

Baleful Fires to Again Shimmer in Tabor Diamond

Owner of Jewel Pawned by Queen Isabella Again Is in Shoals of Marital Sea With Third Wife.

Denver, Colo., Jan. 31.—Are baleful fires shimmering again in the heart of the famous Tabor diamond? Is it due to the evil fate pursuing the owners of the gem of great price, said to have been pawned by Queen Isabella of Spain to help finance the voyage of Columbus, that J. Fitz Brind, wealthy Denver man, who won the ill-starred jewel in a suit for the estate of his first wife, again is in the shoals of the marital sea?

Third Wife Files.
The superstitious can draw their own conclusion, for on Saturday Emma M. Brind, the third wife of the reputed millionaire, filed action for divorce in the district court. Mrs. Brind, who was Mrs. Emma H. Stewart, widow of a pioneer Denver insurance man, before her present marital venture, charges Brind with numerous cruelties. The Tabor or Isabella diamond was purchased by the first Mrs. Brind from William Barth. Previously H. A. W. Tabor acquired it and lost his fortune. He sold it to Herman Powell, who died shortly thereafter.

First Wife Died.
The first Mrs. Brind died November 8, 1914. Her will cut her husband off with $2,000 and gave the Tabor diamond and other jewels worth $75,000 to Denver society women. Brind contested the will and won half the estate and the jewels. Less than six months after his first wife's death Brind married Miss Antoinette Le Brun, a Chicago artist. This was on April 1, 1915. They separated in August of the same year and on November 14, 1916, Brind got a divorce on the ground of desertion.

Germany's Value Is Estimated at 330 Billion Marks

Financial Experts Declare Reparation Demands of Allies Mean National Confiscation.

By GEORGE SELDES.
Chicago Tribune Cable, Copyright 1921.
Berlin, Jan. 31.—Germany's value in gold is 330,000,000,000 marks. The allies demand 238,000,000,000 gold marks as war indemnity. According to Berlin financial experts this action means national confiscation. It is pointed out that Germany has lost one-seventh of her population through the Versailles treaty terms and also, putting France's wealth at 210,000,000,000 gold marks, the experts declare that should France obtain 55 per cent of the indemnity this would equal three-fifths of that nation's national wealth.

Berlin had expected that a sum running into billions of gold marks but the amount set by the supreme council is considered so high as to be ridiculous. Official circles have received the news with little comment, but the general opinion is that the amount is beyond sane discussion and means that Germany will not pay anything. The Catholic organ, Germania, said in an editorial: "Germany will never pay paper she cannot. We have only paper money of which the allies demand 2,000,000,000 marks worth."

The Kreutz Zeitung declares: "The figures are beyond discussion. The amount is higher than the whole German national property and all possessions, both personal and public." Experts have counted 113 varieties of hardwood trees in Jamaica's 500,000 acres of forests.
