

Compromise Plan Of Stillmans Is Declared Halted

Hearings in Suit Will Be Resumed Next Wednesday—Alienation Suit to Be Filed Against Mrs. Leeds.

New York, May 26.—Hearings in the divorce suit brought by James A. Stillman, millionaire banker against Mrs. Anne U. Stillman, will be resumed next Wednesday before Referee D. G. Gleason, at Poughkeepsie. This announcement, made by one of Mrs. Stillman's attorneys today, was taken as an indication that the settlement negotiations said to have been inaugurated by counsel for the banker had halted. Refusal of Mrs. Stillman to comply with her husband's demand that she live abroad for five years after the suit had been withdrawn was reported to be the reason for this action. Another condition, alleged to have been imposed by Mrs. Stillman's attorneys was that she give her consent for the children to choose between their parents. This, it is said, she has declined to do.

Mr. Stillman's offer is reported to have included the withdrawal of his suit, legal recognition of the legitimacy of the infant, Guy Stillman, whose paternity has been questioned in the proceedings and the granting of an allowance of between $50,000 and $90,000 a year to Mrs. Stillman.

Will Force Charges.

Unless the banker agrees to an "unconditional surrender" before Wednesday Mrs. Stillman will turn loose three broadsides against the defense of the former bank president as follows:

A $500,000 alienation of affections suit against Mrs. Florence H. Leeds, former "chicken on the Century roof," and alleged affinity of the former bank president.

Ask the indictment of Stillman and Mrs. Leeds by the grand jury, charging that they lived together as man and wife in this city.

Start an action for absolute divorce, naming Stillman as the father of Jay Ward Leeds.

Mrs. Stillman Determined.

Mrs. Stillman, it is understood, is determined to carry on the battle against her husband with all the instruments at her command unless he meets her terms as outlined in her ultimatum.

She will meet her husband's efforts to brand her son with the mark of illegitimacy with a frontal attack. She will charge her husband with being the father of not only Jay Ward Leeds but of at least one other infant. She is determined, it is said, to acquire a divorce but she is also determined to secure it in New York state. Her husband's tentative proposal of a compromise settlement contained the stipulation that she should go to Paris and file suit for divorce at the end of a five-year interval.

"I could wish Mr. Stillman and Mrs. Leeds no greater misfortune than to be mated to each other," Mrs. Stillman has said to friends. "I intend to leave Mr. Stillman, free to do the decent thing and marry the woman he has degraded."

Mrs. Leeds Stirred.

It is understood that Mrs. Stillman's contemplated actions have reached the ears of Mrs. Leeds and that she has decided to take steps to establish legally the fatherhood of her son in order that he may be protected financially.

It is understood that Mrs. Stillman's bitterness towards the former chorus girl is enhanced by the alleged continuation of the banker's lavish gifts to Mrs. Leeds. In the meantime Mrs. Stillman has said to friends:

"I'd rather wash dishes in Childs' than be forced to leave America—even though I am to be given $90,000 a year and thorough and sweeping vindication both for my baby and myself."

Part of Money Taken From Drug Store Is Returned

Wymore, Neb., May 26.—(Special.)—Ninety-seven dollars of the $115 which mysteriously disappeared from the drug store of Erle Thomas about two weeks ago was returned by two small boys who live two miles east of town.

The little fellows were going after their father's cows, and crossing a culvert, they saw a small can which appeared to contain the shine of silver. Bringing it home to their parents it was found to contain currency and several rolls which contained nickels and dimes. Other silver was found wrapped inside the paper money. Mr. Thomas identified the money as his by the paper wrappings of the nickels and dimes.

Machinist Pinned Under White Hot Engine Tire

Wymore, Neb., May 26.—(Special.)—Herb R. Brannan, machinist at the Burlington shops here, was severely burned while removing a tire from an engine. Tires are brought to an almost white heat in this process and when sufficiently contracted will drop off the wheel frame. The chain which is wrapped round the tire to prevent it from falling over had become loosened, and the 1,200-pound rim of hot steel fell against Brannan, pinning him to the ground. His helper, unable to lift it, shouted for help, but it was fully one minute before the victim could be released. The burn was on the right leg below the knee.

Wife of Denver Cop Kills Man Who Seizes Her

Shoots Assailant Who Attacks Her as She Leaves Garage Where She Placed Auto.

Denver, Colo., May 26.—Mrs. James Cass, 22, wife of a Denver patrolman, late last night shot and killed a man who attempted to seize her as she was returning to her home. The man was shot three times and fell dead in an alley near the Cass residence. Several reports have been made recently, the police said, that a prowler was seen in the neighborhood where the shooting took place.

The dead man was identified by policemen as a man called "Curley," a notorious character. Mrs. Cass said she had just put her automobile in the garage, adjacent to her home when her assailant stepped out of a doorway in an apartment house and seized her by the arm.

"Let me go," Mrs. Cass said, she screamed, at which her assailant seized her by both arms. She tore from his grip, the woman said, and shot three times with a pistol she carries.

A police riot squad answered the report sent in by neighbors who gathered and Mrs. Cass was taken to police headquarters where she made a statement.

She later was released in her husband's custody. She is in a state of collapse.

Part of Uni Annual May Be Destroyed

Lincoln, May 26.—The entire issue of the "Cornhusker," the annual of the University of Nebraska, may be called in and the pages of the "student life" section burned if the faculty upholds charges of one of the school clubs that this section, containing jokes and quips about students, is "undignified and unfit for publication."

Some of the faculty advocate this action and Provost J. T. Lees, supervisor of the year book, stated today that he had neglected to read carefully that section of the book. He added that two articles which he had ordered suppressed appeared when the book came out. About 2,500 copies were subscribed for by the students, distribution having begun yesterday.

Slayer of Guard Feared Violence

Negro Denies He Knew Victim Died; Plea to Quash Charge Is Overruled.

Lincoln, May 26.—(Special.)—District Judge W. E. Stewart quashed today the plea in abatement overruled the first degree murder charge filed against Convict James B. King, negro, who killed Guard R. L. Taylor at the state penitentiary some weeks ago.

King stabbed Taylor to death while on his way to his cell from the dining room.

The prisoner, brought into court to testify today, declared on the witness stand that he did not know whether he killed Taylor and did not know, except through hearsay, that Taylor was dead.

At the time of the killing, King signed a written confession.

On the stand today King said that he was afraid of mob violence, that the other inmates in the prison had threatened to kill him and that he

Wymore Infested With Bug Plague, Citizens Complain

Wymore, Neb., May 26.—(Special.)—Citizens here affirm that all the bugs in the "bugology" category are assailing their garden stuff. Not in 30 years has there been such a pest of insects. Myriads of moths infest both garden and residence. Potato bugs appear to hunt for Paris green as an appetizer, or at least it appears that way from the little good accomplished by spraying.

Wheat in the territory contiguous to Wymore is showing innumerable blotches of red. Farmers says it is not rust, but a discoloration caused by the last freeze. Traveling men who use auto advise that the wheat crop is being referred to as a five-bushel to the acre crop.

$1,115.00 MAXWELL

That is the high mark of compensation for which members of the Help Yourself Club are striving. It is based on the securing of the Capital Award of the $7,800.00 Home and the first of the Special Additional Awards, the $1,625.00 Overland Sedan.

Still a $50,000.00 a year rate of pay means so little in the lives of the average Help Yourself Club members that they have gone to "sleep at the switch," are throwing their possibilities away and permitting brand new members to come in and pass them on the road as swiftly as our $4,440.00 Cadillac will pass a horse-drawn vehicle.

Look at that list of awards—$29,450.00 of it. Look at the standing of members as shown on page 4. Compare the small lists with the large awards. A wonderful lack of appreciation of the value of effort. We say effort advisedly, because luck is an element which does not enter into this campaign. Hard and consistent work is the only element to be considered.

With the equivalent of a $50,000.00 salary, the opportunity still open to new members to secure two awards and the lack of interest displayed by many present members, a great many more people should seize this opportunity.

The only requirement is that you should turn in subscriptions to The Bee. If you doubt your ability to do it, just go out and try. Ask some of your friends to give you a helping hand to win a valuable award. You will be surprised to find how many folks want to subscribe for The Bee. Then, having demonstrated it to your satisfaction, send in your subscriptions and your nomination blank. Your necessary supplies will be sent you at once.

The $29,450 List of Awards:

- 1--$7,800.00 Home, First Capital Award
- 1--$4,440.00 Cadillac, Automobile
- 1--$1,500.00 Conservative B. & L. Deposit
- 9--$1,115.00 Maxwell Automobiles
- 9--$200.00 Building & Loan Deposits
- 9--$100.00 Building and Loan Deposits
- 1--$1,625.00 Overland Sedan
- 1--$1,350 Gardner 5-Passenger Automobile

Total Number of Awards 32

Ten per cent cash commission to all non-winners if they turn in $50.00 or more.

Notes for Members and Non-Members

From the records of the Campaign Manager's Office—showing that a subscription is made in a while—it appears some of the members are laboring under the mistaken idea that somebody else is going to do all the work for them.

Keep in mind the fact that the same person can win a Special Additional Award of an automobile and also one of the regular awards.

Would not it have felt fine on those hot evenings to have been able to climb into our own little "Bus" and gone for a cool-off? There are twelve beautiful cars in the list of awards.

Keep in mind the three ways subscriptions count right now—regular votes, extra votes and cash subscriptions towards the Special Additional Awards.

Will you have the satisfaction of having what you want in early life or will you wait until old age for the good things? There are nine Maxwell Touring Cars. One of them will go to the person in each of the nine districts having the largest score of votes, after the winners of the capital awards have been eliminated.

You may delay, but time will not. The one who will win the Capital Award is one who has made a resolution, and is keeping it, that each day and every day will see more votes placed to their credit.

That big Cadillac is a $4,440.00 7-passenger touring car, complete in every detail. She's one of those big "busses" that eat up the road and ride like a Pullman on the Overland Express.

How much have you been making a year? One would think that $50,000.00 a year was just pin money to some of the H. Y. S. Club members.

There are no losers in the H. Y. S. Club campaign. All members who fail to secure an award will, if they have turned in $50.00 or more, receive a cash commission.

You are not restricted to any certain territory in your work. Work where you please—but if you want an award work.
