

Appropriation Bill as Amended Passed by House

Dramatic Plea of Representative Jeary gets $120,000 Fund for Tubercular Hospital.

Lincoln, March 10.—(Special).—The dry, hacking cough of the tubercular, described in dramatically veiled language by Representative Jeary of Lincoln, today forced open the purses of the Nebraska legislature and caused it to vote $120,000 for improvements, including a new hospital for the state tubercular hospital at Kearney.

"Shame on you gentlemen who a few minutes ago voted an increase of $100,000 for bridges in the state and sit here fighting in cold dollars and cents on a proposition which beyond dispute will save the lives of many if we vote this $120,000." Jeary said, "Bridges could wait. Tuberculosis works fast and rapidly. You wait two years. If you wait two years, just how many lives of tuberculars will be charged against you?"

Plea Carries Day.
The Jeary plea came up when the $21,301,737.45 appropriation bill was being considered by the lower house. A number of farmers fought the amendment offered by Representative Gould to appropriate the $120,000 for the tubercular hospital. But the Jeary plea silenced them.

There were only two more additional items tacked onto the appropriation bill. One demand came from the democrats, headed by Representative O'Gara, asking to increase the bridge fund from $250,000 to $350,000. There was a short fight, ending in victory for the democratic members when the O'Gara amendment carried.

The big bank failure at Blair was responsible for an additional appropriation of $6,000 to employ an additional bank examiner under J. E. Hart, secretary of trade and commerce.

Halt Bank Failures.
"Let's try to do something to avert these terrible losses to the depositors of Nebraska," Representative Frantz, author of the $6,000 amendment, said. The amendment carried.

The three amendments adopted will cost $226,800 and increases the total of the appropriation bill to $21,327,737.45.

Representative Douglas of Polk didn't receive more than four votes on a motion to trim the attorney general's appropriations. Douglas declared that this officer was going into a too extensive program in hiring assistant attorneys general. Representative Reed of Dawes was on his feet instantly in defending the attorney general's department.

Defend Attorney General.
"The attorney general is one of the few officers who bobbed up at the end of the biennium with $25,000 which had not been expended," Reed said. "He has more work than ever with bank failures to investigate, blue sky investigations, since the enactment of the blue sky law two years ago, and many other important problems to deal with that never before in history" were checked up to him.

Censorship of Movies Comes Up In House Today

Bitter Fight Expected on Four Bills Which Treat Subject From All Possible Angles.

Lincoln, March 10.—(Special).—The big fight of the present session, one for which members have been in training for weeks, is scheduled for tomorrow in the lower house, when the motion picture censorship bills are to be considered.

There are four bills to be considered, each holding out a "cure" for the alleged movie evil growing out of numberless sex problem and crime plays now being thrown on the screen.

One is the straight state censorship bill which will create jobs for more politicians and give a censorship board of three power to say what pictures will be shown in the state. It is the bill prepared and backed by the welfare commission.

The Byrum-Gifford bill would bar any pictures showing crime or sex problems.

The McFarland bill would make it a misdemeanor to show pictures which would disrupt morals, leaving it to a local judge to decide upon the moral corruption, if any, in the picture, when the movie picture man is brought before him on a warrant issued at the request of any private citizen.

The Berka bill memorializes congress to pass a federal censorship bill.

Hearing to Be Given On Insurance Measure
Lincoln, March 10.—(Special).—The insurance committee of the senate got recommitted from third reading for a special hearing S. F. 343, amended to require all fraternal insurance organizations in the state to submit rate increases to a referendum of their membership.

The original bill permitted 10 per cent of the members to initiate a referendum on rates, but Senator Hoagland submitted amendments in committee of the whole, which were accepted, not only to make the referendum mandatory in all cases, but to require that such societies have a governing board of at least 100 members.

Forest Reserve Bill Has Rough Trip in Senate

Beebe Charges Omaha Plans To Foist 2,000 Acres on The State—Measure Passes.

Lincoln, March 10.—(Special).—Charges that Omaha was trying to foist 2,000 acres of the Fontenelle forest near Bellevue on the state were made by Senator H. C. Beebe of Polk in a fight on S. F. 189, creating a state park board authorized to lay out a park program, in the senate committee of the whole Thursday morning.

The committee by a vote of 15 to 14 recommended the bill for postponement, but Senator Robbins of Douglas, introducer, got the bill advanced on a motion not to concur in the report.

Davis, Good and Brown changed their votes to allow the bill to go to third reading. Senator Hoagland voted against postponement, reserving the right to change his vote on third reading.

Senator Beebe charged that the bill also sought to create a useless board to do the work now being handled by Director George A. Condra of the state conservation and soil survey bureau.

The Douglas county delegation, he said, had even taken control over forestation from Dr. Condra in a proposed bill, S. F. 272. Senator Cooper defended this bill with the explanation that it was drafted by Colonel McCullough of the Omaha Bee, who had made a study of the situation.

Senator Robbins argued that his bill carried no appropriation and would not be expensive. Senator Dutton thought that a nonpaid board might be too easily influenced by a cordial municipality.

Lobby Controversy Taken Out of Senate
Lincoln, March 10.—(Special).—At the request of W. E. Barkley, Senator Miller on the floor of the senate Thursday asked leave to withdraw a resolution, he and Senator Rickard introduced Wednesday to give Mrs. Barkley a vote of confidence following charges made the day before on the floor by Senator Hoagland that she had made misstatements to discredit certain senators.

Unanimous consent was granted.

Neither Senator Hoagland nor Mrs. Barkley were in the chamber at the time.

Welfare Committee Loses First Round of Censorship Fight

Lincoln, March 10.—(Special).—A strategic maneuver to force the senate to record itself on the child welfare movie censorship bill, S. F. 78, failed in the committee of the whole Thursday, when the opposition seized on the excuse of having no printed amendments before it to put the bill over.

Seventeen senators voted to lay the matter over, on a motion by Senator Beebe. Senator Hastings, chairman of the child welfare committee, had arranged for a special order on the bill.

The senate was determined to have nothing to do with the bill until the house had first threshed out the censorship bills in that body. It was the hope of the bill advocates to force the issue in the senate, in order to simplify the house controversy by the moral effect of senate action.

Four Measures Killed in Senate

Six Bills Passed to Third Reading—Omaha Bills Are Included in List.

Lincoln, March 10.—(Special).—The senate accepted adverse reports of committees on four bills Thursday and agreed to their slaughter. They were S. F. No. 316, restricting the sale of butter substitutes; S. F. No. 313, regulating the disposition of dead animals; S. F. No. 345, live stock quarantine law; and S. F. No. 307, to repeal the law making the amount of an insurance policy to true value of the property insured.

On third reading, the senate passed S. F. No. 239, repealing the obsolete South Omaha school laws, and H. R. No. 217, boosting the mileage and meal fees for county sheriffs.

In committee of the whole, the senate advanced to third reading: H. R. No. 126—Making second-class villages single voting units. H. R. No. 69—Double election boards for Douglas county. S. F. No. 148—Exempting from bond co-operative warehouses. H. R. No. 12—Giving annexed territory a voting right in Omaha water district.

S. F. No. 268—Validating paving proceedings to enable Dodge county to collect $25,939.70 from objecting landowners for permanent paving between Fremont and Ames.

S. F. No. 205—Forbids exclusion of territory from irrigation district without consent of department of public works.

Strength and Weakness Of the Harding Cabinet

President Harding's backbone, his refusal to be dictated to by any clique or faction within his party, is demonstrated to the satisfaction of many journalistic observers by his first official act, the selection of his Cabinet. Noting that three outstanding figures, Mr. Hughes as Secretary of State, Mr. Hoover as Secretary of Commerce, and Mr. Wallace as Secretary of Agriculture, were chosen in the face of formidable opposition, the independent New York Weekly Review thinks that "the time has come when one may regard the charge that Mr. Harding was a mere puppet in the hands of the 'senatorial clique' as definitely disproved." The New York Evening Mail (Ind.) thinks that it is "a Cabinet that spells America about as accurately as any other group of men likely to be gathered around a President's council-table." On the other hand, the Omaha World-Herald (Ind.) says that the Harding Cabinet announcements "dilute, to the Volsteadian measure of one-half of one per cent, the lively hopes that were aroused when we were assured that a Republican Administration would rally the best minds of the country to the public service." The Philadelphia North American (Progressive) says that "It would be an extravagance to call the new Cabinet great, but no less absurd to assume that it is not capable of good service."

THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, March 12th, in its leading article presents all angles of public opinion upon the strength and weakness of the Harding Cabinet, and gives a brief biography of each member of it, with his photograph.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusses did me no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation, if you write to me, Eugene M. Fuller, Carpenter, 714 G. Marcellus Avenue, Manhattan, N. Y. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.
