Washington, Feb. 15.—Two devel-opments come quickly today in the senatorial study of the coal question. Chairman Calder of the senate investigating committee, announced after two witnesses had been heard, that no evidence had been found to sustain charges that government officials had participated in abnormal profits realized on coal during the 1920 shortage. The senate manufacturers committee soon after, concluded its hearings on the Calder bill providing for federal regulation of the coal industry and Chairman La Follette announced that the committee n executive session tomorrow would take up the measure. Prospects are that the committee will amend the G. H. Cushing, managing director of the American Wholesale Coal association, who several weeks ago charged that government officials had profited from coal deals, was re-called by Chairman Calder's commit-tee. He said that Dix W. Smith, a former dollar-a-year man in gov-ernment service, had sought assistance last August to secure coal for South America and that Smith later had said that, with four associates in government service, he had se-cured a profit of $450,000 on coal Smith, immedately called, agreed to having many conversations with Cushing and said that he held an order for 20,000 fons of coal for Brazil and Chile, but had "never sold a pound of coal or got a cent." He said he had told Cushing that riends in government service were aiding him to secure the coal, but declared it was "all blue sky bus-iness—I could not get the coal."
