He and "Herb" Hoover Stampeded by Office Seekers in Belief They're Closest to Throne.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES, International News Service Staff Corre-

Washington, April 22.-IIf you are contemplating a trip to Washington these days to "talk things over" with Harry or Herb-meaning the attor-ney general of the United States and the secretary of commerce-you had better come with a bankroll and plenty of clothes, because it's likely to develop into a task of more magnitude than is generally thought.

If the question were asked, as i often is, who are the most difficult men to "see" in Washington these days there could be but one answer. They are Harry M. Daugherty and Herbert Hoover. The peculiar problems dealt with by their respective departments draw hordes of people here to see them and their offices are choked at all hours with persons 689. There are some 3,000 establishawaiting "conferences."

Particularly is Mr. Daugherty a hard-driven official. Due perhaps in measure to the widespread publicity he received as the astute political manager for the president, and as such, "close to the throne," all the legions of earnest-minded citizens who itch to get on the public payroll come to "see Harry Daugh-It seems to matter little whether they want to be an ambas-sador, a prohibition enforcement agent, a district attorney or a fourth assistant doorkeeper in the White House—they all come to "see Harry Daugherty." If they don't want anything for themselves they come to stick in a good word for their friends, or their friends' friends.

All patronage roads lead through The job-seekers and other callers start congregating in the little recep-tion room just off the attorney general's office early in the morning. ome of them are there, too, late in the evening when the attorney gen-eral ducks out of a side entrance for food and rest.

Throughout the day the office is jammed. As fast as one seat is emptied and the lucky holder thereof ushered into the inner sanctum to put in a plug for his friend John Woozie to be minister to Timbuc-too, it is occupied by Jim Whatsiz, who perhaps only wants to become an assistant attorney general, or the aloresaid enforcement agent.

'Courting' Parlors to Be Put in British Homes

London, April 22.-British work-London, April 22.—British working class houses are going to be equipped with "courting" parlors in the future, according to officials of the national housing and town planning committee. The parlors will be dedicated to the younger members of the households, where the daughter can be courted by her swains under the watchful eye of the mother.

London, April 22.—British working the working to be caused the watchful are rights and interests just as they are reserved in the clauses of the resolution restoring the status of peace with Germany.

Another objection was to the effect that the language of the resolution referring to the disposition of alien property might be construed several ways. Senator Knox is clarifying this part also.

Women throughout England are fighting the battle of the parlor, decrying the present lack of "best rooms" in the average British workigman's home.

They are constantly advocating he possession by a working class amily of a best room besides the family of a best room besides the fiving room because of its special value during the "courting" period when children are passing into man-hood and womanhood. The greatest argument used is that it keeps lovers off the streets.

the morgue.

Luckily for him—but not for those he encountered—he managed to alight on a couple of women who were passing. He walked to the ambulance which was summoned, but the two women were carried to it and at the hospital it was stated that although he would be all right in a couple of days the two women were seriously injured.

20 New Theaters and 86 New Dancing Establishments Opened in Gay Capital in Year.

Paris, April 22.-Statistics published by the prefecture of police show that during 1920, 39,603 persons were arrested for various offenses. Twenty new theaters were opened in Paris, as well as 86 new dancing establishments. This brings the number of theaters and music halls to 509 and the dancing establishments to ments where music is played in Paris, not including restaurants. During the year some 70,000 applications were for permits by foreign-ers, out of which number but 33,000 came to Paris to work. The others were, for the most part, tourists and visitors.

The prefecture of police received during the year 96,475 articles found in the city. In this number 5,935 were found in taxis, 22,000 in the subway and 24,000 in buses and street cars. The figures include 13,000 umbrellas and 2,800 keys. More than 23,000 of these articles were returned to their owners, but a fair stock of women's corsets remain, the prefecture re-marking that this is about the only object for which no lost statement is made and which no one cares to re-
