

Survey of Wheat Belt Indicates Large Acreage

Nebraska Reduces Number of Acres About 2 Per Cent—Harvest Starts About June 1.

Lincoln, April 9.—(Special.)—The first winter wheat harvest bulletin to serve as a guide to the labor demand and supply for the coming season of 1921 has just been received by the state department of labor from the United States government employment service in Kansas City, looking after the labor situation in the grain states including Nebraska. The bulletin deals with the acreage planted this year, which is summarized as follows:

Early reports received from field agents of the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture, and secretaries of state departments of agriculture indicate the acreage sown to wheat in the big wheat belt to be as follows:

Texas has in 1,834,000 acres of winter wheat, which is 50% above last year. Most of this acreage will be found in the north-central and northwestern counties.

Oklahoma's acreage promises to be greater than last year and present indications point to a heavy demand for labor.

The acreage sown to winter wheat in Kansas amounts to 10,366,628 acres, or 98% of a year ago.

Nebraska's acreage of winter wheat has been reduced about 2% over last year, which gives the state a total of 3,301,000 acres as compared to 3,368,000 acres sown a year ago.

No figures can as yet be given regarding acreage in the Dakotas as nearly all the seeding is done in the spring.

Under normal weather conditions cutting of grain starts in north-central Texas about June 1 to 5 and in the Panhandle district June 25 to 28. North-central Oklahoma gets under way about June 10 to 15 and the northwestern counties June 20 to 28. South-central Kansas commences to harvest about June 18, and the southwestern counties June 25 to 28. The central counties start about June 25 to July 1, and the northwestern counties July 1 to 10. As a rule harvest starts in southeastern Nebraska late in June and in the western district July 5 to 15. South Dakota starts about July 20 to 25, and North Dakota about August 1.

Get Acquainted

HERE'S Joe "Sherlock" Jacobs, Police court reporter, crime investigator and "hot trail" ambulance pursuit man for The Bee. He delves into crime mystery with the unflinching courage of a man of a thousand uses. He is a detective in his quest for information he and other police reporters often uncover evidence which materially aids detectives at work on a case.

Tales of criminal violence, death-dealing accidents, minor thefts and confidence schemes, which are small, form the gist of the police reporter's daily output of news. Mostly, he deals with a class of persons admittedly and boastfully "hard."

Sometimes unpleasant, but never uninteresting, says Jacobs. He's content with the knowledge his work aids in warning the public of new varieties and exposes crimes with a publicity likely to act as a deterrent to other would-be criminals.

Republican Valley Shorthorn Breeders Hold Sale at McCook

McCook, Neb., April 9.—(Special.)—The fourth annual sale of the Republican Valley Shorthorn Breeders' association was held at McCook with a large attendance. Sixty animals were sold, about half males and half females.

The highest price paid was $700 by Senator John F. Cordeau of McCook for a yearling male. The highest figure for a cow was $315 by W. F. Vanleet of Danbury. The average for males was $150.50, and for females, $153.

Among those present at the sale were former Governor Shallenberger of Alma, L. E. Crews of Haig, Frank M. Thomson of Lincoln, Thomas Andrews of Cambridge, and other well-known pure-bred cattle men.

While prices were low the association is well pleased with the results and interest shown in purchased stock.

RUG BEATING BY HAND IS OUT OF DATE

Dresher Rug Cleaning Method Replaces Thousands of Pairs of Inefficient, Highly Blistered Hands.

Why force poor Friend Husband to beat the rugs? He foams, frets, uses up all surplus energies, blisters his hands—and the rug is dirtier than ever.

Dresher Brothers, the immense Dry Cleaners and Dyers at 2211-2217 Farnam street, Omaha, will unfold to you a secret.

Here's the secret: Rugs simply cannot be cleaned when hubby hangs them upon the line and beats and beats and beats. Even though the poor fellow beats, brushes, combs and coddles the rugs all day, they are not cleaned at all. The inside of the rugs will still contain oodles of dirt.

Now here's proof: After hubby has beaten the rugs until he is ready to drop, just take one of the rugs and rip it apart at one of the seams (it may again be sewed together all right) then send one of the parts of the rug to Dreshers to be REALLY cleaned. When Dreshers send back the part they cleaned, compare it with the part that hubby BEAT. The half that Dreshers cleaned will be as bright, as clean and colorful as a new rug from one of the rug shops; the terms will have been exterminated to the last member of the bug tribe.

And then look at the part that hubby beat; it will look like—well, you know how to express it.

Now's a good time to have the rugs cleaned. Better phone Tyler 0648 and have a Dresher man come out. South Siders should phone "South 0050," or leave the rug at the plant, 2211-2217 Farnam street, at Dresher the Tailors, 1515 Farnam street, or at one of the Dresher Branches, Twenty-fourth and I. streets, South Side, Burgess-Nash or Barndeis store.

Humane Society Offers Medals for Kind Acts

A loving cup and medals are being offered by the Nebraska Humane society to Omaha Boy Scouts for meritorious humane services, including first aid to animals, conservation, bird study, photography, stalking, horsemanship, and distinguished service to wild life.

A bronze medal will be given each scout who performs five distinct kind acts. A silver or gold medal will be given for any especially worthy act to be decided by a committee.

The troop, which reports the greatest number of humane acts during the year from humane week, 1921, to humane week, 1922, will hold the loving cup for a year. Permanent possession of the cup will be awarded the troop holding it three times in succession. Humane week this year throughout the United States will be April 11-17. Scouts belonging to the speakers' squadron will give a three minute speech in a school or church during humane week will be credited with this service as a humane act.
