Republican Committeeman For Nebraska in Washington for Inauguration. Talks About Patronage.

By E. C. SNYDER. Washington Correspondent Omaha Bee. Washington, D. C., March 1.—R. B. Howell, republican national committeeman for Nebraska and a member of the committee appointed by Chairman Hays to formulate a scheme to reduce representation from the southern states for future national republican conventions...

Mr. Howell said the Bee correspondents that no matter how the problems might become, they were inevitable because the great majority of the electors in the United States had voted to turn the reins over to give the republicans a chance to run the government for the next four years...

Your Face and What It Tells Are You a Mental Type, Motive Type or Vital Type?—Don't Be a Misfit—Find Out About Yourself.

By MABEL WARNER RUGG.

IN 1900 any average, bright man could size up a piece of land and tell what sort of crops that land would bring forth from surface indications, such as soil tests, moisture statistics, drainage elevations, slope measurements, exposure directions, and so on. Nothing remarkable in that, seemingly, for the men of the century just closed had tackled every problem of the outer world and had harnessed its energies to their use.

Before 1909 any man of average intelligence will be able to take keen looks at his fellow men and find out quickly what those men are and can do. He will be able to foresee what will come out of the life of a friend or neighbor, will know what the man's strengths and weaknesses are and what work he is best fitted for. Men will be an open book to him, from such indications as features, form (body build), texture, color, proportion, coloring, posture, shape of head and hands, size, consistency, and condition.

Any individual is classed in one of three types of structure, the mental, the motive, or the vital, according to the body build.

Mental Type Features. The mental type is characterized by a small, slender body; fine features; fine-textured skin and hair; a face essentially triangular in shape, with broad, high forehead and slender lower jaw. Very few are found purely mental, most persons being a combination of two types, or sometimes having salient characteristics of all three.

Judge Ben Lindsay, whose picture is shown here, is a distinct mental type. Two Omaha men, who are distinctly of the mental type, and high-grade mentality, are Henry G. Cox and C. B. Atzen. Mr. Cox is a musician, and Mrs. Atzen a physician, but there are also salient mental type men in Omaha in business lines, as well as professional. However, the pure mental type is more happy when in work more mental in nature than most business.

Should Depend on Brains. The term mental type does not necessarily mean that men of this structure have superior brain power over the motive or vital types. There are many men of the mental type in the hobo class, while vital type men are filling high positions. Ex-president William Howard Taft is a strong example of the vital type.

What mental type features particularly indicate is that people of this make-up, physically, should depend on their brains to earn their living, for they are not built to endure physical hardship and do the outdoor or heavy work of the world.

For that reason, folk of the mental type should get as much real education as possible. Then they can train for professional vocations, literary occupations, or very artistic, refined sorts of business.

The mental misfit is one of the crying evils of the day. The mental type individual likes luxurious surroundings; consequently must make sufficient money to meet his needs or he becomes dissatisfied with his environment.

Some Become Crooks. If by force of circumstance he is uneducated and untrained for anything but physical labor, he is likely to break down in health and become a burden to the state, or worse still is very liable to choose some dishonest way of getting the luxuries his nature craves.

This is not implying that all crooks are mental types, by any means. Both poorhouse and penitentiary have also a goodly share of motive and vital types.

Tomorrow's article will explain the motive structure, with its casual condition of mentality.

Questions and Answers. From Mrs. L. C. Dartmouth Apartments: "I have read your article in the Bee with great interest. There are two questions I should like answered: 1. At what age should a child be taken to a character analyst?"

Answer. In America, as yet, there is not a homogeneous race. But the strenuous life as lived here will inevitably have developed a prominent nose section by the second or third generation. The other characteristics cannot be determined until we find which strain will predominate out of the many racial characteristics which have come to us from Europe and Asia.

2. There is much of good that can come to a mother in the way of knowledge of how to rear her son or daughter, if the child is analyzed at 2 or 3. The age when the youth enters high school is another helpful time. And it is absolutely vital to have an analysis when the youth has graduated from high school and is about to enter a profession, especially if he is not going on to college, but is going straight into the business world, where the mistakes come from a round peg trying to fill a square hole.

From H. H. O., Dunbar, Neb.: "I am very interested in character analysis. May I ask, do you make personal analysis from photographs?"

Answer. If you can send good profile and front view pictures, finished and unretouched before they have been retouched and photos of the back and front views of your hand I can give a very satisfactory analysis. Of course, a personal interview is always better, as you then have the chance to ask me particular questions about character analysis.

Editor's note: While these articles are being published Mabel Warner Rugg will undertake to answer all questions from her readers on character and analysis and vocational choice. Send the letters care of The Bee.

Next Congress May Probe Charge Against Landis

Five Members of House Judiciary Committee Submit Report—Opposition to Base Ball Mediatorship.

Washington, March 1.—Demand for a thorough investigation by the next congress of impeachment charges against Federal Judge K. M. Landis was made today by five members of the house judiciary committee, directed by the full committee to submit a report for immediate consideration.

Within two hours the sub-committee of five lawyers drafted a brief report recommending that charges by Representative Dye, democrat, Ohio, be taken up by the judiciary committee early in the special session. The report is known to be outspoken in opposition to the action of Judge Landis in accepting a salary of $42,500 a year from base ball, to act as its supreme arbiter while serving on the bench.

Informal discussion indicated it would be impossible for the full committee to dispose of the Welby charges before Friday noon when congress adjourns. There was no disposition by the sub-committee to defer consideration indefinitely just as there was unanimous agreement that the proceedings could not be dismissed without further investigation of facts and law as presented by the Ohio representative.

Chicago, March 1.—Alexander Sebold, violin virtuoso and composer, is ill as a result of an infection in his neck, it was announced last night. The violinist is under the care of specialists and is being operated upon several times during the last week. A metal chin rest with a rough edge, caused the infection. The Janso violin which caused the infection was made by Antonius Stradivarius in 1721, and was formerly the property of Leopold Janso, celebrated composer.

New Methodist Church Is Dedicated at Pawnee City. Pawnee City, Neb., March 1.—(Special.)—The new M. E. church here has been dedicated. Bishop Charles Bayard Mitchell, a resident bishop from St. Paul, Minn., conducted the ceremony. The dedicatory services took place in the forenoon after the regular Sunday school exercises.

Boy Scarcely Hurt When Tractor Passes Over Body. Republic, Kan., March 1.—(Special.)—Lawrence Mystrom, 17-year-old boy, was run over by a 3,000-pound tractor and is still alive, with prospects of getting entirely well. He was adjusting the carburetor of the machine, when the clutch slipped and the tractor passed over the young man's chest. Heavy clothing is believed to have saved him from serious injury, however. The wheel lug cut quite a gash in one of his arms, otherwise he is none the worse from his perilous experience.

Combination Community And Fire House Proposed. Wymore, Neb., March 1.—(Special.)—H. L. Anderson, chief of the Wymore fire department, has submitted to the Community club a plan for the erection of a building that would serve as a combination fire station with firemen's meeting hall, an auditorium, gymnasium and general community meeting hall. The fire department at present is housed in a building of its own, but also have an equity in two lots immediately adjoining their present building.

Scotts Bluff County "Y" Reaches 3,000

Scottsbluff, Neb., March 1.—(Special Telegram.)—The Y. M. C. A. in Scotts Bluff county reached 3,000 boys in the year 1920 in various activities, including conference clubs, father and son banquets and organized athletics under the direction of A. W. Means, secretary. In Scotts Bluff county 21 free Y. M. C. A. scholarships were granted to ex-service men, amounting to $994. Eighteen hundred interviews were held and 4,793 miles were covered by auto. One hundred fifty-nine group meetings were visited; 80 meetings were addressed and 29 groups were organized. Total enrollment of the groups reached 577. Fifty-six boys were at camp; 95 boys were at conference. Fifty men were included in the "Y" committees.

Hays Will Resign As Chief of G. O. P.

A. T. Hert Already Mentioned As Successor to National Republican Chairman.

Washington, March 1.—Will H. Hays will resign as chairman of the republican national committee soon after he enters the Harding cabinet as postmaster general. Mr. Hays came here today to attend the inauguration. In a conference held prior to the announcement by President-elect Harding, of his selection as postmaster general, Mr. Hays referred to reports of his appointment and said that "eventuality" came about he would quit the national committee.

Discussion as to the probable successor of Mr. Hays as national committee chairman centered around A. T. Hert, national committeeman from Kentucky, and Charles D. Hiles of New York, a former chairman of the committee.

Mr. Hays said that the immediate purpose of his visit was to prepare for the meeting tomorrow of a sub-committee of the national body which will take up readjustment of southern representation in national conventions. Thursday there will be a meeting of the full national committee together with the executive committee, which will "map up" loose ends of the campaign, Mr. Hays said.

There will be other meetings of the national committee and the sub-committee to work out some sort of a new scheme of representation before June 15. Asked as to the deficit of his party organization, Mr. Hays replied that it was being met satisfactorily. "When the campaign ended," he added, "we had a deficit of $1,500,000 and a surplus in votes of 7,500,000. We are not worried. The 10 per cent payments are coming in rapidly."

American Flyers Ordered to Avoid All Foreign Ports

Aircraft Commanders Cautious About Flights Which Might Be Regarded as for Observation Purposes.

Boston, March 1.—American aircraft commanders are directed "in view of recent incidents" to avoid flights about foreign ports that might be regarded as for observation purposes, in an order received here today from Rear Admiral R. L. Coontz, chief of naval operations. The order says: "Recent incidents which have come to the notice of the department indicate the necessity of special caution being exercised on the part of air force commanders and pilots of air craft, to avoid flights in or about foreign ports, which would be interpreted as observation flights. It is especially important that the local officers in foreign ports be advised in advance, of prospective movements of our aircraft."

It is therefore directed, that the itineraries of aircraft, which include visits to foreign ports or territory be submitted as far in advance as possible, in order that necessary notification of such visits may be made by the department through the diplomatic channels. In addition it is directed, should it become necessary to depart unexpectedly from an approved itinerary, that the senior officer present involved, be at pains to notify the local authorities, in advance if possible, or in any case, promptly, of such unexpected visit, with such legislation or apology as the situation may demand.

Aircraft visiting foreign ports, shall conform to the United States naval regulations governing the visits of naval vessels to such ports."

Burlington Shipping in Blasted Ice From Montana

Wymore, Neb., March 1.—(Special.)—Seventy-eight cars of ice have been received by the Burlington road here from Livingston, Mon. The road has storage capacity for 100 cars, and a few cars had been harvested from the Blue River near Wymore. The shipments arriving from Montana are in great chunks, some of which measure 10 feet in length, and from two to three feet in thickness. It is blasted ice, and will be used by the Burlington for refrigerating fruit and vegetable cars, passing through Wymore.

Hitchcock Defends Civil Service Order For U. S. Postmasters

Washington, March 1.—President Wilson's order placing postmasters under the civil service was attacked in the senate by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the republican leader, who said it was "cunningly" drawn and "a humbug." Its effect, he added, was to keep in office without examination, postmasters whose terms had expired. Senator Hitchcock, democrat, Nebraska, defended the president's order. He said that of 2,110 postmasters appointed, 1,012 were democrats and 907 republicans. The figures were "conclusive evidence," he said that the postoffice department made an honest effort to take the postmasterships "out of political patronage."

Mail Privileges Restored To Debs; Visitors Barred

Washington, March 1.—The privilege of receiving and sending mail has been restored to Eugene V. Debs, who is a prisoner in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., it was announced at the Department of Justice. This privilege, as well as that of receiving visitors, was suspended because of an interview set out by Debs in which President Wilson was criticised. Suspension of the privilege of receiving visitors, still is in effect.

Rainey on Trade Commission

Washington, March 1.—Representative Henry T. Rainey, democrat, Illinois, was nominated by President Wilson to be a member of the federal tariff commission.

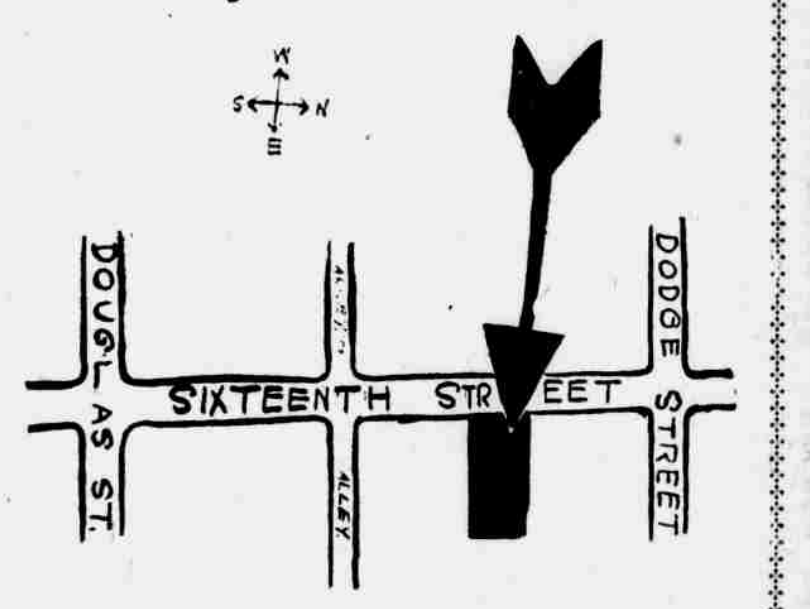

Houston Directed To Tell of Loans

Washington, March 1.—Secretary Houston is "directed" in a resolution adopted today by the judiciary committee to produce complete treasury files of correspondence relating to foreign loans. Members of the committee said the resolution was practically a "quantity subpoenae" in form. The resolution was introduced by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, author of the bill to prohibit further loans to foreign governments and was adopted in executive session. Committee members said it made it "mandatory" for the secretary to appear before the committee tomorrow with the full correspondence.
