

Ban Upon Sunday Funerals Asked By Undertakers

Ministers Join in Protest Against Custom Which Forces 1,000 Men to Work on Sunday.

At a recent meeting a committee of undertakers agreed to take a stand against Sunday funerals and to petition the city council to pass an ordinance legislating against the practice. They declare that hundreds of men are forced to work seven days a week because many funerals are held over until Sunday.

William H. Dorrance of Brailey & Dorrance estimates that 1,000 men, including employees of undertakers, cemeteries, taxicab companies and churches are forced to work because of the Sunday funeral.

Practically every undertaker in the city is against the practice.

Ministers of Omaha churches interviewed yesterday on the subject said that the practice was wrong and that week days were better for conducting funerals. Several ministers declared in their opinion that Sunday funerals were held because of the opportunity for more show and pomp.

'Ware Balmy Weather, Say Doctors; Keep on Your Heavies Awhile

The bright weather, soft balmy breezes and spring-like atmosphere is pneumonia-making, according to Omaha physicians. They say the weather is deceptive and too many persons are lured into the contracting of bad colds and pneumonia by taking off too much heavy clothing and donning light garments too early.

Especially are young women making themselves liable, the physicians say. They go forth with flimsy stockings and petticoats. The pretty stockings of course necessitate short skirts. The evil germs lurking in the balmy winds have a wonderful opportunity to progress. Even the ears are now being exposed. Soon a cold starts, then pneumonia, then—flow—ers.

Dr. E. T. Manning who has charge of medical inspection in public schools; Dr. F. J. Wearne and Dr. J. F. Langdon, as well as other Omaha physicians, advise against sudden changes from heavy to light clothing. They advocate a gradual change. Anyway they say "winter is not over yet. There's still plenty of time to get into the pretties."

Man Seriously Hurt When Buried by Sacks of Sugar

Bert Summitt, brother of Detective George Summitt, Chatham hotel, suffered a broken collarbone and severe body bruises yesterday when he was buried under 1,400 pounds of sugar while working at the Simon Bros. wholesale grocers' warehouse, Eleventh and Dodge streets.

The sugar was being unloaded from a box-car to the loading platform of the warehouse.

From the box car to the platform was stretched a bridge over which the sugar was shot.

Summitt was standing beneath this chute or bridge.

When 1,400 pounds of sugar was placed on the chute the bridge gave way and fell on Summitt.

He was rescued by fellow workmen and rushed to Wise Memorial hospital, where his condition is pronounced serious.

Gambling Debts Collectible, Is Ruling of County Court

An alleged poker game at the Athletic club and a check for $263 were discussed in a suit before County Judge Crawford yesterday.

Ira P. Groesbeck, plaintiff, said that he took the check from Guy R. Anderson of the Elcar Automobile company and it was given him in a business transaction. Anderson said he gave the check in payment of a poker debt. Anderson went to Groesbeck's house the next day, Anderson testified, with money to pay the check, but he said Groesbeck told him the check was in Mrs. Groesbeck's possession.

Judge Crawford ruled that gambling debts were collectible under the law.

Humane Shelter Takes Kink Out of Kinky's Neck

"Kinky" is a small black dog at the Humane Society, but he is a trusty. Instead of being penned up with the other dogs, he is allowed to romp and roam as he pleases. "Kinky" was taken to the shelter by Fryal Showalter, 14, pupil at Franklin school who found him near his home. "Kinky's" neck had been dislocated by a kick from some brutal boy. Fryal took the pup to the shelter, where his injuries were healed.

Ku Klux Klan Leaders Plan To Form Organization Here

Representatives of the white-clad Ku Klux Klan are expected in Omaha soon, according to word received here yesterday by the Department of Justice. The word was received by Field Operative Hess from a friend in Dixie. The friend intimated that a Klan might be formed here. "Americanism for Americans" is one of the Klan's mottoes.

Escort Body of Miss Dixon

Members of the Woodmen circle, No. 100, escorted the body of Miss Elizabeth Dixon, who died yesterday following a brief illness, to the Union station this morning. The body was taken to Dunlap, Ia. Miss Dixon's former home, for burial.

Miss Dixon was a charter member of the Daughters of Isabella in Omaha and was the first of this lodge to die here.
