U.S.C. of C. Men Oppose Profits Tax

Levy Retards Progress of Re-adjustment. Verdict Expressed by Organized Business in National Poll.

Don't Agree on Substitute

By ARTHUR SEARS HENNING. Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire. Washington, Feb. 26.—Organized business, as represented by nearly 2,000 association in the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, overwhelmingly favors repeal of the excess profits tax, but is unable to agree on a substitute therefor.

Against Profits Tax. In the chamber's referendum system a two-thirds vote is necessary to carry. The proposals submitted and the vote of the organizations on each follow:

1. The excess profits tax should be repealed. For, 1,718; against, 44. Carried.

2. Revenues now derived from the excess profits tax should be obtained mainly from taxes on incomes. For, 571; against, 1,094. Not carried.

On Capital Assets. Profits arising from sales of capital assets should be allocated over the period in which earned and taxed at the rates for the several years in the period. For, 1,411; against, 243. Carried.

Retards Re-adjustment. The vote makes it clear that business men are united in their view that the excess profits tax hampers business operations and retards the progress of re-adjustment, says the chamber. "Among the objections to the tax as pointed out by the committee are that it produces inequalities, that it is difficult of administration, that it reduces revenues from this source and that the tax encourages extravagance."

"If I Were Harding"

William J. Bryan Sums Up Problem President-Elect Will Have to Meet as Chief Executive—Awaits Word on International Relations.

By WILLIAM J. BRYAN. Written Especially for Universal Service. Miami, Fla., Feb. 26.—President Harding enters the White House with the largest majority received by any chief executive in recent years and with the largest popular vote given to any man in history. This is a great distinction, but he will find awaiting him more difficult problems than any previous president has encountered. It may be worth while to consider a few of the more important ones.

First, the world awaits his word on international relations. Co-operation between the nations for the prevention of war hangs on his decision, providing, of course, the senate supports him in his plans. He is pledged to an association of nations in which the United States will "do its part" without "surrendering its right to decide for itself, when and on what terms, it will employ force in aid of any other nation."

Retards Re-adjustment. The vote makes it clear that business men are united in their view that the excess profits tax hampers business operations and retards the progress of re-adjustment, says the chamber.
