Copper Circus

The Federation of Industrial Clubs of the Y. W. C. A. will present a "Copper Circus" Thursday and Friday evenings, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, in the gymnasium of central building, the proceeds to be added to conference funds.

A big clown stunt put on by the Y. M. C. A. dormitory boys will be a feature of the program. Side shows, stunts of all kinds, dancing and a real jazz band will be other attractions.

On Thursday evening vocal solos will be given by Mrs. C. E. Cobby and Mrs. W. H. Smalls and violin numbers will be given by Mrs. Conrad Young.

Miss Virginia Holliday will give dancing numbers Friday evening and there will be vocal solos by Mrs. Fred Hill and Mrs. J. H. Hanson. The affair is open to the public.

Women Magistrates

Miss Virginia Holliday will give dancing numbers Friday evening and there will be vocal solos by Mrs. Fred Hill and Mrs. J. H. Hanson. The affair is open to the public.

The theory that the legal mind is necessarily masculine in gender has been exploded in the last few years by a number of women lawyers who have made good in their chosen profession, some being elected judges of various courts. In New York City the trying task of weighing justice to the many women who are brought before her rests on the shoulders of Magistrate Jean Norris of the women's court. Mrs. Norris is the first woman ever selected to sit on the judges' bench in a criminal or civil court in New York state. She is a widow and has been practicing law for more than 14 years.

Engagement Announced

Doris Evelyn Smith

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Smith announce the engagement of their daughter, Doris Evelyn, to James S. Ainscow, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Ainscow. The wedding will take place early in June.

Clubdom

Overseas Girls Organize. Omaha girls who served overseas during the war will meet at supper at the Y. W. C. A. Monday at 6 p. m. to form an organization, probably a local unit of "A. W. O. L."

This is not the familiar "AWOL" of soldier language, but stands for American Women's Overseas League. Miss Helen Cornell and Mrs. F. H. Koyle, director of hostess houses for the Seventh corps area, now stationed at Fort Crook, are promoting the new club.

"I have no means of locating all the girls who served abroad, so I wish them to consider this an invitation," said Miss Cornell, a former Red Cross girl.

Baptist Quarterly Elects Officers. At a meeting of the Baptist Trinity quarterly Friday afternoon at the First Baptist church the following officers were elected: Mrs. C. A. Sherwood, president; Mrs. C. E. Johnson, first vice president; Mrs. E. L. Talbot, second vice president; Mrs. George Pope, third vice president; Mrs. James Oglesby, recording secretary; Mrs. G. W. Douglas, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Henry Rhoades, treasurer.

Job's Daughters. Job's Daughters, a new Masonic organization for young girls, will initiate its first class of 17 Saturday morning, beginning at 9 o'clock at Masonic temple.

Y. W. C. A. Presents Festival of Play

More than 400 women and children of the Y. W. C. A. gymnasium classes took part in the pageant, "Festival of Play," at the City Auditorium Tuesday evening.

The pageant, which was written by Miss Florence Durkee, instructor of religious education for the association, and directed by Miss Lucy Jane Giddings, in charge of the department of physical education, tells the story of the American girl at play.

One hundred little girls in Grecian costumes in pastel shades, Zouave guards in striking costumes of black and scarlet with scarlet caps and white leggings, surrounded the throne upon which the queen, America, Mrs. DeWitt Babbitt, presided attended by the Spirit of Fellowship, Miss Mary Jewell, who directed the festival at the queen's command, assisted by the Chief Trumpeter, Mrs. D. J. Adams.

Girls from other lands dressed in their native costumes shyly watched the happiness of their American sisters until the Spirit of Fellowship at the queen's command invited them to join in the play. Miss Bea Swanson represented China; Miss Svea Johnson, India; Miss Dorothy Gray, South America; Miss Leta Hines, Africa; Miss May Leach, Mohammedan Lands.

The program included a Swedish Clap dance, Highland Fling, Dutch Couple dance, Japanese dance, Norwegian mountain march, Zouave or French military drill, Indian club drill, Virginia reel and two artistic numbers by the junior classes, Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star and Yankee Doodle.

Each number was well given and the dances were done with ease and grace.

Identity of Coy Flapper Is Revealed. In order that the male portion of the audience will not become unduly excited next Saturday at the Junior League Revue at the Gayety, the identity of one coy young flapper dancer is to be divulged.

Her gown (created by a fashionable modiste) will be of the latest design and will no doubt rouse many a tiny demon of jealousy when the women gaze upon it. Her hair will be coiffed in the newest fashion, her tiny feet will be encased in the most beautiful slippers, and 'tis said she is expected to outshine every member of the entire cast.

She is Ray Millard. Mr. Millard and Kenneth Norton will give a novel dance number in which the former will impersonate a woman.

Carl Paulsen will take part in two "love" numbers, "Loving the Girls," and "A Girl for Each Month in the Year." The girls in the choruses for these songs will be Catherine Carlan, Elinor Burkley, Corinne Elliott, Erna Reed, Josephine Congdon, Claire Daugherty, Dorothy Judson, Regina Connell, Mrs. Harry S. Byrne, Mrs. Yale Holland, Mrs. Raymond Low and Mrs. Robert Burns.

The Rag-Jazz band from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln will play at the supper dance at the Athletic club following the evening performance. This orchestra will not commence to play, however, until midnight as they are giving a dance at the Fontenelle Saturday evening. However, they will be at the Junior League dance from 12 on.

Household Hints. One-half cupful of mushrooms cut into small pieces make a nice addition to devilled crabs.

To clean a vessel after dyeing clothes fill with clean water and add a handful of oatmeal. Boil for some time.

Yorkshire pudding is usually made from flour, eggs, milk, and salt which is made into a thin batter and poured into the dripping pan of roast beef about a half hour before meat is done.

HOLDING A HUSBAND

Adele Garrison's New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

The First Move Lillian and Madge Decided on. I knew better than to speak again of Robert Savarin. When Lillian wishes to close the gates of her emotions against sympathy or comment she can do so more effectively than any one I have ever known.

In the rather awkward silence that followed her little giggle concerning my childish faith in the short duration of journalistic memories, I cast about wildly to find some topic which would bring our relations back to the casual again.

It was Lillian herself, however, who finally bridged the gap. "Have you any idea where you are going today, or are we simply on our way?" she asked quizzically, with as casual a manner as if her very soul had not just been shaken by my prattling of Robert Savarin.

"I am pretty much at sea," I confessed, glad, indeed, to get back to the commonplace. "But I had thought of Sam Ticer."

Marion gave an irrefragable little squeal of delight and clapped her hands joyously. "Oh, mother, I just can't help it!" she cried, seeing reproach in her mother's face at the interruption. "Just to think of going to see Mrs. Ticer! I won't interrupt any more, honest, mother," she added remorsefully, as Lillian continued to gaze steadily at her.

"Please don't forget again," Lillian said at last, and I struck in quickly in an attempt to drive the sober look from the child's lovely expressive face.

"Suppose she has forgotten how to bake pancakes, Marion?" I asked slyly. "Country Hotels Are—"

Marion looked demurely at her mother—a little trick she has when her too exuberant spirits have been disciplined—and say by Lillian's smile that the little lesson in department was ended. She turned to me with a gay little laugh.

"She hasn't forgotten unless she's dead," she said confidently. "And I'm sure she's very much alive," I assured her. "I received a letter from her only last week telling me of an old table she thought I could buy—I asked her last summer when we were at the bay to look out for antique furniture for me, that section is full of wonderful old things when one knows where to look for them—so I think the pancakes are safe, Marion. I'm not so sure that" we won't have some of them tomorrow morning." Lillian looked at me comprehendingly. "Country hotels are—" she threw out her hands expressively. "But has she room to take us in?"

"Do you remember in that old house of theirs there was a small wing which they did not use because—as I suspect—Sam Ticer was too busy fishing and working for other people to attend to it?"

Summer Plans. "Indeed I remember," Lillian roused to enthusiasm. "It had an old fireplace downstairs, and you and I exclaimed at the shortsightedness of a family who would fix up the more modern part of the house and leave that lovely ancient bit to ruin."

"I hope you will have reason to thank your lucky stars for the family's devotion to a coal stove," I smiled. "Mrs. Ticer wrote me that she had finally got Sam at that wing, and he had fixed it up real good."

Embarrassing Hairs Can Be Quickly Removed. (Beauty Culture) Hairs can be easily banished from the under-arms, neck and face by this quick, painless method: Mix a stiff paste of some powdered delatone and water, spread on hairy surface and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. Excepting in very stubborn growths, one application is sufficient. To avoid disappointment, buy the delatone in an original package and mix fresh.

pretty! She intends to take summer boarders, I believe." "That settles it!" Lillian said. "We'll be her first boarders. Mrs. Ticer's cooking for our bodies, and Sam Ticer's drollery for our minds—I feel rusty lately, and I think it's for the want of something genuine to laugh at."

"Sam Ticer ought to furnish you with an oversupply of amusement," I commented a bit acidly. "He certainly is genuine enough."

"Oh! I forgot. You did not admire him as enthusiastically as I did." "I think he leaves the heavy end of everything for his wife," I returned.

"Most of the social charmers do," Lillian commented dryly, and my cheeks flamed involuntarily, for I wondered if she included Dicky in her caustic little category.

"How many rooms did that wing have?" she asked abruptly. "Four, if you count a tiny place at the back of the big room downstairs, as one. Upstairs there are two fair-sized bedrooms. But the small room downstairs is about the size of the closet old-style architects used to dub 'the maid's room.'"

"And the new ones divide that space by three and call it a kitchenette," Lillian returned. "H-mm. That wing sounds interesting."

With her elbows on her knees, her chin cupped in her palm, she looked meditatively down the vista of the dining trees before us. I knew that something requiring concentration had just flashed into her mind. I sat silent until with a sudden movement she sprang to her feet.

"If we want to reach Mrs. Ticer in time for those pancakes tomorrow morning, let's go," she said. ... (Continued Tomorrow.)

Evening Bridge. Mrs. T. M. Finney will give a bridge party Tuesday evening at her home in honor of Mrs. Robert Buckley of Washington, D. C., who is visiting Mrs. H. A. Cameron. The tables will be set for the game.

OLD AT 40? IRON STARVATION of the blood perhaps and your worn out, exhausted nerves need to be revitalized. For this purpose there is nothing better than Nuxated Iron; not metallic iron which people usually take, but pure Organic Iron—Nuxated Iron—which is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. One dose of Nuxated Iron is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating one-half quart of spinach, one quart of green vegetables or half a dozen apples. It is like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat.

Over four million people annually are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. A few doses will often commence to enrich your blood. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturer if you do not obtain satisfactory results. At all druggists.
