

Simple Dress for Graduation Urged

High School Girls Advised to Avoid Extravagance at Commencement.

The "Commerce," a weekly publication issued by the journalism class of the High School of Commerce, devotes a column to an article by Miss Grace Margaret Morton of the department of home economics of the University of Nebraska, entitled, "The Problem of Clothes for the High School Graduate."

The "Commerce" staff, instructed by Miss Elizabeth Charleton, considers this article of special importance, because seniors will be graduated soon from Commerce High, Central High, South High, Benson High and Council Bluffs High schools.

"In recent years," Miss Morton says, "there has been a growing tendency toward great extravagance and display in high school graduation outfits. Girls have seemed to vie with each other in bedecking themselves in the most elaborate creations. To the average family this custom is a great financial burden."

The article goes on to say that girls in some high schools are interested in simpler dress standards and those who can best afford expensive clothes are the ones among whom this movement meets with greatest favor.

"Can we not do something in Nebraska to solve this problem of expensive graduation clothes?" Miss Morton asks. "How many times will the banquet dress be worn after graduation? The Home Economics Journal says that only 15 per cent of the clothing purchased by women today is actually worn out."

The writer recommends that a simple graduation dress be adopted of white organdie, voile, dotted swiss and net, which are all serviceable materials, launder well, and may be worn many times, if made up in a serviceable manner.

VIA THE ATLAS

I've often longed a look to have
At far Ekaterinoslav,
To visit Omsk and also Tomsk.
Would please me past all measure,
On foot I've often meant to plod
Through lovely Ninji Novgorod;
To spend a year in Vladimir
Would fill my soul with pleasure.

A life ambition I have had
To see the sights of Petrograd,
To drive a mule through Sarapul
And by the muddy Volga,
Or in the suburbs of Kazan
To seek, with one strong arm, to span
With ardent haste the rounded waist
Of some responsive Olga.

In droskies I would like to whisk
Along the streets of Bobruisk,
The heights to raid of Mt. Svade
And possibly to cycle
From some place to the east of Minsk
Through Ketlos, Berezo, Sosovinsk
And Saratof and Kursk and Pskof
Until I reach Lake Baikal.

But Mr. Lenine doesn't care
For foreign tourists over there;
For those who land on Russia's strand
There's gory murder brewing,
But he cannot forbid a chap
To make the journey on the map
And freely cruise where'er he chose
And that's what I've been doing.

Where It Started

Cameos.

The art of cameo-cutting dates from the third century B. C. It reached its height among the Greeks. The greatest of all cameo-cutters was a Grecian artist named Pyrgoteles. He is acclaimed by all the ancient writers as the leader in his art; but curiously enough, not a single specimen of his work has been preserved.

Parents' Problems

How can a boy of 14 who has never been ill be taught to be considerate of the sick or feeble? This is a little difficult. But it can be done. Read to the boy "The Story of a Short Life," or give it to him to read. Tell him of the great work done by physicians and surgeons. He will gradually learn that the stronger a man, the more tender he is to the sick and afflicted.

Bandit Believed To Be Hiding Here

Omaha Police on Lookout for Man Who Robbed Denver Bank Messenger.

One of two bandits who assaulted a bank messenger in Denver last week and escaped with a bag containing $23,000 in cash is believed to be in hiding in Omaha, according to a telegram received yesterday by Acting Chief of Detectives John Pzanowski from the Denver chief of police.

The Denver chief asked the Omaha police to be on the lookout for this man, complete description of whom was telegraphed. Detectives Vanous, James Murphy, Danbaum and Falmtag were assigned to the case at once. There is a reward of $2,000 for the arrest of the man.

One of the two bandits, Tom Coleman, has already been arrested. In his possession was found $7,000 of the stolen money.

The other bandit was traced to Cheyenne, Wyo., where he bought a ticket for Des Moines. It would be necessary for him to change trains at Omaha and it is believed he stopped here and is hiding.

Sap Spradlen, who a short time ago got mad and pulled himself and his fiddle out of the Excelsior Fiddling band, and who has since been making his way alone through the realm of music, stood back some distance the other night and heard the band play. Then he sadly shook his head and remarked that the band had been gradually going down ever since he quit it.
