convenient and infinitely more expensive form.

There is, however, a wonderful new powder on the market called LINN, which women who have used it say just about doubles the value of their washing machines. It softens hard water instantly and not only makes the usual long boiling unnecessary, but besides cuts the actual washing time just in half.

Furthermore, it is guaranteed to wash the most delicate chiffons, georgettes, crepes and laces just as perfectly as the heaviest and most soiled fabrics and without the slightest injury. In fact, it lengthens the life of all fabrics very materially because it possesses the peculiar property of dissolving dirt without in any way affecting the fibre of the goods.

You do not run any risk in trying LINN as it is sold under the money-back guarantee to do everything that any soap, any flakes, any compound or any cleaner will do-better, quicker and cheaper. Your grocer can supply you—10c and 25c in a Blue package.
