McLaughlin, 20, and Lee Stewart, 21, living together in a small cabin on an island in the Platte river, southwest of Fremont, going and coming as they saw fit, with no one in the vicinity to make comment or to disturb their existence.

Presence of Lobby Reason for Delay in Reed-Mears Measure

Lincoln, April 2.—(Special).—The presence of a corporation lobby in the lower house aroused suspicion in the mind of Representative George Snow and caused delay in action on H. R. 369, which provides for an alleged equitable occupation tax on foreign and domestic corporations. The bill was placed on general file this morning.

"I move we delay action on this bill until we have had more time to study it," Snow said. "I haven't paid much attention to it and from the personnel and interest displayed in debate on the bill by a number of persons in the lobby, who I know are interested in corporation affairs, I think we had better wait a day, or two, and look it over."

The bill, known as the Reed-Mears tax measure imposes a straight tax of $10 on corporation capital invested in Nebraska, not in excess of $20,000, and a tax of 50 cents on every $1,000 in capital in excess of $20,000.
