Her present role in "Mary Rose" marks the first interpretation of a J. M. Barrie character by Ruth Chatterton and to say that she has thoroughly satisfied even the most critical portion of the Barrie following and has been received and acclaimed by it with the most enthusiantle praise, is the greatest tribute one can pay this most delightful of our younger stars. Miss Chatterton in "Mary Rose," will be seen at the Brandels theater, for four performances beginning Thursday evening, May 12, the engagement marking one of carliest appearances in the play following her lengthy and extremely successful engagement at the New York Empire theater. The Brandels theater will have for its last musical show of the season "The Sweeheart Shop" with the same cast and chorus as seen in the east. This musical play is heralded as the fastest dancing entertainment of the season, coming her from triumphs in the western coast and en route to Chicago for a summer run. Harry K. Morton heads the long list of stars. Others whose fame has been made in "The Sweeheart Shop" are Esther Howard, Zella Russell, Helen Ford, Roy Gordon, Mary Harner, Daniel Healy, Clay Hill, Marion Saki and Teddy Hudson, The chorus is described as beautiful and numerous.

T THE ORPHEUM this week the

A T THE ORPHEUM this week the principal attraction is the artistic dance offering of the famous ballerina. Albertina Rasch. Her artistic gifts are displayed not merely as an exceptional sole dancer, but in the colorful richness of her stage mountings. Her musical director is the renowned violinist, I. Nagel. Three of her pupils, Agnes Roy, with Stella and Louise Rothather, exhibit in their work the kind of skill that does credit to their distinguished instructress. It is dushful whether any dance offering presented at the Orpheum has displayed such pictorial mountings as those of the stellar attraction this week. The mood of each dance number is delicately suggested by the scenic environment. Any election results reported will be announced from the stage tonight.
