

General Wood's Auto Falls Into River From Ferry

Party Escapes Uninjured, But an Hour Was Required to Pull Vehicle From Water.

Tugeario Cagayan Province, Philippine Islands, May 25.—(By The Associated Press.)—The automobile of Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, one of the chief members of the mission investigating conditions in the Philippine islands at the request of President Harding, fell into Pinarcanan river near the Cabaganer route here yesterday while being ferried across the stream. General Wood escaped uninjured, but an hour was required to pull the vehicle from the water.

Twenty men, including General Wood, tugged at the ropes continually until the car was hoisted finally up to dry land. The mishap occurred when the automobile slipped from the ferry at the landing.

At Cabagan, where the party arrived soon after the accident, they were greeted by the Filipino school supervisor. In his address he said: "We welcome the mission and will gladly submit to its investigations. We are like the patient who willingly places himself in the hands of the doctor. We have great faith in the American congress and we think that every Filipino can say: "I owe everything I have to America."

General Wood, in replying, said: "Among the important and interesting investigations we are making are those into the schools, the public works, and the administration of justice. The latter, in a fair and impartial way, without reference to persons, is the bulwark of any people. The American people want to know the Philippines and their conditions. W. Cameron Forbes and myself came to make an impartial report of things as we find them. The hospitality of the people has been magnificent, all of the officials from Acting Governor Yeater down have been most considerate in their efforts to aid our investigation in every possible way."

General Wood spent the night here, the capital of the province. Local speakers did not refer to independence but said they were confident that the mission's approval would be fair. This morning General Wood inspected government buildings and schools prior to departing for Alcalá and Appari.

Here is another instance of the remarkable powers of Tanlac in building up the system following the ravaging effects of influenza. Mrs. L. McKuhn, 1712 Broadway, Kansas City, Mo., says: "I had influenza about a year ago and it left me with no appetite and my digestion almost ruined. I suffered terribly from palpitation of the heart, headaches and dizziness. I was constipated, and had dreadful pains in my back. It was almost out of the question for me to get a good night's sleep, and I became so weak and run-down that my housework was beyond my strength completely. Nothing seemed to reach my case until I got Tanlac. "But Tanlac has made the most wonderful difference; in fact, I am in better health now than I have been for years. Why, I can eat meats, pastries, or just anything else I want, and everything agrees with me perfectly. I have gained 10 pounds in weight, my nerves are steady and my sleep is sound and restful. I have been so pleased with Tanlac I have induced a number of my friends to take it, and they have all been delighted with the results. It is a wonderful medicine."
