

Six New Cardinals Chosen at Secret Church Consistory

Conclave Is Simple Ceremony, While Bestowal of "Red Cap" Is an Impressive Exercise.

Rome, March 7.—Cardinals of the Catholic church gathered at the Vatican this morning for the secret consistory at which Pope Benedict announced the names of six new members of the sacred college.

The names submitted to the cardinal were those of Monsignor Dennis J. Dougherty, archbishop of Philadelphia; Juan Benlloch y Vivo, archbishop of Burgos; Francisco Vidal y Barraquer, archbishop of Tarragona; Francisco Ragonesi, papal nuncio in Madrid; José Schulte, archbishop of Cologne; and Michael von Faulhaber, archbishop of Munich.

The secret conclave is held in the Hall of Consistories. The preliminary ceremony is simple. Pope Benedict will interrogate members of the sacred college present as to their wishes regarding the supreme pontiff's choice for the church's highest ecclesiastical honor, and when the announcement is made that the majority have affirmed the pope's selections.

Usually the secret consistory is set for 9 a. m. A procession of carriages starts soon after 8 a. m. and, passing through the court of San Domeso, their occupants find entrance to the throne room of the pope.

Here are gathered venerable patriarchs, archbishops, heads of orders and other high personages, together with the cardinals, the supreme governing body of the Roman Catholic church. At the moment for the entrance of the pope approaches, the assemblage of cardinals separates into three groups before the throne. In one group will be the cardinal bishops, in another the cardinal priests, and in the other the cardinal deacons, and behind them the patriarchs, and behind them, the orders.

Presently a door in the rear will open and the noble guards will appear, making way for his holiness. With a fatherly smile, the pope greets the assemblage. The procession before the throne follows. Each dignitary, according to precedent, will approach his holiness, and kneeling, kiss the papal ring. Then the pontiff and the cardinals are left alone. The doors will be closed and Pope Benedict will proceed with his allocution, preceded by a brief prayer.

The name of each prelate chosen will be read, the pope inquiring of each cardinal whether they approve. Assent will be given by the cardinals raising their red skull caps.

A majority constitutes election. The public consistory, to be held March 10 in the hall of beatification at the Vatican will be characterized by much greater pomp and ceremony. On this occasion the six archbishops will receive the symbols of their elevation.

Elevation Is Expensive.
It has been estimated that $2,500 will hardly more than cover the cost of hats, rings and other incidentals for each new prince of the church. Each designate requires four costumes which alone cost nearly $2,450.

One of the four costumes is to be worn in church, one at papal functions, another in society and the fourth for street and daily wear. The great hall of beatification is a sumptuous apartment, 350 feet long by 90 feet wide, and 100 feet high. It has a vaulted roof, richly decorated entablatures, paneled walls and statuary of exquisite design, as well as sacred paintings.

Burleson Upheld By High Court in Newspaper Case

Refusal of Lower Courts to Mandamus Postmaster General to Restore Mail Rights of Berger Paper, O. K.

Washington, March 7.—Refusal of lower courts to issue a mandamus requiring Postmaster General Burleson to restore mail rights of the Milwaukee Leader, Victor Berger's newspaper, was sustained today by the supreme court.

The second class mailing privileges of the Leader were withdrawn by Mr. Burleson in 1917 on the ground that articles published by it regarding the purposes of the United States in entering the war were calculated to interfere with the military operations and were in violation of the espionage act.

The opinion cited numerous excerpts from published articles as showing the Leader's anti-American policy and the court condemned these as "false" and tending to "disloyalty." The case was brought on the apparent theory, the court said, that this government, "competent to fight a foreign enemy," is helpless to fight "an insidious enemy at home." The opinion of the court was delivered by Associate Justice Clark. Justice Brandeis delivered a dissenting opinion.
