

Efforts to Save Naval Oil Supply Checked By Fall

Secretary of Interior Requests Drilling of Wells Along Border of California Reserve Be Postponed.

Washington, May 27.—Efforts of the Navy department to prevent depletion of a navy oil reserve by oil companies operating along its boundary have been halted by Secretary of the Interior Fall, pending disposition of a private oil claim within the reserve.

About a year ago the Standard Oil company began drilling wells on its property adjoining naval oil reserves in southern California. Some of the wells are within 250 feet of the boundary line of the reserve. The Standard has been obtaining a continuously increasing volume of oil from these wells, the present output being 46,000 barrels a day, and the Navy department believes that a large part of this oil comes from the adjacent naval reserve.

With an assured oil supply vital to the navy, Secretary Denby determined to prevent further depletion of the reserve. On April 16 he advertised for bids for drilling of offset wells just within the reserve, opposite the line of Standard wells beyond the boundary. By this means it was planned to draw off the oil in this portion of the reserve, which it is believed is now going to the Standard.

Girl-Wife Convicted In Juvenile Court of Slaying Step-Child

Farmington, Mo., May 27.—Mrs. John Parsons, 13, was held responsible for the death of her 6-year-old stepdaughter, Lilly, by a jury in juvenile court last night. The jury was impaneled to determine only whether the child-wife was responsible. The verdict held that she was not delinquent and it did not touch upon the sanity question.

The girl was turned over to a probation officer by the judge. Her sentence will be announced in a few days. Maximum punishment which can be ordered by the juvenile court is a term in reform school.

The shooting occurred two months and a half ago, five days after the girl had married her 35-year-old husband. During the trial the girl, weeping bitterly, said she would not live again with her husband, but would go to the home of her grandmother.

Mrs. Parsons, during the trial, has maintained that she shooting was accidental.

Juanita Miller's Lily Love Turns Out to Be Caveman

Juanita Miller

By HAZEL PEDLAR FAULKNER (Universal Service Staff Correspondent). San Francisco, May 27.—Juanita Miller's lily love has turned out to be a caveman.

In place of the spiritual soul mate of her dreams, the daughter of the poet of the Sierras finds her bridegroom of the tulip bed a man with a "buried past."

His failure to disclose that past—whether it be good or ill—is one of the grievances which has combined with others to make the heroine of the April moon marriage turn inquiringly toward the legal path toward freedom.

For from "The Hights" today came word of the marital difficulties of the couple whose wedding a month ago was heralded with the music of timbrals and celebrated with the feast of roasted kid and home brew.

Used Rough Tactics. And as evidence of the charges of caveman which Juanita makes against her husband, she showed a bandaged arm and bared a bruised breast, mute but colorful testimony of the "physical cruelty," which she says will be one ground for the contemplated divorce.

is her's, as the result of the disillusionment wrought by her tiger-lily husband.

For Juan of the golden locks and the buried past has failed to make good on the domestic part of the bargain. False to his pre-nuptial promises he had not done his share of brushing up the floor or of making the bread.

"I still love him, although he has turned out to be a caveman instead of my lily love," said Juanita today. "I am contemplating divorce on the grounds of cruelty and non-support, but I am not going to take definite action until a little later, after a stated number of days."

And then the bride of a month disclosed one other rift in the nuptial lute. "Before we were married Juan said he had no bills and was not in debt, and now it turns out that he has unpaid bills," according to Juanita, and his wish to repay the debts led to their first financial dispute.

The breach between the two became an open one over a mere theatrical contract, wherein Juanita was to receive the family pay at the rate of four to one. Juan objected, demanding at least an even break in the family bank account, because of those back debts.

Mrs. Stillman Dictating Terms In Divorce Case

Friends Making Every Effort To Have Husband to Agree To Settlement Without Fight.

New York, May 27.—Mrs. "Fifi" Stillman is dictating terms to James A. Stillman, and they are "pretty rough," according to a friend of the banker, in discussing reports that divorce negotiations were practically ended.

"Jim Stillman, in his mental processes, is a lot like his father," said the friend. "He is stubborn as a mule. His friends are working with him night and day to persuade him to agree to the terms dictated by his wife and smother the scandal. Characteristically, he balks at signing an agreement in the preparation of which he has had no part and every line of which is obnoxious."

"However, the case will never come to trial. Mr. Stillman cannot fight. All the breaks have been and will be against him. If he cannot be won over in the five days remaining before the resumption of proceedings in Poughkeepsie next week, his lawyers will ask for a postponement, which will temporarily take the case out of public notice."

It is reported that the only issue now standing between the Stillmans is the refusal of Mrs. Stillman to agree to go abroad and live there. Mr. Stillman's friends were spurred to new efforts in persuading him to agree to anything when they heard that Mrs. Stillman had been offered a large sum to report future legal proceedings for a combination of sensational newspapers.

Representatives of the wife are preparing, when the hearings are resumed June 1, for rigid cross-examination of Dr. Hugh Russell, the Buffalo osteopath, who testified that Mrs. Stillman had told him Fred K. Beauvais was the father of Guy.

Victim of Blizzard 30 Years Ago Dies in Clarinda

Denison, Ia., May 27.—(Special.)—Jurgen Jepsen, who went insane 33 years ago from exposure in a blizzard in which his wife perished, died in Clarinda hospital and the body was brought here for burial. Mr. and Mrs. Jepsen and babies were returning home in a sleigh when the storm overtook them. Putting his family under the sled the father started for help. When he did not return the mother left her babies in the shelter and followed him, but froze to death on the way.

Crash Victim Sues Dairy Co.

James H. Luce filed suit in district court yesterday against the Alamito Dairy company for $25,000 damages for injuries which he says he received when a truck collided with a motorcycle he was riding May 21 at Twenty-seventh and Leavenworth streets.

Officials to Discuss Reclamation Plans

Denver, May 27.—Proposed reclamation projects in the west and those now under construction will be discussed at a conference here tomorrow, to be attended by Director A. P. Davis of the United States reclamation service; Gov. D. W. Davis of Idaho, F. E. Waymouth, state reclamation engineer of Colorado, and other state officials.

Following a conference here Tuesday between Governor Carey of Wyoming, Director Davis and local government officials, steps have been taken to investigate methods by which the municipalities of Douglas and Casper, Wyo., can be supplied with water from the Pathfinder reservoir, which is supplied with water from the North Platte river.

No "Tire Grief" when you use

"Double Extra Ply" SPRAGUE TIRES

Nearly 50% Discount On Sprague 50% Stronger Tires

The Reason:

THESE very special prices are made on a lot of tires—all sizes in both Cords and Fabrics—which have been used for samples and for display at shows. Also, some are slightly factory soiled. All are as good as new and as good as tires can be made. The only way to realize what this offer means is to see them at the factory salesroom at 18th and Cuming Streets.

Which Is the Stronger?

Sprague 6-Ply 3 1/2 in. Tires

Others' 4-Ply 3 1/2 in. Tires

This indicates one of the reasons of Sprague Tire superiority. Sprague Tires are heavier. There are many other reasons. Sprague Tires are virtually the only Tires made with Sea Island Cotton Fabric. That is one of the Sprague Tire blowout preventives.

Made in Omaha

Sprague Tires are made in Omaha, but sold and used throughout the world. If a defect should be discovered, you can drive right up to the factory door and secure a most satisfactory adjustment. The logical Tire for Omaha folks to use.
