Law Is Invalid U. S. Judge Holds Provisions Of Grading Act Burden on

Dakota Grain

Interstate Commerce. St. Paul. May 8 .- Grain grading law of North Dakota passed by the 1919 ler slature was declared invalid n a decision handed down by Judge E. Carland, Washington, in the United States circuit court of appeals

It was held that the law conflicted with the federal grain grades and that it imposed a burden on interstate commerce. "Any attempt," said Judge Car-land's decision, "to regulate inter-state commerce by North Dakota is

n conflict with the United States grain standards act, wherein congress sought to establish a uniform system for the inspecting and grading of such grain moving in interstate commerce. Both acts ought not to be enforced and cannot be without confusion and embarrassment." Will Appeal Case. Fargo, N. D., May 4,-W. C. Palmer, head of the North Dakota Grain Grading commission, said last night that the North Dakota grain grading laws cases would be carried to the United States supreme court.

"We will continue to enforce the state law, pending the appeal to the United States court until we are enjoined from doing so," he said. Knights of Columbus to Build New Headquarters
