Fiancee of Harold Elwood Writes Ballet

The one-act ballet, "The Enchanted Forest," which pupils of Pleasant Holyoke will give Monday evening, April 11, at the Brandeis, was written by Miss Holyoke and all the dances for it planned by her.

This prominent young dancer recently announced her engagement to Harold Elwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Elwood. She is the daughter of Mrs. E. A. Holyoke.

One of the novelties at this ballet will be the use of the beautiful curtain designed and made by Mrs. T. M. Finney for the occasion. The curtain is an exceptionally large one and is made in a most attractive style.

Costumes for the ballet are under the direction of a costume committee composed of Mrs. Finney, Mrs. Walter Schroeder, Mrs. Paul Ellis and Mrs. C. W. Martin.

Heads Dundee Woman's Club

Mrs. N. K. Sype, newly elected president of the Dundee Woman's club, is well known in women's club circles in the city.

During the past year she has served as secretary of the Dundee Woman's club, and assistant treasurer of the Omaha Woman's club, of which she is also a member of the civics committee.

Mrs. Sype has been active in Americanization work in connection with the Social Settlement for the past two years.

Cabinet Lady

Ability to direct the destinies of vast business interests one day and to preside with great charm over a tea table the next is the unusual combination presented in Mrs. Fall.

During the nine years Senator Fall has represented his state in the upper house of congress Mrs. Fall has spent but comparatively little time in Washington. When there the social functions over which she presided were such charming affairs that she was greatly missed during the long periods she spent in New Mexico.

But only a few of her most intimate friends knew that when away from Washington she was actively managing her husband's vast interests in their home state.

Some idea of Mrs. Fall's exceptional business acumen may be gained when it is realized that the holdings of her distinguished husband include mines, vast timber lands, farming and stock-raising ranches and even railroads. In this connection Senator Fall, who, unlike only too many husbands, never fails to give his wife credit, always refers to "our" ranches and "our" mines. They are never "my" ranches or "my" mines.

Mrs. Fall was Emma Garland Morgan, the daughter of Josiah Morgan, a member of the confederate congress from the Clarksville, Tex., district. She was left an orphan when a baby.

To Learn Swimming

"If you are ambitious to learn swimming this winter," says Miss Grace A. Thomas, "we advise you to attempt this fascinating but difficult art by easy stages. The best stroke to learn at first is the breast and back stroke. If at the end of the final series of lessons you do not feel that you are absolutely mistress of the stroke it is better to repeat the class rather than advance to the next one. There are always a number of girls in every swimming class who do not take to the water as quickly as the rest. But if you feel confident of going on you will be surprised at your aquatic ability in the last class—the star class of stunts and diving."

Women of New York state as well as the men who served their country in the world war will be entitled to the soldiers' bonus, provision for which was passed at the last election held in that state.

Thursday Bride

Mrs. J. G. Baisch.

The marriage of Miss Lucila Larsen, daughter of T. C. Larsen of this city, and Lieutenant J. G. Baisch of the United States navy, was quietly solemnized Thursday evening at St. Andrew's church, Rev. A. H. Marsden officiating. There were no attendants. The bride wore her traveling costume. Only immediate relatives were present at the ceremony.

During the war the bride served as a nurse in the Red Cross for eight months, a year of which was spent overseas. The couple left immediately after the ceremony on a trip through the west. After April 1 they will be at home in San Diego, Cal.

Roosevelt Was Admirer of Chesterton

Gilbert K. Chesterton, the versatile English genius, who is to lecture under the auspices of Fine Arts society at the Fontenelle hotel, March 14, 4 p. m., has selected for his subject, "The Ignorance of the Educated." This is one of the most notable lectures that Mr. Chesterton will deliver in the course of his brief American tour he is making to this country for the first time.

Both as a speaker and as a writer, Mr. Chesterton is acknowledged to be a master of English style. "What a supreme genius Chesterton is!" exclaimed Colonel Roosevelt after listening to his conversation at a public dinner in London.

Bernard Shaw, with a touch of his characteristic humor, spoke to the same effect recently when he said: "Mr. Chesterton's English has a quality seldom attained by our writers. English words have to mean something to him before he can use them, whereas to the average Englishman they are only noises to express high spirits or ill humor as the case may be."

Mr. Chesterton is acknowledged to be a master of English style. "What a supreme genius Chesterton is!" exclaimed Colonel Roosevelt after listening to his conversation at a public dinner in London.

Mrs. Walter Reslaw was elected delegate to the second district convention, Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs, to be held in Omaha at the Y. W. C. A. April 13 and 14. Mrs. E. H. Maloney was chosen alternate. The president, Mrs. Beavers, is a delegate by virtue of her office.

Hill School Closed.

Hill School for Boys at Pottstown, Pa., where a number of Omaha boys are enrolled, has been closed during the last week because of an epidemic of scarlet fever. Billy Hynes, jr., will join his mother, Mrs. W. I. Hynes, of New York City. William Nicholas will probably go to New York City to remain with friends until the school reopens.

Mrs. E. M. Morsman leaves Tuesday for New York City, where her son, Edgar, went at the closing of the school. They will be joined for the Easter holidays by Miss Mary Morsman, a Bryn Mawr student.

Nelson Updike, jr., arrived in Omaha Friday morning and will be with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Updike, until it is decided that it is advisable for scholars of the eastern institution to return.

It is not yet decided where John and Cornelius Clarke, sons of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Clarke, will go. It is probable that they will be the guests of school friends in the east.

Swimming is becoming one of the most popular sports among the women in England, and many of them are going in for life saving.
