

Twin Brothers, War Veterans, In Merry Mixup

Iowa Youths Who Served in War Together Separated in Training School by Similar Records.

Lincoln, March 25.—Dale and Dell Trailor are twin brothers. They look and act as much alike as the two well-known peas in a pod. Ordinarily their similarity in names, appearance and actions causes them only fun at the expense of their friends. It remained for Uncle Sam and his staff of clerks in Washington to so badly mix up these two young men that they questioned even themselves which was which.

Dale and Dell on July 16, 1917, at the age of 18, enlisted in the army at Mount Pleasant, Ia. They went to training camp together. They were assigned to duty in the same company and regiment, and were sent overseas together with the 168th infantry, Rainbow division. Both were privates, first class. Dale was given serial No. 101275 and his brother, Dell, serial number 101281.

In the summer of 1918, Dale and Dell were in action. Each was wounded at the same place and date as was his twin brother. On May 17 both Dale and Dell were discharged, apparently in good physical condition.

Dell Gets Compensation. Shortly after his discharge Dell applied for compensation, filing with his claim affidavits showing that he was suffering from disabilities caused by gas received in action. He was given compensation. He also received the benefits of vocational education and came to Lincoln to learn the watchmakers' trade.

It was not until March, 1920, that Dale began to feel the affects of the gas he encountered in France. He was in Aberdeen, Wash., at the time, and applied for compensation. In reply he received a letter from the bureau of war risk insurance stating that he was receiving aid from the government, and that it was useless for him to try to receive double compensation. He argued with them by correspondence, stating that he was not receiving compensation. They replied further, stating that his check was being mailed from Washington, every month, and that so far as they were concerned the case was ended.

Dale was not to be stopped in this fashion. He went to the Red Cross and they wrote long letters to Washington and then he went to the American Legion and they wrote in an effort to secure an award for him without avail.

At Work on Case. The case recently was placed in the hands of Grover C. Davis, Nebraska representative for the bureau of war risk insurance. Having been in France himself, Davis had a lot of sympathy for Dale and listened to his story in detail. It dawned upon him that Dale and Dell Trailor's official records in Washington were being filed together because of the similarity in names and serial numbers, and likeness in ages, date of enlistment, date wounded in action, company and regiment and date of discharge.

Davis is satisfied that the whole affair will be ironed out satisfactory to the twins, who are 21 years of age now. As soon as his claims are recognized, Dale will enter school here and again will have the same status as his brother, Dell.

Carter Lake Nymphs Plan Dip Sunday If Weather Man Smiles

If the weather man, please doesn't make it too snappy Sunday morning the water nymphs at Carter Lake say they will take their first bath—that is, the first lake dip of the season. If the weather is bright and the sun warm, there will be a splashing and dipping seldom equaled on any first day of swimming.

A conference dinner at the "Y" next Monday night will be attended by several hundred. The speakers will be Walter W. Head and Rev. Frank G. Smith. The complete plan of campaign will be presented at the dinner.

Council Removes Two Detectives

City Officers Declared Guilty Of Accepting Bribe From Moonshiner.

Guy Knudson and Oliver Farrand, city detectives, who were stationed on the South Side, were dismissed from service yesterday by action of the city council, after they had been declared guilty of accepting protection money from Michael Barna, 2509 Adams street.

Police Commissioner Ringer offered two resolutions to the council, one that the officers were guilty of the charge and the other that they should be dismissed. Charges which had been filed with Chief of Police Eberstein alleged that Knudson and Farrand had accepted $25 a month for five months, between January 1 and July 15, 1920, for protection to Barna, who, it is alleged, was a manufacturer of liquor.

Knudson served seven years on the police department and Farrand eight and one-half years. Both had been under suspension for some time.

Barrows Denies Any Tilt With McKelvie on Pay

Bill Providing Governor's Salary for Substitute in Governor's Absence Not Result of Row.

Lincoln, March 26.—(Special.)—In a public statement issued today, Lieut. Gov. P. A. Barrows denies the passage of House Roll 227, providing that when the governor is incapacitated or out of the state the acting governor shall draw the governor's pay followed by any tilt between himself and Governor McKelvie.

"There has been no tilt between Governor McKelvie and myself over the pay for an acting governor," says Barrows' statement.

Right Salary. "I am not trying to draw the salary of the governor. I am simply trying to provide that there shall be no repetition of what happened a few years ago when a certain lieutenant governor was called to act as governor at two different times for a period extending over several days, was compelled to pay his own hotel bills, and railroad fare, and received absolutely nothing for his services.

"Under the bill just passed, he will be given the right to draw the salary of the governor or so much of it as will reimburse him for his expenses. Given Expense Fund.

"This man was a man who could hardly afford to stand the expense, and I believe he should be given at least his expenses.

"The constitution sets out that the legislature cannot vote any additional money to a state officer over and above his salary, consequently, in order to receive his expenses, he must receive it as the constitution provides—from the governor's pay.

"The governor is given an expense fund which covers his expenses when out of the state. Under the constitution the salary is expected to go to the acting governor, in order that he may pay his expenses. This event up the proposition."
