

U. P. Cancels Order Firing Candidate For Mayoralty

Yardmaster at Grand Island Refuses to Resign—Order Revoked—Jubilee to Be Held by Friends.

Grand Island, Neb., March 14.—The order to J. T. Ellsberry, yardmaster, in this city of the Union Pacific, who is a candidate for mayor on a ticket composed almost wholly of labor interests, to withdraw from the mayoralty race, is rescinded. Ellsberry had been notified in a telephone call by Superintendent Carey at Omaha, to Mr. Ellsberry here.

Mr. Ellsberry had refused to either withdraw from the ticket or to resign. He had expected, however, to quit working when his wages stopped, and this, he had been told, would be at 7 p. m. Sunday, E. M. Quick, at present night yardmaster, had already been appointed to succeed Ellsberry.

Caused Wide Comment.

When asked what explanation had been given by the superintendent for the change, Mr. Ellsberry declined to say or even state that any had been given. He said, however, anything except that the order has been recalled, and that he understood it to be indefinitely.

The incident has created widespread comment in both railroad and city circles. The report became current that the action of the company resulted from letters from the Chamber of Commerce requesting such order.

Commissioner Traill and President Flower of the chamber both unequivocally deny the statement. They have written no letters, the matter has never been discussed by either the board of governors or the directors, they say.

To Hold Jubilee.

President Flowers added, positively that if, as reported to him, individual members of the chamber had written such requests, they did so without any Chamber of Commerce authority, and solely as individuals.

The railroad men on the other hand became decidedly busy on Saturday. A petition was at once put in circulation for a fund to give Mr. Ellsberry a farewell. It had amounted to $300 yesterday when word was received that the order had been recalled. It was Mr. Ellsberry's wish that the subscriptions be returned the individual donors. But the men protested and insisted that the fund be used for a jubilee instead of a farewell demonstration and the Liederkranz auditorium has been engaged for March 23 for a jubilee in which to show their regard for Mr. Ellsberry, and good will toward the company for changing the order.

Must Announce Stand.

The mayoralty contest, in which there are three competitors, is likely to be enlivened this week by a meeting called at the First Methodist church, in which T. J. Ellsberry, candidate of the "people" group, Mayor Clear, candidate for re-election, and George Leiser, who is regarded as the laymen's and the third group candidate, will be asked to express themselves on 10 propositions presented to them by a committee of laymen. These propositions cover finances, public improvements, parks and play grounds, municipal water, light and ice plant, fire department, the question of the subway or viaduct, enlargement of the city limits, the prevention of gambling in clubs and hotels, enforcement of the laws against liquor and Sabbath observance.

President Casts Off All Cares of Office During Sabbath Day

Washington, March 14.—President Harding Sunday cast off the cares of office and rested.

Accompanied by Mrs. Harding, he attended the morning service at Calvary Baptist church, and after dining with a few friends as guests, strolled through the White House grounds and took an automobile ride.

The church was crowded, word having spread Mr. Harding would attend the service, and hundreds unable to gain admittance waited outside to get a glimpse of him.

Dr. J. S. Durket, president of Howard university, occupied the pulpit.

During an afternoon of almost summer-like weather, Mr. Harding took advantage of the first real opportunity to get acquainted with his surroundings at the White House. There was no intimation as to whether any important nominations including those of the shipping board, would be sent to the senate before it adjourned, probably late tomorrow.

Students Start Drive Against Moonshiners

Madison, Wis., March 14.—Eleven persons arrested by federal prohibition officers Saturday in a raid instigated by University of Wisconsin students in an effort to clean up the places alleged to have been selling liquors to undergraduates, will appear in federal court tomorrow.

In one place three barrels of wine were uncovered and more than 300 gallons were confiscated as a result of the raid.

Irwin Mafer, business manager of The Daily Cardinal, said that "with absolute co-operation we intend to close up all moonshine places anywhere near the student section."

Vienna Is Scene Of Anti-Jewish Demonstration

Disorders Begin at Congress of Austrian Anti-Semitic Association—Pogroms Are Advocated.

Vienna, March 14.—(By The Associated Press.)—Anti-Jewish disorders which broke out here last evening threatened for a time to develop into a serious situation, but the police, late in the evening, succeeded in dispersing street crowds and in preventing possible loss of life. Shops owned by Jews were damaged by stones thrown by riotous crowds, and in a few cases Jews were beaten.

The disorder began at the congress of the Austrian Anti-Semitic association, which has been in session here for several days. During the sitting late yesterday afternoon, the congress, which is being attended by delegates from 62 chapters of the organization in Austria and a few representatives of Bavarian and Hungarian anti-Jewish societies, was addressed by speakers who urged radical measures. They advocated pogroms, and the organization of Christians in Austria.

During a street meeting at which speakers declared that the Jews constituted a menace because of profligate living two Jewish students were beaten. At dusk this meeting broke up and a great crowd swept through the streets, singing German songs, and shouting "away with the Jews." Now and then a tinkle of glass told of a stone being thrown through a window. The crowd moved steadily toward a Jewish quarter of the city, but large forces of police had been summoned to the canal bridges leading to the ghetto of Vienna and drove the rioters away.

There was more or less rowdiness and street fighting before the police dispersed the mob.

C. of C. Members Hold Spellin' Bee

Goodfellowship Committeemen and Wives Tangle With "Merciless Mac" McGuffey at Noon Luncheon; Bout Declared a Draw.

"Merciless Mac" McGuffey of spellin' book fame and the members of the goodfellowship committee and their wives battled one hour and a half to a draw at the noon meeting of the goodfellows in the Chamber of Commerce Monday.

J. David Larson, commissioner of the Chamber of Commerce, was the third man in the ring and coached "Merciless Mac" cunningly by handing out such words as "camouflage," "quize," "bazarr," "anarchistic" and "rhubarb."

In the first round "Merciless Mac" piled up a good lead on his doughty opponents. He floored G. M. Horton when he threw over that word "iniment" which was spelled "iniment." Horton was given the pretty lavender dance cap.

E. C. Hathaway a printer, put in a heavy body blow on "Merciless Mac" when he spelled quize without having an eye. Hathaway was accused of using underhand methods, as he has to deal with the word every day.

Floors Six Persons.

In the third round things looked rosy for "Mac." He whipped out "camouflage" and floored six men and women in one full swoop. Mrs. Frank Myers stopped him by spelling it correctly.

Everybody knew the match was "on the level" when Mrs. J. David Larson spelled "rhubarb" with an extra "e." Previous correct spelling by her had led ringiders to believe that the match was "framed." S. A. Cole spelled "scissors" the phonetic way, thus "sisors," and Dr. J. P. Slate stumbled when he reached "aisle."

C. B. Adair was given the word "molar." "Merciless Mac" here attempted to stick Adair, but the fireman was too slick for him.

Spells Word Correctly.

"Which do you mean, the college or tooth?" the latter asked.

Adair almost staggered "Mac" by spelling the word correctly. Then followed several rounds in which little damage was done on either side. J. Dysart, chairman of the committee and promoter of the battle, pronounced hostilities off and gave a draw decision.

Get Acquainted

THIS job is to "put to bed" the morning editions of The Bee. He performs the duty with as much care and attention as a mother "tucks in" her child.

Victor E. "Deacon" Gay, veteran printer, of Omaha, is foreman of the night composing room force of The Bee. The composing room, you know, is where the type set the type for news stories and ads and place the type in page forms ready for editions of the paper.

There are few "stunts" in this preparation of type and few disturbing troubles incidental to the process that are unknown to "The Deacon." He's familiar with how "jams" are likely to occur in a composing room and has a happy faculty for heading them off.

That he gets results is due mostly, he says, to the enthusiastic co-operation of the men working with him.

Motor Fever Hits Omaha as 1921 Auto Show Opens

Blare of Music Rends Air and Myriads of Lights Flash on at Auditorium as Crowds Rush In.

Eager-eyed Omahans romped through the main doors of the Auditorium at 2 yesterday afternoon when the porticos were swung open to herald the Sixteenth Annual Omaha automobile show.

Long rows of artistically arranged, shiny-bodied cars, enough to make any human hear the call of the road, greeted those same eager-eyed Omahans.

And as the orchestra leader raised his baton, a blare of music rent the hall, simultaneously with the flashing on of myriads of electric lights. "Best yet!" "Greatest ever!" "Gee ain't them swell?"

Motor Fever Rages.

Such were some of the gasped exclamations heard as the throng surged in an about tempting sedans, comfortable touring cars, luxuriant limousines, lean, low, racy roadsters and queer shaped sport models.

Here and there was a cute little coupe built just for two, and the girls eyed them longingly.

Motor fever fairly crackled and sparked through the air, and genial motor salesmen flitted hither and yon through the mammoth display of horseless carriages, answering questions, pointing out the good points of their own makes, and obliging the vast crowd of spectators with grace.

Finishing Touches Sunday.

The automobile business will be shaken from its somewhat lethargic state long before the show closes at the end of the week, in the opinion of the automobile men, and expres-

New Wood Pulp Mill Operating in Alaska

Washington, March 14.—Alaska is manufacturing wood pulp, the Department of Agriculture announced, on receipt of samples of the first run from a new mill near Juneau in the Tongas national forest. Forest service officials declared that the establishment of the mill marked another milestone of progress in pulp production for the newsprint industry.

The mill is the first to be established in the territory and is operated by hydro-electric power. It has a capacity of 20 tons of pulp a day with power resources available for increasing the output to 250 tons.

Forest service officials said an area of the Tongas national forest containing 2,000,000,000 feet of timber will be placed on the market soon, in response to inquiries from prospective paper manufacturers.
