THE FEAST OF REASON.

Our Free Legal Aid Our Omaha has had a dose She found it hard to take. Her mind is still all puckered up She has a verebral acht.

The Bee will give answers, free of cost

Pay for Photo Services.

have the negatives which are all technically very good, and whether B may be compelled to pay the $9 ($1.50 each), without surrendering the negatives to him. I would also be obliged if you could tell me the middle price of this work.

Answer: In the absence of con-tract or agreement with B to the contrary, A would be entitled to recover the reasonable value of the services rendered for the six sittings, the six negatives and the six

we are unable to advise you what the reasonable value of this work is, but the bill of $9 which you rendered seems to us to be reasonable. It is our understanding that it is the prac tice among photographers to retain negatives of pictures which they make, and in the absence of an understanding to the contrary, A would be entitled to keep these and

From World During Plebiscite

Berlin,-March 18 .- (By The Asso-

Submarine Is Floated

Westerly, R. I., March 18 .- The

ubmarine N-2, which ran on Watch

Hill reef yesterday, was floated early

London submarine base. It was

PLAYER

apparently undamaged.

Upper Silesia Is Cut Off

eignty over the district.

W. J. C. writes: "Several days Hill reef yesterday, was floated carly ago I wrote you a letter for advice, today and taken in tow for the New still collect the $9.

Question: A is a professional pho-reasonable length of reply.

to such legal questions as are submitted to its editor, subject to

A feast was served at the Fontenells On Monday last, at four; The cost of it was a thousand bucks Some think it was worth much more.

There was no cocktail of flattery To serve as an appetizer: (He didn't hand bouguets to our middly ographer, B, a young married man. B ordered four dozen photographs He will next time, if he's wiser.)

The mental viands were bits of truth That were unsugar-coated. at $10 a dozen from A. A made three sittings of B and three of his That were unsugar-coated. We gaped that such ordinary commo wife, also six negatives, 5x7, and six proofs. B, after having the proofs things

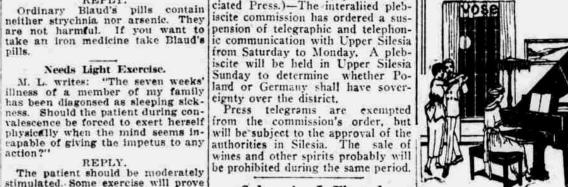

Should be served by a chef so noted. for about two days advised A that Twas finished off without dessert his wife did not like them, but prom-The' some suspect we got it Along with the other vittles served But failed to get it spotted. ised to come back for another sitting.

Neither B nor his wife have ever come. After some time A sent a bill to B in the amount of $9 for the That costly meal has left in its wake Much mental indigestion; Our system was unprepared for it, Of that there is no question. six sittings and six proofs, and his work and expenses thereon. B did not reply and A sent a second letter

Some hint that G. K. C. is a nut. Some think he's a high-brow-plus: Some say he's a joke, and laugh and asking for payment. B then came to A and said he would pay the bill if A would surrender the six nega-But it may be the laugh's on us. tives to him. A refuses to do this and B refuses to pay it. Please tell mo if B has a right to

-BAYOLL NE TRELE.

A Vose "Small Grand" fits very comfortably in a small apartment or study room.

> Our payment plan is sure to appeal to you.

Real Politics

tion to Ontario's farmer government the other day exclaimed disparagingly: "What do you expect, they're only a bunch of farmers anyway?" Subsequently an important Ontario citizen made contrite apology for that thoughtless slighting remark.

For this "bunch of farmers" is getting on in the world and is obliged to take insults from nobody. So far-reaching has its influence become that last week it accomplished the defeat of a member of the British cabinet, no less a personage than Sir Arthur Griffiths-Boscawen, newly appointed minister of agriculture, and to keep m in the government Lloyd George may be obliged to raise him to a peerage, for which he has social qualities, and make him a member of the House of Lords.

cannot afford to disregard, particularly as the issue which drove the Ontario farmer into British politics had its origin in the United States.

gan, threatened by a stroke of the pen to cut off Canada's market for $50,000,000 worth of animals a year, and when simultaneously Henry Ford threatened to produce cowless milk, Canadian live stock dealers got distinctly nervous. first thing to do was to find another market for

There was a time, thirty years ago, when cattle were affected by foot and mouth diseases or pleuro-pneumonia or some such thing, and the British minister of the day slapped on an embargo which has not been lifted to this day. Rewas not and never has been disease among Cana dian cattle made no impression on the govern ment of England and the social fastnesses of the landed proprietors. Every representation to the government was referred to the agricultural experts and the agricultural experts being inter ested parties always replied that the proposal was inadvisable. No industry in any protectionist country was ever protected as completely as has been the cattle growing industry of free

All these representations from Cauada went through the "regular channels." First a resolution would be referred to the Canadian minister of agriculture, then to the Canadian government, next to his excellency the governor general, then overseas to the colonial office in London, then to the British cabinet, next to the British miniser of agriculture and then "this way out."

embargo, decided to make one more effort to get into the British market. They took one look at stead they sent their own minister of agriculture

When he went to England, however, he found that neither he nor his government had any standing whatever. The imperial authorities might deal with Dominion governments, but governments of provinces were certainly not recognizable. "Regular channels" must be maintaine If Manning Doherty's course at the Agricul-tural college didn't teach him the meaning of "infradig" the imperial officials taught it to nim when he went to them representing merely a

Ontario Farmers Not Rubes Teach British Cabinet a Trick in

By John R. Bone in the Boston Transcript. A member of a disappointed urban deputa-

It is an omen for President Harding that he

When Mr. Fordney, a neighbor from Mici their beeves.

Canadian cattle could be shipped on the hoof to Britain. And then it was charged that Canadian peated representations from Canada that there trade Britain.

Ontario's "bunch of farmers" government, rendered anxious by Mr. Fordney's threatened the "regular channels" and that was enough. Indirect to London

Manning Doherty, minister of agriculture, in an agriculturists' cabinet is an interesting figure. At official dinners and other functions it is often remarked that he made the best speech of the evening, and it is always remarked that he is the best dressed man in the hall. He is on the sunny side of 45, clean shaven and bright as a new dollar. He knows his way about in most any kind of company.

provincial cabinet.

The Boe's Then Manning Doherty did what many an other man in perplexity has done before-hied himself to a newspaper office. A short while ago he might have found London newspaper offices impenetrable a brick wall as Downing street officialdom, but the office he happened into, that of the Daily Express, is owned by a fellow Canadian, Lord Beaverbrook. Beaverbook took up the fight. In a month ning. "Allow me," said the writer, Manning Doherty, through his irregular chan-"the space for inquiry of the Metro-politan Water District Gas Plant denels, made more stir about the cattle embargo partment. As a taxpayer I want to know when authority was granted to than the regular channels had ever dreamed of in thirty years. And when a new British minister advertise automobile tires in such a conspicuous mauner?" of agriculture sought re-election Manning Do-herty's friend fought him-not merely on the This pertinent question arises in the fact that in the window of the ground that his embargo policy was untriendly to Canada, but also because it was keeping up municipal gas store on Howard street several automobile tires the price of meat to the British laboring man. And Sir Arthur Griffiths-Boscawen, thanks to street Manning Doherty and Lord Beaverbrook and the unemployed and perhaps hungry working man of Dudley, went down to defeat. The fight was not yet over. Manning Do-herty has returned to England to continue it. Many Canadians think there is something of imstreet. plaint does not realize that the auto-mobile show is something of a contpertinence about this mixing in British affairs, out if he gets that cattle embargo removed it munity enterprise, and he certainly discloses slight conception of the will be another bright feather in the cap of On tario's "bunch of farmers. like the water plant and ice plant, are community enterprises in which every citizen and taxpayer is a stock-holder, ALSO TAXPAYER. Lord Beaverbrook, it is said, would like to be Canadian high commissioner in London, a post that has not been filled since Strathcona died. But he can hatdly have been prompted by tha ambition in taking up the cattle embargo fight because the Ontario government has no influence in the appointment. It is more likely Beaver-brook was among other things responding as a darkey to carry three tons of coal from the curb to the basement the other day. A little later the housewife Canadian to the call of the blood. Removal of the British embargo would render discovered that she had no money ex-cept a $5 bill. Calling the darkey, Canadian live stock raisers independent of the United States market. It would probably also result in an embargo against United States cattle who was about half through with the job, she asked him if he could change the bill so that he could get his pay. "No'm," he replied. "I cain't. But I o'n get it changed over at the groc'ry sto'e." The woman hesitated, trying entering Canada, for when Canada formerly shipped to England a condition of the privilege was that a 90-day quarantine had to be imposed against the United States. This is a step Canada will be loathe to take and it will probably only to decide whether to take a chance. "Don' you worry, Missus," the darbe taken if it appears that the new Washington key assured her. "I'll come back wid de change. An' just to show you it's all right. I'll go after it right now and leave this other ton of coal I tariff regulations are actually inimical to Canada. Some British experts are advising the Canadian farmers not to bother about the live cattle ain't carried in yet out in the street as s'curity.--Kansas City Star. export trade, but to get into the chilled meat business. They say there is no reason why they should not successfully compete with the Chicago packing houses and eventually oust them from Europe. Derby avenue, on the road to Yale Field, a four-room house perched on London, March 12 .- A conference convened by the city corporation and presided over by the lord mayor was held in the Guildhall and voted, 25 feet from the ground, with a ladder leading up to it. It is occupied by a number of bpys who with the help of their fathers, built it for fun. 72 to 44, for the removal of the embargo on Canadian store cattle. The conference consisted of representatives of agriculture and commercial bodies, and among these were six Canadians. The year 1919 was one of undimin-ished prosperity for the Union of on woman labor, as in the textile trade, communities exist with a surplus of women. According to the census of 1910, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Maryland, North Carolina and the District of Columbia were thus affected. Nebraska as a whole then had an excess of 60,000 males, and in Wyoming, the women were outnumbered nearly two to one. No need in this happy land to live in spinsterhood. The injunction of Horace Greeley may well be brought down to date to read: "Come west, young woman, come west."

Lloyd George and His Cabinet.

The retirement from the British imperial cabinet of Bonar Law is accepted as an indication of the existence of a political crisis o first magnitude by the London Times. It is barely possible that back of this may be discerned the wish of Northeliffe, whose desires and ambitions frequently have stood as parents to his thought. Northcliffe is not and never has been friendly to Lloyd George. As far back as 1909, when the little Welshman, then chancellor of the exchequer in the first Asquith cabinet, went to the country with his budget. Northcliffe, not yet clevated to the pecrage, pursued him with all the power of his great newspapers, but Lloyd George was endorsed by the people. In 1915, when Lloyd George unhorsed Herbert Asquith and formed his first coalition cabinet, the result was partially due to the terrific bombardment of the war office by the Northcliffe papers, and for a moment it seemed as if a rapprochement had been effected between the two greatest forces in British political life.

When that cabinet was formed it contained the names of two men whose presence astonished the world outside, those of Bonar Law and Edward Carson. Law, at least, might have been taken as a concession to Northcliffe, but certainly did not typify the ideals of the premier. He was accepted, as it was understood that the cabinet was intended to bring to the service of the United Kingdom all the elements of national life, then undergoing a terrible tension. In the events that have ensued since the Armistice Bonar Law has not been especially prominent. although he has given such support as he might to the government in the efforts at reconstruction. He is regarded as an ultra conservative, and when Sir Robert Cecil broke with Lloyd George and made his ineffectual atttempt at consolidating the opposition, it was a foregone conclusion that Bonar Law soon would follow. The coalition cabinet may be doomed; it would be singular if it did survive much longer. But in the realignment of political forces it is quite as likely that Lloyd George will again emerge triumphant as that the elements represented by Northcliffe will control. Conservatism is not dead in England, but the reactionary tory type will scarcely be permitted to regain ascendancy at once. A progressive spirit is pravalent there, and the line between the classes and the masses is becoming more and more that of a shadow, its outline appearing sharply only among the elect who are unmoved by anything short of actual extermination.

Bonar Law's resignation from the cabinet may precipitate a real political crisis, but Lloyd George does not appear to be in real danger because of that alone.

Uncle Sam's African Nephew.

In the gorgeous uniform of his office, with a

Questions concerning hygiene, sanitation and prevention of disease, submitted to Dr. Evans by readers of The Bee, will be answered personally, subject to proper limitation, where a stamped addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases. Address letters in care of The Bee. Copyright, 1921, by Dr. W. A. Evans TIME OF GREATEST GROWTH. dancing. She then was frail and weighed 75 pounds. Her instructor We are now just entering the sea- is 65 years old and gets about like son of rapid growth. Mallery-Hau- a boy of 20; he was my instructor sen, a Danish scientist, has shown when I was a child. Can dancing that between the latter part of harm the child in any way? Many

March and the first of August chil- of my friends think me cruel and dren grow with maximum rapidity. Ill-advised Any information from

From the first of August to the last you will be greatly appreciated and considered final.

Bright's disease?

of consumption?

the men therein.

Yes. Not always.

work at the postoffice

 2

a cure?

"3.

1

tion.

6.

In it the pills.

Later there may be redness of the valescence be forced to exert herself

"About six months ago I sent my 12- not accompanied by stamped, ad-year-old daughter to a school for dressed envelope. It may be that action?"

overdo.

REPLY

I can see no reason to think dancing will hurt, the child. It is an excellent as well as pleasurable exer-

Infection Chief Cause.

A reader writes: "i. What physical examination to procure

"5. Is tuberculosis the same? "6. Does the subject of

"6. Does the subject always cough with pains in the chest?"

REPLY.

tion of the kidney. 2. There are different kinds of Bright's disease and different causes

The most frequent cause is infec-tion. Many cases are cured.

a soldier down, now require a physical examination on entrance. It is for the good of the service and of

4. Among the early symptoms are cough, fever, slight loss of flesh, fa-tigue, slight pallor, spitting of blood.

Contain No Strychnia

contain arsenic or strychnia? Are they harmful or beneficial?"

REPLY.

Ordinary Blaud's pills contain neither strychnia nor arsenic. They

Needs Light Exercise.

M. L. writes: "The seven weeks' illness of a member of my family has been diagonsed as sleeping sick-ness. Should the patient during con-physically when the mind seems incapable of giving the impetus to any

REPLY.

stimulated. Some exercise will prove helpful. But do not have her

Several Reasons Possible.

but have not seen your answer. Please tell me why."

REPLY.

was not answered. It may have been because it was unsigned and the question called for a diagnosis or treatment or the subject was of Curing a Birth Mark.

of a case in which a port wine colored birth mark was cured by treatment with a Kromayer lamp. The Miss W. writes us that she knows

I do not know why your letter

The patient should be moderately

C. M. J. writes: "Do Blaud's pill

Bright's disease is inflamma

Many employments, from being

"4. What are the first symptoms

What causes it and isere

Why is it necessary for a cise and should benefit her.

of November growth is almost at a standstill. Between November and March the rate of growth is twice as great as it is during the sum-of growth in summer-autumn, 4 expresses the rate for winter-spring.

and 5 for the period between March

This seasonal variation in growth is doubtless dependent in some measure on the food. It has been proved that the milk from cows fed on spring vegetation contains more of certain vitamines than milk at other seasons; also that the milk of mothers eating fresh spring vegetables is likewise richly endowed.

If it is true of milk, why is it not true of other foods? Every mother should bear in mind that spring is the season of growth and do what she can to promote the physical well being of her children. This suggestion carries with it several corollaries. If mothers understood better that children are not expected to grow much during the few months following the first of August they might be content to feed

Another fact worth Cemembering is that for some reason this spring season of maximum growth is the season of maximum prevalence of contagion. Precautions which have earlier part of the year will not suffice during the spring. There is a form of eye trouble which is closely related to nutrition.

McCollum found that by feeding young rats a ration wholly free from butter fat the animals not only stopped growing and failed to bear young, but they developed ulcers of the eye. The name of this eye disease is xeropthalmia. In it the shiny white coat of the eyeball seems to dry up, turn gray and be-come wrinkled. Next there appears on it yellowish white dots like paraffin wax points. At this stage the eyeballs and lids are not red.

lids and balls, vicers of the cornea,

European children have had a good deal of this eye disease resulting in blindness in recent years. it dren and in those having prolonged severe bowel derangements. It has been noticed that while there is ery little of this disease during the balance of the year, it becomes fair-in March, it is more prevalent in April and reaches its maximum in Dancing Helps Child.

fact that the gas store and plant,

Gilt Edge,

Peter Pan's House,

New Haven has within sight of the branches of a huge oak about

South Africa Prosperous.

South Africa. Highly remunerative prices ruled for all classes of produce, and these to a large extent. If not wholly, counterbalanced the losses suffered by the farmers through the severe drouth experienced the

A Bit o' Cheer

Each Day o' the Year

By John Kendrick Bangs.

A PROMISE.

As on you tun your way

Do all you can amid the rough an

And bear a bit of t'other fellow's promise you that you

If this course you pursue Will find that bit of kindly self-

ill cut at least in half the pressing

Of your own trial.

Convright, 1921, by the McClure waper Syndicate.)

Completely to forget

Your own regret.

latter part of the year

Just for Today

rubble

trouble

denial

load

Upon the road

A Country club housewife hired a anxious mother writes:

May, after which it decreases frequent in the spring. Starting found in greatly emaciated chil-and profuse shedding of tears.

for safety in the less during the hot weather.

proved ample

Using 2 as representing the rate

mer period of pause.

and August.

How to Keep Well

hat is for the good of all. If the leaders of bird of paradise plume in his cocked hat, the hought in Latin America prefer to listen to the iren song of European agitators, we can not telp it, but we can hold them in check when it omes to making this country ridiculous through preaking of pledges for the carrying out of which our national faith is pledged under the Monroe Doctrine.

The Omatia Bee

AILY (MORNING) - EVENING-SUNDAY

THE BEE PUBLISHING COMPANY, NELSON B. UPDIKE, Publisher,

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

BEE TELEPHONES

For Night Calls After 10 P. M.t

OFFICES OF THE BEE

in Office: 17th and Farm 15 Scott BL 1 South Side

Out-of-Town Offices:

The Bee's Platform

2. Continued improvement of the Ne-into Omaha with a Brick Surface.

3. A short, low-rate Waterway from the

4. Home Rule Charter for Omaha, with City Manager form of Government.

Self-Determination in Application.

The note Secretary Hughes has dispatched to Panama is indicative of a firmer attitude of the nited States towards the lesser American re-ublics. Having accepted responsibility for them under the Monroe doctrine, guaranteeing their ntegrity and assuring them of independence and ecurity, that note is a warhing that they are also to be held to accountability by the United states. When one of them enters into a solema agagement, it will be expected to fulfill that to he letter. Treaties and agreements are not scraps paper in the estimation of the United States.

This new form of self-determination will not e especially palatable to a certain type of olitician, who has flourished for several years outh of the Rio Grande. Not only in Mexico, out all the way down to Puntas Arenas it has seen popular to flout Uncle Sam. No need to ook for the cause of this; the anti-American prop-ganda has been carefully fostered and widely pread by nations pretending a great friendship

or the United States, but secretly and for siniser purposes undermining our relations with ther American governments. Many signs of he effect of the campaign so insidiously carried in have been noticed lately, especially in the manners of the Central American republics.

Therefore the notice served on Panama may be

The United States has never undertaken to nterfere with the external relations of any other

American republic, save so far as was needed to equire it to carry out its agreements with other lations in good faith, or to protect it from ag-rression. When we have intervened in the inernal politics of these turbulent and unsettled ations, it has been solely in the interest of good order and the welfare of the people. At no time has our paternalism towards them taken on any spect of aggrandizement, or attempt at profit.

We have sought to maintain friendly relations

rith all, to foster trade and commerce with them, nd to establish a mutual respect and confidence eccepted as intended for the reading of all.

Corn Belt to the Atlantic Ocean.

braska Highways, including the pave-ment of Main Thoroughfares leading

1. New Union Passenger Station.

356 Fifth Ave. Washington 1311 G St. Steger Bidg. / Paris, France, 420 Rue ML Ronore

Exchange. Ask for or Person Wanted.

al yows sublished he patches are also rest

Irculation

ouncil Bluffs

er Tork

The Associated Press, of which The Bee is a member, is ar-rely mittled to the use for publication of all news dispatches itsed to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the scheme are also reserved.

Tyler 1000

Tyler 10001 Tyler 10001 Tyler 10001

2018 N St.

That is what the governments to the south of is may read in the note to Panama. It is not he gauntlet of steel under the glove of velvet. On the contrary, it is merely the restraining and of a big brother, kindly holding back the ittle fellow who would rush headlong into langer.

Embarrassments of Gold.

The plight of Midas, whose touch turned all hings to gold, even his food, has its modern instance in the present situation of the United States. The gold of the world has flowed into bur land, and yet with scarcely more benefit han when the ancient king's very food changed uto the precious metal.

Financial experts agree that it would be unortunate for our debtors overseas to endeavor o pay their debts here by draining themselves urther of their gold, so that they could not purchase our goods. At the same time, it is with extreme reluctance that the prospect of being haid in goods is regarded. In the same way the Allies, while pressing Germany for reparation, to not relish payment in manufactured articles, which to their own mind would cause further inemployment at home.

The way out for America, according to its dvisers, is to finance business and government abroad, thus using our surplus to start Europe back toward a position of self-support and at he same time avoiding being buried in the golden lood that Midas learned to fear.

Compared with its purchasing power before he war, the American dollar is said now to be vorth about 65 cents. According to the conentional theory, the more gold is available, the ess it is worth, and by sending some of it broad, the dollar will rise again. This much is certain, that no one can eat gold, and that real vealth consists only in the things that can be onsumed by humanity or used in the process of production. Coins are but counters, making rade easier than barter, although business, now is ever, really consists of the exchange of one trticle for another.

A Jill for Every Jack.

Among the other attractive characteristics of Imaha may be included that it is a likely place or matrimony. The opportunity to become a vite is better here than in many other parts of he United States, according to the new census, which shows the number of males exceeds that of females by 6,306. The total of actual or poential husbands is set at 98,954, and that of the other sex is found to be 92,648.

Since ten years ago the percentage of women as gained slightly, although, actually, Omaha rained more men in a decade than it did women. What the complete census will show for the whole country is not to be guessed, although in 910 there was a surplus of almost 2,000,000 men nd boys.

Omaha is what is sometimes called a he-town. where there are industries that depend mainly poorer because he has gone.

president of Liberia has landed in America, seeking a loan from the government of $5,000,000. Concerning the soundness of such investment of public funds no one at this distance can pronounce; it is probable that some proffer of a naval base on the coast of Africa will be advanced to the authorities. Since 1901 the Liberians have been eager for the United States to establish a coaling station on their shores, believing that invasion or amalgamation with other African lands would be insured against if there were an American base there. A warship was sent to investigate at one time, but for diplomatic or other reasons, found there was no available

The one spot in Africa that Europe has not touched is Liberia. Cheated and bulldozed within an inch of its life, this little republic may yet give a favorable answer to the query: Can the negro stand alone? Its independence it owes to the fact that it has always been a protege of the United States. Freed American slaves constituted this independent republic on the green shores of West Africa in 1847. Before that, in the administration of President Monroe, after whom their capital, Monrovia, is named, the first settlement had been made. By a treaty signed during the Civil war, the United States undertook to preserve the constitutional form of government and its independent existence.

The nation is about half the size of Nebraska, and its trade was ruined by the war. Affection for America is said to be very striking there, and has at various times been heightened by the appearance of German warships bearing demands for indemnity and suggestions for annexation, and by French and British encroachments as well. Under President Taft the State department furnished an expert to act as customs receiver, and altogether, relations have been more intimate than most Americans realize, with this distant black republic.

Omaha's list of worth while men is short another name, that of Thomas M. Orr, who has just surrendered to the conqueror of all men. He was a name to hundreds of thousands who had business with the Union Pacific railroad, but was known only to a few. Quietly pursuing a chosen path of usefulness, he found himself long ago removed from direct personal contact with the world, yet daily wielding more of influence because of the growth of the great institution of which he was a part. In the Union Pacific organization he had become so nearly indispensable that when he withdrew at the time of the reorganization under Harriman he was soon called. As assistant to the president, he was not only intimately acquainted with the workings of the road, but he possessed an inexhaustible fund of detailed information concerning the business, and so was a great factor in its operation and its relations with the world. Those who knew "Tom" Orr well loved him because of the many manly attributes that endeared him to his friends, while those who knew of him only in a business way were impressed with his fidelity to the company and the accuracy of his knowledge. Forty-four years of genuine usefulness might have warranted his retirement, yet he died in the harness, just because he was useful. He leaves Not all our cities can thus be characterized, for the world richer because of the example he set.

The first consignment of cattle from the United States since 1913 arrived in the Mersey Wednesday on board the steamer Welshman The consignment consisted of 200 head.

Waste of Wood.

And we waste wood from the time the tree cut until the finished product is put on the market. Logging operations in the woods are enormously wasteful. Losses in the seasoning wood in this country are estimated at $50,000,-000 annually. The use of preserving processes on ties, poles, posts, piling, mine timbers, shingles, lumber and other wood exposed to the weather would save the country about $75,000,000 a year. The annual loss from fire in this country is about $200,000,000 a year. A large part of this is in wooden structures, and a large part of it could be avoided by the use of fire-retarding paints and compounds and fire-resisting construction. With the country facing a paper shortage, which is rapidly putting books beyond the reach of all but the well-to-do, 55 per cent of the wood fed into the pulp digesters now lost in the waste sulphite liquors. These are only some of the problems which the wood using industries face. All of these wastes are in some degree unavoidable. The ways of avoiding most of them are already known in theory and have been demonstrated experimentally. What is needed is further experiment to perfect and standardize methods and to put them on a commercial basis. This is the real constructive work of industry .- Anaconda 1 Standard

Taxpayer Answers Taxpayer. Omaha, March 17.--To the Editor The Bee: About the most pusil-imous peek I have seen taken at lanimous peck I have seen taken at the Public Utilities board was the treated by radium, and still other by carbonic snow. complaint from "A Taxpayer" in the Letter Box of The Bee of last eve-no general interest.

en erefre einen einen eine eine eine einen einen For Real Bargains are shown as advertisements of the automobile show, just as they are found in the windows of other stores on either side of the gas store on that street, and almost every other in Used Sewing Evidently the writer of the com-Machines MICKELS

Lead

--for Saturday

we offer

A Singer, used but in first class shape; light

oak case with $35.00 five drawers..

New Home, one of old standards. This machine is a five-drawer

late model and in A-1

Real discounts on many

WHFTES returned from

rent and shop worn ma-

If you want a real machine for little money, be

MICKELS

15th and Harney

condi-

chines.

here early.

tion

$22.00

Second Wind!

The Business Morgue is filled with "first wind" successes; with business men who could fight only when the battle went their way; with those who could not take the punishment of body blows long enough to get their "second wind" and so be standing at the finish.

The business man is a contender for the championship in the squaredcircle of success. Business successes battle with a full knowledge of the game; with keen, alert senses; with the sheer grit and will to smash on until the deep breathing of "second wind" comes and carries them over into the opponent's corner with a finish blow.

Those who throw the sponge into the circle or through plain yellowness refuse to stagger to their feet before the count of ten, who give up before they are beaten, deserve their failures.

"Second wind" in business is given to those who have the ability, the spirit, to fight even when knocked to their knees; to those who say, "I can," even after their bodies have said, "Let's quit;" to those who can smile even as they return for further punishment.

To them is given "second wind."

"Second wind" goes only to real fighters.

Think it over.

Micholas

L. V. NICHOLAS OIL CO. "Business Is Good, Thank You."