He formerly resided at Madison, Neb., and at one time attended the University of Nebraska where he was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Mr. Taylor is now the secretary of Sir Oswald Stoll, theatrical producer and theater owner in England. It was through the efforts of Mr. Taylor that the Rag-a-Jazz band from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln will go abroad this summer on a tour of England and the European continent.

Box Parties for Concert.
A number of box parties are planned for the concert to be given by Mary Jordan, contralto, Tuesday evening, May 24, at the Brandeis theater under the auspices of the American Legion. Among those who have already taken boxes are Mesdames George Brandeis, C. T. Kountze, John Larkin, H. H. Baldrige and Walter Byrne. A box has also been taken by a group of Fort Crook officers.

Roller skating at the Y. W. C. A. has been discontinued until further notice. Plans for the fall and winter seasons will be announced later.

New York City is to have a clubhouse for Canadian women, who will be enabled to be made welcome when visiting the great metropolis.

The Junior league is of particular interest in Omaha at this time because of the mammoth revue to be staged at the Gayety theater the afternoon and evening of May 7. This affair promises to excel the striking performances offered by this organization in the past.

The Junior league is organized for charitable purposes, and all money obtained from the two performances of next week will go immediately to worthy causes.

The local membership now numbers 112, and the officers who are guiding its affairs are: President, Miss Gladys Peters; first vice president, Miss Gertrude Stout; second vice president, Mrs. Albert Sibbersen; recording secretary, Miss Catherine Thummel; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Paul Gallagher; and treasurer, Miss Margaret Baum.

Omaha can feel justifiable pride in its Junior league, which now has a counterpart in 34 cities—Albany, Atlanta, Baltimore, Boston, Bridgeport, Brooklyn, Buffalo, Chattanooga, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Dayton, Denver, Detroit, Duluth, Kansas City, Louisville, Milwaukee, Montreal, Montreal, Orange, Philadelphia, Portland, Ore.; Poughkeepsie, Racine, St. Louis, St. Paul, San Francisco, Trenton, Utica, Washington, D. ### Clothes and Color First Aids to Nature

Either in her eyes or her hair or her complexion every woman has a distinctive note of color. She can enhance or destroy this color note accordingly as she wears clothes whose tints accentuate it or stifle it into ineffectiveness. Or, when the high note happens to be Titian hair and she wears deep greens or reds she produces a flashing result that is disastrous to harmony. A little careful study of her chief note of color will enable any woman to go about choosing hats and gowns in a way to secure harmonious and becoming effects.

The woman whose skin and hair are neutral in coloring, but whose eyes have a clear note of blue, can achieve charming effects by always wearing a touch of corresponding blue in her hats or gowns or jewelry. But she must be equally careful not to wear any of the brash blues or greens that will overwhelm the blue of her eyes. She will be wise to choose soft fabrics in which dull yellows or clear grays or creamy white furnish contrast to her eyes, or others in which a kindred blue or bluish gray stresses the blue tints in her eyes. When a blue-eyed woman is so fortunate as to have transparent skin and hair with a glint of bronze or gold in it, she can be almost prodigal in her choice of color, except that she cannot afford to wear the bolder shades which would make her delicate coloring seem insipid by contrast.

The gray-eyed woman must usually emphasize the highest color note of her hair or complexion, since gray eyes do not take the high notes well. She can, however, enhance whatever hazel or blue tints her gray eyes contain by wearing a touch of yellow or blue, if it be nothing more than a pendant of topaz or sapphire. The woman with black hair and blue eyes usually has a white skin, which enables her to wear black or white or gray with marked distinction. If she but gives it bits of blue to match her eyes. And when she wants to employ contrast to emphasize her coloring she can choose from among the duller yellows and deep creams and grayish greens.

Blondes and auburn-haired women can achieve splendid results with browns and creams and yellows. She is never lovelier, however, than in cream color with violets at her belt. Any woman with auburn hair should do herself the kindness of occasionally wearing cream color or dull buff. The ash blonde who wears pastel shades or taupe brightened with orange or blue, according to whether her eyes are brown or blue, will lose nothing because of the lack of color in her hair. But she can also be very attractive in an entire gown of the same shade of blue as her eyes, or paler, and enlivened with a touch of silver. And no matter how rich or how meager a woman's coloring may be she can greatly add to its value by wearing only those colors which will stress its most important note.
