Public Market Is Endorsed By Club Women

The Omaha Woman's club at its open day meeting Monday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. endorsed a movement to establish a public market for the sale of milk and other farm products.

Condensed milk, which has been donated to the club by a local concern, is being sold to club members below the retail price.

An interesting program was given by the music department, Mrs. W. E. Shafer, leader, following the business hour.

A double quartet including Mesdames E. B. McQuillen, O. Scott, L. E. Conkin, Frank Brown, Marshal Dillon, Teresa Brick, P. F. Dreibus and Miss May Jewel gave two delightful numbers, "Lovely Night" by Offenbach and "Lass With the Delicate Air" by Arne, accompanied by Mrs. Lewis C. Johnson.

A piano duo, "Wedding Procession" and "Nocturne" by Adolf Jensen was given by Mrs. Ray L. Abbott and Miss Winifred Traynor.

Mesdames Burton Laird, M. E. Long, W. Dale Dawson and E. F. Williams sang "Lullaby" by Brewer and "Oh in the Stilly Night" by Stevenson.

A string quartet, including Mrs. Reese, violin; Miss Elso Reese, violin; Mrs. Martin Donlon cello, and Mrs. O. W. Neble, piano, played "Minuet" by Pachelbel and "Slavonic Dance" by Dvorak.

Garden of Flowers" by Luigi Denza, a cantata for women's voices was well presented by a double quartet including Mesdames W. Dale Clark, Bradley Roe, Gilbert Brown, F. J. Farrington, P. F. Dreibus, T. D. Dreibus, T. D. Dinan, Patrick Gill and Miss Elsa Reese and the Woman's club chorus, under the direction of Mrs. DeEmmett Bradshaw.

The music department, assisted by Mrs. Louise Jansen Nyce, soprano; Mrs. Arthur Gutzman, contralto, and the West Sisters string quartet will appear in concert at the Y. W. C. A. auditorium Thursday evening, April 7. The proceeds will go towards the building fund.

Mrs. C. J. Hubbard is chairman of the ticket committee.

To Brighten Rugs. If your rugs are getting shabby, after cleaning them with a broom, put a little turpentine in a pail of hot water and brush over the surfaces. It will help brighten the colors.

A handy idea for ridding your cellar of ashes is to take an old screen and place it on a slant, damper on your ashes and throw them on the screen near the top. The fine ashes will fall to the floor and the coal will roll down the screen.

For Machine Belt. The machine belt often breaks just when some seamstress is in a dreadful rush and could not get a new one at the moment. Otherwise the clever discovery that a substitute could be found for this round leather strip would never have been made.

Take a piece of tape from the work basket about three-quarters of an inch wide, and place around the wheels of the machine. Fasten firmly and the good work will go on until a new belt may be obtained.

HOLDING A HUSBAND Adele Garrison's New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

The Way Katie Divined the Truth. At Katie's frantic wail I rushed past Lillian into the hall and met the girl at the top of the stairs.

She was utterly grief-stricken, wringing her hands and weeping aloud as she hurried up the stairs. I had seen Katie in too many emotional tantrums, however, to be seriously alarmed, but her grief was genuine and unmistakable, and I put my arm around her shoulders as she fairly flung herself upon me.

"Oh, say it not true!" she repeated wailing, choking upon my name as she tried to utter it. With Lillian's help I drew her into the nearest room, which happened to be my father's, and shut the door upon her sobs, which I knew would rise into shrieks if she were not pacified.

"Stop this at once, Katie," I said, taking her by the shoulders—I long since learned the most effective way of dealing with her when she is hysterical—"and tell me what is the matter with you."

She blinked, choked again, struggled with her sobs and finally found her voice. "Oh, Mrs. Graham, dere souch a horrid womans downstairs! She began to weep stilly again, "I no stay by dot womans, I no work for her, I put rat poison in her coffee."

Lillian answered this ridiculous tirade in the only possible manner—a hearty laugh, and a clap upon the girl's shoulder.

"Do you think you go with the house, goose, like the windows and doors?" she demanded. Then, as Katie gasped and evidently stopped her whirling mental processes in order to consider what Lillian had said, my friend turned to me.

"I Keep Quiet."

"The lady downstairs evidently has an exaggerated idea of her rights," she said, "your deed had no special clause allowing them permission to come into the property before the day set upon, had it?"

"Indeed not," I returned. "In fact, while Dicky and I have signed the deed, the other owners have not, and naturally, will not until we give up possession."

"Then you are all right," Lillian said with a relieved air. "But I think it highly advisable that they should not see that wrecked dining room."

"I haven't the audacity to keep her out of the house," I said nervously.

"Well, I have!" Lillian said grimly. "Will you give me leave to go down and deal with her? Oh, I shall be perfectly suave and courteous, but firm—firm," she laughed mockingly.

"If you only would!" I said gratefully.

"You may listen over the banisters if you like," Lillian said, "but don't you dare to peep at anything I may tell the new owner. I haven't your Puritan conscience, and I may embroider the facts a little. Come, Katie, you may go down with me if you like, but keep quiet."

"I keep quiet all right," Katie said sullenly. "Me, I work so hard, keep house all nice, have all my little things here, all settled, fexed for two, tree, five, 10 years maybe"

exchanged startled significant glances.

The new owners of the property! They must be downstairs, and what a reception they must have had! I released Katie's shoulders and started hurriedly for the door. But Lillian's voice, cool, drawing, stopped me.

"Better wait a bit, Madge," she advised.

I looked at her in mute astonished protest.

"I No Stay."

"It won't do a woman of that caliber a bit of harm to cool her heels a bit," she said, and I saw that the epithet the woman had applied to my family, curiously enough had stung Lillian more than it had me. "And there is one thing certain, you don't want her to see the dining room paper and paint yet. You don't know what kind of suit you might be let in for. Better find out, also, what Katie said to her."

Katie leaped to her feet, her eyes blazing.

"I see it true, yet dot bounch of soup greens say I no have home here no more. Oh, I keep quiet! I keep so quiet you be glad to hear me talk ven you hear me next time."

She rose and stalked out of the room and down the hall. I heard the door of her room slam.

"What do you suppose she means?" I asked apprehensively. Lillian gave a little Gallic shrug of the shoulders.

"It's beyond me," she said carelessly. "But I don't think I should worry about it. Whatever Katie means she won't continue to mean it for over an hour. So fasten up the shield, and let me away to the bar-barian. There I will defend thee with me heart's blood."

Problems That Perplex Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Awkward Girl. Forget yourself, be less self-conscious and it may help you to be less awkward. We have good teachers in Omaha who give instruction in bodily grace and good expression.

If you care for names of some of them, send me self-addressed and stamped envelope and repeat your question. Consult the public library for Franklin's rules for a perfect life.

Views of a Girl. Dear Miss Fairfax: I think I shall write you. I am 16 years old and live on a farm. It seems very lonesome for me at times. I do not get to go out very much. I have never gone to parties after night, but have gone to several afternoon parties. There are very few girls my age close to my home.

As to the problem of "Hopalong" and her mother, I do not think Hopalong's mother right in thinking her daughter should do the same as she had to do when a girl. But I do think a girl of 16 years should not think of going out with boys.

I have never written to a boy nor have I gone with one. What spare time I have, I practice on music, do fancy work and quilting.

I have never used rouge, but use a little powder. My parents will not allow me to wear ear puffs. I think the letter written by the boy of 13 years, who signed himself "Interested," was the most sensible letter I ever read in your column. I remain, MISS J. Y.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $2. and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments. To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

A Successful Man

Among the notable professional men of this country who achieved great success along strictly legitimate lines was Dr. R. V. Pierce. Devoting his attention to the specialty of women's diseases, he became a recognized authority in that line.

His work, "The Common Sense Medical Adviser," is now in three million homes in this country and Europe. At one time Dr. Pierce represented his home district in Congress.

Fifty years ago last winter, this noted physician gave to the world a Prescription which has never been equalled for the weaknesses of women. Many women in every hamlet, town, or city will gladly testify that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription did them a world of good.

Another of this great physician's successful remedies is known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and, like the "Prescription," is now sold by druggists everywhere, in both liquid and tablets. The list of men and women all over the universe who have successfully used it for indigestion and as a blood tonic and system builder, makes an amazing total of thousands.

If you desire a cloth-bound copy of a new edition of the "Medical Adviser" by Dr. Pierce, send one dollar to the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. It is a book of 1000 pages of ready reference. For those not within easy reach of professional aid at critical times, and in cases of emergency or dangerous accidents, it is invaluable.
