

Matters Goes to Federal Prison Without Escort

Omahan Convicted of Aiding In Bank Fraud Awaits Commitment Papers at Leavenworth.

Thomas H. Matters, Omaha attorney, accompanied by his son, T. H. Matters, jr., applied yesterday morning for admittance at the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., where he will begin a five-year sentence as soon as the warden receives the necessary documents from Omaha.

Matters' commitment was to have begun last night at 12. The Omaha man went to Leavenworth to give himself up, without waiting for the formality of a United States marshal escorting him to the prison.

Warden Anderson of Leavenworth wired to the local United States marshal's office as follows: "Thomas H. Matters has reported here in person. Cannot accept him until papers arrive. Wire me when papers can be expected."

Acting United States Marshal Nickerson was in Lincoln, but deputies of the office announced that Matters' papers would be mailed at once and the warden advised by telephone.

It is understood that Matters' sentence may be reduced to three years and eight months for good behavior. The marshal's office here expressed the belief that Matters slipped away to avoid publicity and the prospect of being taken to prison in handcuffs.

Deputy Warden L. J. Fletcher of Leavenworth stated over long distance telephone yesterday that Matters appeared at the prison office at 10 a. m. He was unable to state the kind of work to which Matters will be assigned.

Matters was denied a pardon by two presidents. His third respite of 30 days expired last night. He was convicted of aiding M. L. Luebben, president of the First National bank of Sutton, in defrauding that bank.

Ladies of Elks Resent Charge Card Playing Is Their 'Chief Indulgence'

Mrs. Frank Kennedy, vice president and treasurer of the Ladies of the Elks, resented charges made by members of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, that "card playing is the chief indulgence of the former club." She insists that benevolence and charity are the chief objects of the Ladies of the Elks.

Mrs. Kennedy mentioned the presentation of "The Mikado," by her organization at the Brandeis theater last March for the benefit of the Day Nursery.

Mrs. E. E. Stanfield, grand patriotic matron of the B. P. O. E., asserted that the L. O. E. is a club rather than an "organization."

"The officers of the B. P. O. E. are still members of the L. O. E.," Mrs. Stanfield said, "but they do not attend the parties, because they don't care to spend their time playing cards and talking."

Mrs. Kennedy stated that the L. O. E. will continue to hold their parties and dances in the Elks assembly room.

Ice Price Raised 10 Cents Hundred Pounds in Omaha

Companies Justify Advance From 60 to 70 Cents on Ground of Short Winter Crop.

Several ice companies announced yesterday that they will increase the retail price of ice from 60 to 70 cents a hundred pounds on account of the short ice crop last winter. The municipal ice department is selling artificial ice at the plant, Twentieth street and Poppleton avenue, and at 24 "jitney" stations at 30 cents a hundred pounds. This ice is not delivered. General Manager R. B. Howell of the municipal plant said he did not contemplate any increase of ice rates.

Frank R. Mocker of the Omaha Ice and Cold Storage company stated that his company is shipping ice from Minnesota and that it is costing $8 a ton, Omaha, plus $3.00 a ton for freight, with an estimate shrinkage of five tons to the car.

The Peoples Ice company stated that it would not increase the retail price from 60 cents a hundred, but that it could advance the wholesale price 10 cents per hundred, beginning June 1.

W. F. Poff of the City Ice company stated he was told that ice is being sold for $1 a hundred in some towns of this state. The Dundee Ice company and the West Omaha Ice and Ice company, as well as others, announced increased retail prices yesterday.

The city council deferred action yesterday on a request of the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce, asking that the Board of Education be granted a permit to erect a temporary, semi-fireproof, one-story school building on the site at the northeast corner of Twentieth and Leavenworth streets. The former building was destroyed by fire last New Year's eve. The council will consider further the proposition of permitting the erection of this building which would house nearly 1,000 boys and girls.
