

Omaha to Lose Film Offices If Movies Censored

Such Is Threat of Screen Men Against Bill in Legislature — Would Be Big Loss To Banks.

Film men are threatening to remove their exchange offices from Omaha.

An open threat has been made by leading Omaha film men to the state legislature that such action will be taken if the motion picture censorship bills, now pending before the house are passed.

Removal of film exchanges in Omaha would mean the departure of scores of employees in the offices, it is pointed out, and the loss of bank clearings brought here from other states by the Omaha Film Board of Trade.

"Omaha is now the film center of several states," said E. J. MacIvor, yesterday, speaking for the board.

"Passage of the movie censorship bill will mean the transfer of several exchanges to another state where there is no censorship."

Mr. MacIvor declared it is probable his office, which handles Goldwyn films, would move if the bill passes. Bank clearings of the Goldwyn office in Omaha exceed $500,000 annually, he said.

Pathe offices would move to Des Moines, in case the censorship bill passes, Howard Graham, manager of the Pathe offices in Omaha declared.

"Most of the bank clearings of the film business here comes from other states," he said. "It would be an easy matter to transfer the Omaha film exchanges to another city—and with them will go the bank clearings."

Pathe's bank clearings equal $400,000 annually, he said.

Harry Weinberg, manager of the First National exchange in Omaha, declared the bank clearings for his exchange exceed $750,000 annually.

"Censorship would mean a big loss in bank clearings in Omaha," he said. "For it is a matter of common conversation among film men that exchanges will be transferred to another city if the bill passes."

T. F. Delaney, manager of Vitaphone; I. H. Krause, manager of Famous-Players-Lasky; and M. G. Rogers, assistant manager of Universal, in Omaha, expressed the same opinions as the other film men with regard to the censorship bill.

U. P. Shop Forces Cut by New Order

Nearly 1,000 men were thrown out of work yesterday when shops of the Union Pacific railroad are placed back on a six-day a week schedule.

Four hundred men left the shops here last night, jobless and with no prospect of being reinstated until business shows an increase, according to officials of the road.

A similar reduction in forces will be made at the Union Pacific shops in Cheyenne and Denver, although a somewhat smaller number will be affected.

Change from the temporary five-day a week basis made the reduction in number of employees necessary, officials say. About 1,300 men will still hold jobs at the shops here. This number is from 500 to 700 below the normal number employed.

The five large classes of shop men, painters, machinists, boiler makers, helpers and blacksmiths will be hit by the reduction.

Of the 38 persons killed in the crash of the two trains, only three bodies remain unidentified in the morgue at Porter, Ind. According to railroad officials and attaches of the coroner's office these three bodies may never be identified because of their badly mutilated condition.

Private investigations are being carried on at the present time by both the New York Central and the Michigan Central railroad officials to determine the cause of the accident and word from Porter, today is that a coroner's jury will be impaneled at once to take official testimony in the case.

Wrecking crews were busily engaged in removing the twisted hulk of the New York Central engine, shown in the upper left hand picture, which plowed its way through the wooden cars of the Michigan Central train with such force that it was buried several feet in the ground.

Wilson Denies Price of Copper Fixed During War

Charges Against Baruch and Ryan Made by Representative As "Gossip" by President.

Washington, March 1.—President Wilson denied charges made in the house by Representative Mason, republican, Illinois and others, that B. M. Baruch and John D. Ryan had profited out of the government as a result of the fixing of the price of copper during the war.

Writing to Representative Garrett, democrat, Tennessee, the president characterized the charges as "irresponsible gossip," and expressed his "great confidence" in Mr. Baruch and Mr. Ryan.

"There was not a suggestion of scandal connected with either of these gentlemen in any way activities in which they played so important a part," he wrote, "and I wish again to say how admirably they served the needs of the nation and how unselfishly they devoted their fine talents to the government in every crisis which faced us during the war." The president said neither Mr. Baruch nor Mr. Ryan had anything to do with the fixing of prices and added:

"The price of copper was fixed solely by me upon recommendations of the war industries board and the federal trade commission, after full examination into the costs of production and without any attempt upon the part of the copper producers or Mr. Baruch or Mr. Ryan to exert any pressure upon this government or upon anybody connected with either of the boards having to do with these vital matters."

In opening his letter, the president said that the charges and intimations against the men had been satisfactorily answered, but that a statement by him as to the price-fixing might "further clarify the situation."

Baby Coos in Court Room As Father Goes on Trial

Postal Inspectors and Keith Collins Take Stand to Testify Against Clyde Poffenberger, Accused Of Concealing Stolen Loot.

Clutching a teddy bear in one pudgy hand and a stick of candy in another, the 18-month-old baby of Clyde Poffenberger, on trial in federal court in Council Bluffs for receiving and concealing part of the loot of the $3,500,000 mail train robbery last November, was the center of attraction in the court room yesterday.

Snuggled closely in its mother's arms, the tiny baby cooed and gurgled at the jurors through the morning.

The mother, a 20-year-old blonde, and pretty, kept her eyes on the prisoner—her boy-husband who has been incarcerated in the Pottawattamie county jail since late in November.

Her pretty young face showed faces of worry and sorrow, but her eyes shone with love as she watched every movement of her husband.

Poffenberger revealed intense interest in the testimony given by the witnesses for the state, and frequently jotted down notes over which he conferred with his attorney.

With the aid of federal officials Clyde extricated two bundles of currency, totaling $6,850, from the vault of the outhouse in the rear of his home.

Keith Collins was also placed on the stand by the state. He succeeded his partner, Fred Poffenberger, on the witness stand, and as they passed on their way to and from the stand, they smiled at each other.

Both are federal prisoners at Fort Leavenworth.

Lower House to Insist on Free Seed Item in Bill

Nebraska Delegation Opposed To Provision on Ground That Distribution Is Political Graft.

By E. C. SNYDER, Washington Correspondent Omaha Bee.

Washington, March 1.—(Special Telegram.)—Time was when the farmers of the country, carried off by the idea that "rare and unusual" seeds were being distributed by the government, gave their representatives in congress to understand they expected the members to vote for free garden seeds. But that time has passed long since. The farmers are against free seeds, but the city folks want them.

That, in a nut shell, is the reason that the house, considering the agricultural appropriation bill today, instructed their conferees to insist upon a free seed provision in the bill by a vote of 180 to 130. The Nebraska delegation, with the exception of Congressman Jeffers, voted solidly against the free seed provision.

McLaughlin Opposes Provision.

Congressman McLaughlin, in a short speech in opposition to the free seed provision, said his former constituents did not want free seeds. "They have come to look upon them as a form of political graft. In our efforts to distribute the seeds, sent us as equally as possible to public school principals and superintendents, we have been subjected to all manner of criticism because we were not supplied with enough to go around, and when you distribute seeds to one section and none to another rank partially is charged and you make more enemies than you do friends."

Congressman Clark of Florida remarked that about it some congressmen had done to secure even a passing remembrance was to send out garden seeds to their constituency.

Says Scarcity Pure "Bunk."

Mr. McLaughlin, in reply, said that if he had done nothing else than send out garden seeds, he had better be forgotten. He charged that all the talk about the scarcity of the seeds was pure "bunk," and that be-

Sheriff Starts Big Roundup of Autoists Without '21 Licenses

Now this is what you get for not taking out your automobile license long ago:

Either you'll have to stand in line for hours at the county treasurer's office, fifth floor of the courthouse, or you'll have to run a chance of getting arrested for driving your bus without a 1921 license.

Yesterday the line of license seekers extended far out into the hall at the treasurer's office.

And, at the request of State Sheriff Gus Hyers, Sheriff Clark today ordered his deputies to keep an eye open for motorists without the 1921 tags. Deputies served delinquents with notices signed by the sheriff, ordering them to appear in the sheriff's office to answer to the charge of driving an automobile without a 1921 license thereto affixed as provided by law.

Snow Cold Storage Bill Placed on General File

Lincoln, March 1.—(Special.)—Representative Snow of Chadron lifted his cold storage bill out of committee today. This bill makes it impossible for any person to keep any articles in cold storage more than a year and in the meantime, if it is proved these articles are held in storage for the purpose of increasing prices, the secretary of agriculture may order them removed. The bill was killed in committee. But Snow succeeded in getting it put on general file on the house calendar.

McCook Man in Capital

Washington, D. C., March 1.—(Special Telegram.)—Al Galusha of McCook, former secretary of state for Nebraska, a candidate for collector of internal revenue, with Mrs. Galusha, is in Washington to witness President-elect Harding's inauguration.

"Your Pretty Teeth— What have you done to them?"

There is a new way of teeth cleaning—a way which fights film. To millions of people it has brought whiter, prettier teeth. Also safer teeth and cleaner.

You see the results in every circle—see them in glistening teeth.

This is to urge that you try this method. Ask for a ten-day test. Then mark the change which you see and your friends see.

It combats the film

Most teeth are clouded more or less by film. The film is viscous. You can feel it with your tongue. But it clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. And it often forms the basis of fixed coats.

The ordinary tooth paste does not end film. The tooth brush has left much of it intact. The film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. Thus millions of teeth have lost their natural luster.

How film ruins teeth

Film does more than mar the beauty. It is now regarded as the cause of most tooth troubles.

Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of other serious troubles, local and internal.

These troubles have been constantly increasing. So dental science has long been seeking ways to fight that film.

A daily combatant

Two effective methods have now been found to daily combat that film. Able authorities have amply proved them. Millions now employ them. And leading dentists everywhere are helping to spread their use.

The methods are combined in Pepsodent, a new-day dentifrice. The results are quickly seen and felt, so they cannot be disputed. That is the tooth paste we urge you to try. And we send a test tube free.

Also aids Nature

Nature places in the mouth great teeth-protecting agents. But with modern diet, rich in starch, those forces need constant stimulation. Pepsodent supplies that stimulation. This is in keeping with the views of dental authorities.

It multiplies the salivary flow. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise cling and form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's agent for neutralizing acids which cause tooth decay.

Each use of Pepsodent increases these forces, and the excess remains for some time. These effects alone, in dental opinion, mean a new era in tooth protection.

No soap—no chalk

Soap and chalk are omitted from Pepsodent, to accord with modern dental requirements. No tooth paste which contains them can bring Pepsodent effects.

Pepsodent is the scientific tooth paste—the new-day method of teeth cleaning. Authorities say that it should supplant the methods which are wrong.

The reasons are told in a book we send. The 10-Day Tube reveals the effects. You will know what is best in a week.

No money accepted

The 10-Day Tube of Pepsodent is free. We even pay the postage. This is simply to urge that you test it. See for yourself what it does. Decide by the clear results.

Just send the coupon, then watch the benefits you get.

Men see the results very quickly

Smokers' teeth are often particularly discolored. The film absorbs the stains. The results of film removal are usually quick and conspicuous.

Most children suffer from these film attacks. Few reach the age of 15 with sound teeth. Dentists advise that Pepsodent be used twice daily from the time the first tooth appears. No ordinary tooth paste offers anywhere near such protection.

Ten days will tell

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear. Watch the other good effects.

Judge by what you see and feel. You can easily decide then between the old ways and the new. Cut out the coupon now.
