

Italy Will Support U.S. In Yap Row

Note to Secretary Hughes Expresses Confidence in America—Just Decision for All Wanted.

Harding Discusses Case

By ARTHUR SEARS HENNING. Chicago Tribune—Omaha Bee Leased Wire.

Washington, April 29.—Italy has been won over to the support of the United States in the controversy with Japan and the other allied powers over the allocation of the important Yap cable and other former German islands to Japan without American consent.

This was revealed today concurrently with the further disclosure that the senate committee on foreign relations has devoted two sessions this week to discussion of the attitude of Japan.

The endorsement by Italy of the American position in the Yap controversy was communicated to Secretary of State Hughes this afternoon by Vittorio Rolandi Ricci, the Italian ambassador.

France already has notified the United States of its intention of bringing the matter before the supreme council and the statement of the Italian ambassador indicates that Great Britain joins France in that proposal.

Italy is fully convinced that the United States is not asking for any privilege in the island of Yap which is not equally granted to every other nation, including Japan.

Italy therefore has not hesitated to express itself in a way which completely agrees with the text of the American note of the fifth of April concerning the quality of rights among mandates in the exercise of the mandates.

Italy seconded the Anglo-French proposal which confided the study of the Yap question to the judicial committee and the conference of the ambassadors in Paris and now expects that the conference will pronounce itself with equanimity in such

Army Fiscal Bill Under Hot Fire In House Debate

Provision on Withdrawal of Troops From Germany Special Target of Acting Democratic Leader.

Army Fiscal Bill Under Hot Fire In House Debate

Washington, April 29.—The army appropriation bill was shot at from ambush and the open during a five-hour fight in the house today on some of its provisions, especially one which was admitted to mean early withdrawal of American troops from Germany, regardless of action by congress on the Knox peace resolution.

In the midst of the fighting Representative Garrett, Tennessee, acting democratic leader, introduced a resolution requesting President Harding to inform congress, if not incompatible with public interest, whether he intended to order the troops home immediately upon passage of the Knox peace resolution.

The house cooled down after Chairman Kahn of the military affairs committee had attacked the bill because of the section fixing the enlisted force at 168,000. Mr. Kahn declared that with the world in turmoil the total was too small.

His amendment increasing the number to 175,000, however, was not reached. Other members declared they would fight to cut the total lower than the bill provides.

Asked pointedly by Mr. Garrett whether rumors that an amendment would be offered directing the president to withdraw troops from Germany, Chairman Anthony of the subcommittee on appropriations in charge of the bill, declared he had never heard of it.

"But if the Secretary of War administers this bill as written," Mr. Anthony added, "he will be forced to withdraw the troops from Germany and decrease other forces outside the territorial limits of the United States."

The peace question bobbed up again while Chairman Kahn was pleading for his amendment to increase the appropriation set aside for the army intelligence service on the ground that the whole world was off its balance, and no man could say how soon trouble might break.
