Problems That Perplex

Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Puzzled—I don't believe I would listen to my girl friend since you are going to be married within a few weeks. The girl may be right, the man may chew tobacco, but I believe your husband will forego the habit if he knows how you feel about it.

This as one of the bridges which should not be crossed until you come to it. If you were just becoming engaged I would advise you to have an understanding at once, but you have accepted the man now and have even set your wedding day.

Heart-Broken—You do not tell me how old you are, but regardless of Six-Six-Six—I don't know whether you are joking or not. If not, you should be. A young boy is highly foolish who allows himself to "fall" for a married woman seven years older than himself.
