State Capitol Contract To Be Let Next Year

Commission After Meeting Claims Materials Will Decrease 30 Per Cent By That Time.

Lincoln, May 13.—(Special.)—Gov. R. McKelvie announced today that the contract for the new capitol building will be awarded the first of next year and that by then prices on materials probably will be reduced 30 per cent. The announcement followed a meeting of the state capitol commission. Governor Mc-Kelvie is chairman of the commis-

Under present plans, if carried out, the new building will be ready occupancy by state officers at the close of the next legislative sesvion. The new building is to be built around the old one and in the erection will progress in such a way that there will be room for the offiers in the new building before the old one is torn down.

The most recent plan is to put the memorial hall for display of art and placing of exhibits at the top of the 80-foot central tower. There is a row on as to whether there shall be buffaloes at the top of the tower or whether some other work of sculpture shall occupy this space. The buffaloes, it is claimed, standing high over Lincoln will carry with them a sentiment of the old days when buffaloes haunted the plains of Nebraska and now from their place of vantage look over the plains that once were their domain.

High School Debaters Reach Semi-Finals

Lincoln, Neb., May 13.—In the second round of the State High school championship debating tourmament here this morning Holdrege, Wayne and Lincoln Cathedral High schools emerged victorious. Each team won by a two to one decision, eliminating respectively West Point, North Platte and Alliance. Holdrege, upholding the affirmative, was pitted against Cathedral High school in the semi-finals tonight. The win-ner will meet the Wayne High school team for state championship honors in the final debate tomorrow

Do Some Substances Explode. Mention of the word "explosion" usually brings to mind some substance like gunpowder, nitro-glycerine or TNT generally used for the explosions which are premeditated, and, to a certain degree, con-trolled by man. But it should be re-membered that there are a number of other substances, apparently harmless in themselves, which can explode with terrific effect. Steam, will burst a boiler and do almost as much damage as a shell. Grain dust, coal dust or the fine dust suspended in the air of sawmills is extremely dangerous on account of this tendency, for the generation of heat from some unexpected source may cause it to shatter the elevator or mill which contains it.

There is, however, a difference between what might be called "natural" explosions of this kind and the "artificial" explosions of gunpow er and nitro-glycerine. The first are due to heat which causes a sudden burning of the particles of dust near it and a consequent expansion of the air which almost instantaneously becomes an irresistible force. In the case of gunpowder and allied explosives the result is due to the presence of chemicals which burn with great rapidity without having to come in contact with the air, and in burning, these chemicals release large quantities of gas. It is the attempts of this gas to escape from the container which confines it, that causes what we allude to as an "explosion"-just as the steam in a boiler is constantly trying to escape, mystery, as it endowed its wearer and, unless a safety valve relieves with the ability to think clearly. the pressure, it will eventually shatter the strongest steel. Parents' Problems

Is it wise to let children know that one thinks them pretty? There is no reason why children should not know that people think them pretty, if care is taken to let them know that other children are pretty, too. Perhaps the best thing to do is to let the children under-stand that a pleasant, cheerful, friendly expression of countenance makes any one look pretty. Teach them to regard good looks as something that any person may have-by the cultivation of amiability.
