

Recall of City Commissioners Popular Topic

Lincoln Friends of Charles W. Bryan Planning Another Election in Effort to Make Him Mayor.

Lincoln, May 13.—(Special.)—Talk of recall petitions against Mayor Frank C. Zehrung, in particular, and the three city commissioners in general continued to be heard in Lincoln today.

Friends of Charles W. Bryan, angered at refusal of the city commissioners to assign him to the mayoralty, were reported to be continuing circulation of petitions of protest today. Another big mass meeting of Bryan supporters, at which a report of the success of the protest petitions will be made, is expected shortly.

If it is learned that Lincoln citizens are singing the protest with little persuasion and if reports are heard that there is real resentment against the city commissioners over their refusal to elect Bryan mayor, there is little doubt that recall petitions will be circulated.

Meantime Charles W. Bryan is talking less than at any time in his history, according to statements of his friends. He has made one public statement in which he refused to accept the action of the city commissioners in assigning him as commissioner of streets.

No one at this time knows just what the result of this action will be. It isn't a resignation. It isn't a refusal to sit with the commissioners, excepting in the capacity of commissioner of streets. It is not believed the commissioners can force him to accept his assignment.

Should recall petitions be circulated and the proper number of names be obtained, then probably Bryan will resign and run against Zehrung for mayor at the election which must follow.

Church Worker Has Safety Value For Blue Sunday

Advocates Midweek Holiday On Which To Do All Things Barred on Day Of Rest.

Advocates of blue law enforcement would close the world as tight as a clam on Sunday and would allow nothing but holy worship.

Comes now W. H. Kimberly, business manager of the Nebraska State Sunday School association, just as fervent a believer in a closed Sunday as the blue advocates, no movies, no ball games, no love making, no nothing but church, but—he advocates a mid-week holiday, this day to be especially for doing all those things barred on Sunday.

Mr. Kimberly was in Omaha Friday attending the annual convention of the Douglas County Sunday School association at Grace M. E. church, Twenty-fifth and E streets, South Side, Friday afternoon, when the question as to the length of time youngsters should spend in Sunday school he advocated attendance at Sunday school and morning service, then attendance at classes Sunday afternoon.

Expounds Theory.

One of the delegates to the convention took exception to such long hours and Mr. Kimberly expounded his theory.

"Children are not learning enough of the Bible or of biblical teachings. The class periods are much too short. I would have Sunday devoted to holy worship. Adults and children would attend. Then I would declare a holiday on Thursday. This holiday would be spent in any manner families thought best as long as it would be clean and healthful recreation. I would designate it rather as 'Family and Friends' day."

Mr. Kimberly says he has been advocating this idea for the past two years. He says it is in vogue in certain towns in northern Ohio and has proven a great success.

Convention Closes.

The annual convention of the Sunday school association held Thursday and Friday came to a close last night. At 7:30 last night there was a special song service by the Grace M. E. choir and a devotional service led by Rev. Ford A. Ellis. A. M. Locker, Chicago, delivered an address on "Religious Education of Children and Youth."

The convention keynote was to promote larger Sunday school attendance among children and more support in Sunday school work from parents.

The following officers were re-elected Friday afternoon at the annual election:

Officers Elected.
C. J. Shaw, president; J. Fred Smith, A. D. Knight, C. E. Byars, R. W. Hubbard and James McGroarty, vice presidents; Mrs. C. W. Mead, secretary-treasurer; J. L. Duff and W. R. Cameron, visitation; Mrs. C. A. Musselman, superintendent of young people's department; Rev. E. L. Geissinger, superintendent of teachers' training; Rev. Paul Calhoun, superintendent of pastors; T. F. Sturgis, superintendent of school administration; Dr. W. W. Ward, superintendent of the home department; S. P. Bostwick, missionary, and Dr. R. J. Stearns, superintendent of the adult division.

A special vote of thanks and appreciation was given to Mrs. Mead for the excellent work she has done
