stubs.

Describing the incidents, Operator Gale said that each time he lost all connection with the outside world as he sat at his desk with his radio headgear properly adjusted. He says he could not figure what had gone wrong until he looked around to see the form of a prostrate cat lying motionless upon the floor.

The cats had "short circuited" the apparatus.

ADVERTISMENT
SIMPLE APPLICATION
THAT DISSOLVES
BLACKHEADS

No more squeezing and pinching to get rid of those unsightly blemishes, blackheads. There is one simple, safe and sure way to get them out, and that is to dissolve them. To do this just get about two ounces of calomite powder from your druggist—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet sponge—rub briskly over the blackheads for a few seconds—wash the parts and every blackhead will be gone.

Pinching and squeezing out blackheads make large pores and you cannot get all of the blackheads out this way—while this simple application of calomite powder and water dissolves every particle of them and leaves the skin and pores in their natural condition. Any druggist will sell you the calomite powder and about two ounces will be all you will ever need.

"Onward Omaha Exposition"

Featuring the Largest and Most Varied Manufacturing and Industrial Display Ever Assembled in Omaha

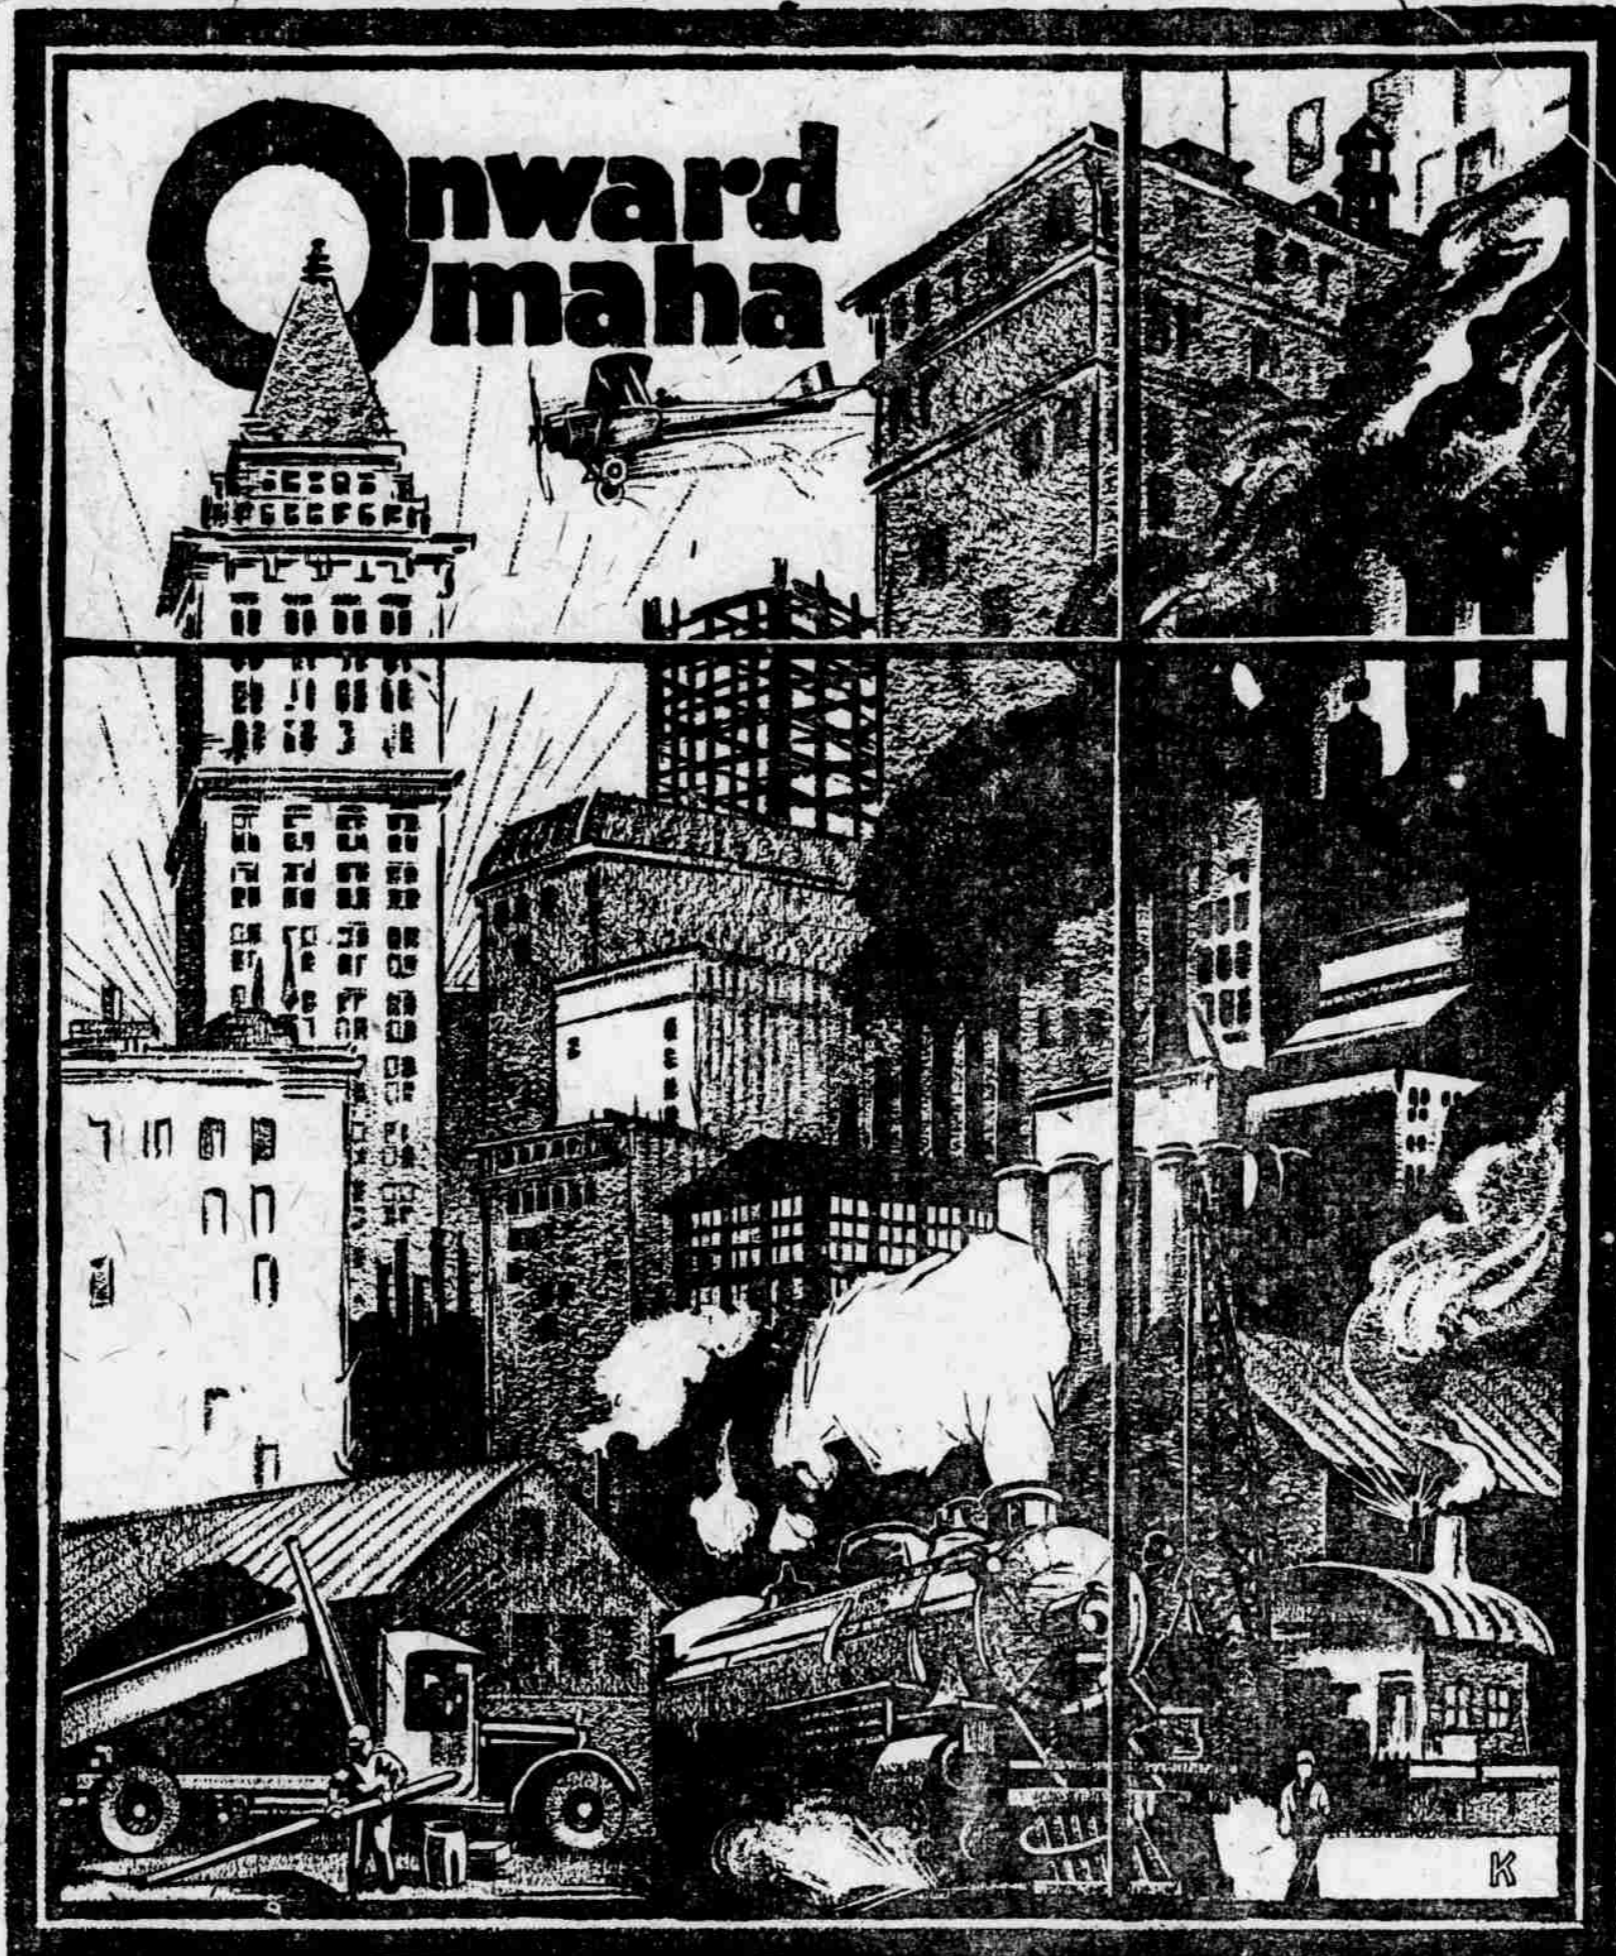

Starts Monday, January 31st, 1921.

On Main Floor of Burgess-Nash Store —New Building

For many years, confidence has been the foundation upon which Omaha has built. The spirit of the present generation is the spirit of the past, born of vision, resolute purpose and the love for a useful life.

"Onward Omaha" seems to have been the watchword for generations past for what is today one of the most thriving cities of the country was once a vast sweep of rolling prairie. Indians roamed on the banks of the Missouri River where now you will find the eternal drive of the world's industries, the perpetual whirl of machinery, and the ceaseless activity of human brains and hands skilled to the creation of the wonderful products of the mines, the fields and the forests.

Plans are being put into operation that will make Omaha a city people will be proud to claim as their home. What can be done for the advancement of our city is the uppermost thought of all good citizens. Let us all adopt "Onward Omaha" as our slogan and do all in our power to expand Omaha on even broader lines of permanency and prosperity than heretofore.

DRAWING BY ACORN PRESS OMAHA

To build a store of greater service, and at the same time help to make Omaha what the citizens want it to be has always been foremost in our minds.

As our new building progresses and time grows near for its formal opening, we view it with a deeper sense of satisfaction than that which might spring from selfish interest.

Our motto is "the greatest service to the greatest number." The word "service" is used advisedly, knowing that achievement in service means even more than material success.

It is not the building that we are going to be the proudest of, but what we have on the inside. The real thing will be its large and varied stocks of fresh merchandise, well and fairly selected and carefully priced.

We want the confidence, trust and approval of our customers at all times, for only as one serves does one achieve.

This great exhibit will extend over the entire main floor of the new Burgess-Nash Company store, a space of nearly one-half block.

Practically every one of Omaha's largest manufacturers and jobbers will be represented and will display their wares either in the course of construction or in the finished state.

The Burgess-Nash Company has given over this great space to the Onward Omaha Exposition in an endeavor to show the people of Omaha the products which are made in Omaha or made in other localities for the exclusive distribution by Omaha firms.

It will be the largest and most varied manufacturing and industrial display ever assembled in Omaha and the public are cordially invited to view it during the coming week.
