

Omaha Gobs Go Into Training At Carter Lake

Nautical Phrases and Sailor Costumes to Be Vogue at Colony as Reservists Ply Boats Over Water.

Nautical phrases, the slippery deck walk and sailors' wearing apparel will be the vogue at Carter Lake this summer, as that former almost strictly social summer colony bids fair to be turned into a naval training station. The government already has placed on the placid waters of Carter lake a motor boat and two "wind-jammers," which will be used by members of the naval reserve corps this summer for training purposes.

Two other sail boats have been launched at the water works, but at present the training stations for these craft have not been announced. In all, there will be five boats on which 2,000 Nebraska naval reserve men will take training this summer. Of this number 600 hail from Omaha.

Commander D. C. Buell will have charge of the training program during the summer for all seamen in Nebraska and Iowa.

Any naval reserve members may arrange with the skipper of the boats at Carter lake for voyages. Dates for cruises on the motor boat will be announced next week. Arrangements for special dates and training may be arranged with Commander Buell at 1203 Farnam street.

During these trips the naval men are given special instruction in sea drills and in learning to manipulate properly oars, sails and other apparatus used on sea-going vessels. Men are required to take this training in order to qualify for their retention pay as this training is counted as drill.

Russell Bovim and George Thorson, of Milwaukee, University of Chicago students, are walking to California to enter Leland Stanford university in the fall. They work along the way to pay their expenses.

They left home April 19 and made no stops except at Dubuque, where they worked one week. The longest distance they covered in one day was 42 miles, out of Madison. They say they average 30 miles a day.

The youths carry a letter from the governor of Wisconsin to the governor of California. They collect autographs of mayors and added that of Mayor Dahlman to their list while in Omaha.

"If anybody has any work for us, we are at the Y. M. C. A.," the boys announce. They work in the cafeteria there for their meals.

A special program of entertainments and "stunts" is being prepared by the market week committee for the entertainment of the guests.

Erection of Big Building Planned

Negotiations Under Way for 10-Story Structure at Sixteenth and Howard.

Negotiations are under way for the erection of a 10-story building to cost $1,500,000, at Sixteenth and Howard streets, according to C. A. George of George & Co., who has been handling the property for Chester A. and Raymond Cook, trustees for the estate of a Chicago family owning the property.

The Cooks were in Omaha some time ago, but, according to Mr. George, nothing was said about the prospective building except that negotiations were under way. Representatives of the trustees were reported to have been in Omaha recently and to have given out the information that a firm of Chicago architects already had completed plans for the new building. Construction, according to the representatives, is to begin this summer and the contracts are to be let June 1. Mr. George could not verify these reports.

According to the plans said to have been adopted, the building will front 220 feet on Howard street and 132 feet on Sixteenth street. The first floor will be divided into store rooms and the upper stories into offices.

Woman Accused Of Shoplifting

Arrest Ends Several-Month's Search for Suspected Store Thief.

Margaret Butler, 23, 1760½ Leavenworth street, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Finn and Cody of the Brandeis and Burgess-Nash stores on a charge of shoplifting.

Detectives say they have been seeking the woman several months for alleged thefts in various Omaha stores.

In a search of her rooms, waists, dresses and bolts of cloth and articles of clothing valued at $1,500, were recovered, according to officers.

The woman would enter a store, make a small purchase, and while waiting for the article to be wrapped, would make away with her loot, the officers declared.

She is held for investigation.

Report of Probe Denied by Coble

Will Not Investigate District Attorney's Office Following Man's Getaway.

W. M. Coble, postoffice inspector, in a "personal" statement to Frank Peterson, assistant United States district attorney, denied the district attorney's office was under investigation as a result of William A. McWhorter's exit from this country to Mexico before a federal warrant was served on him in Houston, Tex.

He declared the reporter who quoted him as saying he would investigate that office yesterday "got things mixed" and "violated a confidence."

He admits that during his conversation he criticized the slowness of the United States attorney's office and the United States marshal's office in Houston.

McWhorter and three other Omaha men recently were indicted by a federal grand jury for using the mails to defraud. Charles S. Wohlberg and Jacob Masse were arrested in Los Angeles, but were reached here yesterday that McWhorter was in Tampico, Mexico, a free man. Arrest of the fourth man, William G. Chipley, is expected momentarily.

Says His Wife Hadn't Told Him of Divorce

Allegations that he did not know his wife was a divorced woman until 10 minutes before he married her in Plattsmouth, July 30, 1919, were made by George C. Eselin, Omaha real estate and oil man, in District Judge Sears' court yesterday where his wife, Emma, is suing him for a divorce on grounds of cruelty.

She said he told her before the marriage that he had $200,000 and an annual income of $15,000 to $20,000.

Eselin declared in court that she came into his office one day and said: "You will marry me now or never. As he loved her, he testified, he married her."
