Close of Trade Depression Set for Midsummer

Expressions From Financiers Indicate That Normal Business Will Be Restored in Few Months.

By HOLLAND.

Judge E. H. Gary said to the stockolders of the United States Steel corporation at their recent annual meeting that he purposed holding the securities which he now possesses. This remark was capable of only one interpretation in the view of those who heard it. It means that Judge Gary is confident that the day is soon to come when securities will command in the market prices which represent their real value and this also means that normal business will have been, probably to a great extent, restored within a few months. Walter Clark Teagle, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, ventured to say at the annual conference between the employers and the employers. Clark Teagle, president of the Standployes of that company that he and his associates believe that the worst of the present business depression has passed and that by midsummer his corporation and others will be operating at their full capacity.

Expect Improvement Soon.

Colonel Samuel Colt of the United States Rubber company was glad to say to the stockholders of that company that depression is ending and that the outlook for an early return pany that depression is ending and that the outlook for an early return of business activity is excellent. It is observed that almost all of those who have recently spoken of the business depression and of the date when there will be full recognition of the fact that it has ended, fix the early midsummer as that date. Judge Lovett specifically named July I as the date. Judge Gary does not identify any date as the time when there will be date as the time when there will be date as the time when there will be full recognition of the passing away of business depression, but his friends say he looks for recognition of this kind to be made by midsummer. President Teagle is confident that midsummer will be the time of renewed business contentment.

It seems to be the impression with some of the leaders in the financial district that the German indemnity snag will have been removed before summer begins. Germany on the one hand, and France and England upon the other have been playing for position, each seeking to make the best bargain possible, but some of the demands, while on the other hand France and England upon the stillude of a neutral or in one sonse as the next friend of Germany on the one hand and of France and England will also be disposed to compromise. Italy atanding awart almost in the stillude of a neutral or in one sonse as the next friend of Germany on the one hand and of France and England upon the other agree that the entire world will feel relief from the burden which this German indemnity matter has caused. Meanwhile Germany is certainly regaining some of its commercial and industrial strength. The Washington authorities will probably be able to report early in July that the United States soid and sent to Germany, in the 12 months which will end on June 30, commodities far in excess of our experts to that country in any year before the great war began.

Traders who were active on the buying side early were sellers later as the lack of outside support became as striking as on Monday when the markets acted similar to today.

One of the reasons for the later selling was that Germany will be out of the market until after May I and that the export demand had fallen off.

Crop news, foreign and domestic, was favorable, the weekly government report confirming most of the private advices. Reports from Glasgow, Mo. said old wheat had sold there at $1, but falled to tell of its condition and added that farmers were willing to sell new at 75c.

Cattle—With a fairly liberal Wednesday run of cattle, about 5,000 head, the market opened out steady for attractive light and hanyweight steers, but slow on anything carrying much weight. Early trading was very limited, however, and later bids and sales were unevenly lower, anywhere from weak to a quarter lower than Tuesday. This was true of both he for steers and cow stuff and the decline of 25 $\frac{1}{2}$650 this week carried prices to the lowest point of the year. Therewere only a few stockers and feeders on sale and prices were nominally unchanged.
