More Truth Than Poetry

USELESS EDUCATION

A college professor suggests a department of matrimony in the great universities. When I was earning my twelve a week I wearied of single life. So I made up my mind that I'd go and seek some damsel to be my wife.

The girls I knew seemed a likely lot. Yet I shuddered with horrid dread For I couldn't be sure that the girl I got Was the one that I ought to wed.

I yearned for an ardor that wouldn't cool, And a wedlock no years could blight, So I took a course at a well known school That taught you to pick 'em right.

I learned that the kind of a girl for me Was a maiden with auburn hair, Who tipped the beam at a hundred and three, And was known by the name of Claire.

With such a girl, so the profs. averred, I could wander in primrose ways With never a mean or peevish word. To the end of our wedded days.

She would save my money, and broil my steak And care for my clothes and health, Till I soon would find for her sweet sake I had conquered both fame and wealth.

I hunted from Maine to Mexico In quest of this model lass, And after a couple of years or so I found her in Squantum, Mass.

And our lives have been one long romance, With never a single sigh If it hadn't been for the circumstance That she'd married another guy.

And as her like there can never be Any further quest is in vain, She's the only wife they prescribed for me So a bachelor I remain.

OUT OF THEIR LINE. Why should 400 musical experts condemn the jazz. Does anyone believe that jazz has any relation to music?

ALWAYS ON THE ALERT. As soon as Greece hears about that other Mrs. Leeds, it'll trot out another eligible prince.

WE'RE APPROACHING IT. This isn't quite the millenium, but the railroads are admitting that their rates are too high.

Common Sense By J. J. MUNDY. Are You Growing Old? Don't worry so much about the indications of old age which manifest themselves so much more frequently than they did a few years ago.

You cannot help growing old nor can you expect to do what you did when you were younger. It does no good to worry and fret as age advances.

The more you think about how long you will be able to hold out, the sooner you will reach the place where you are completely worn out. One of the best things you can do to prolong your days of real usefulness is to be cheerful.

When you are cheerful you have more confidence in your ability. A cheerful heart accomplishes more work and with less wear. Worry has taken the lives of more persons than sickness and disease, which come without worry.

Youth Who Struck School Principal To Make Amends

Carl Dimond, student editor of the Register, will not be expelled from Central High school for his fist attack on Principal Joseph G. Masters and Dr. H. A. Senter Tuesday.

Carl will turn over to Principal Masters all material for the Register annual which he holds, and I shall instruct him to apologize to Mr. Masters," his mother, Mrs. Zaida Dimond, 204 South Twenty-fifth avenue, stated after a conference with the principal yesterday. "It's all settled now."

Carl apologized to Dr. Senter a few minutes after the fight and went to school early this morning to apologize to Mr. Masters, but did not have the opportunity.

"Millionaire Hobo" Gives Up Ranch Idea

Alliance, Neb., June 1.—(Special.)—John O'Brien, "knight of the road" and dubbed by police the "millionaire hobo," because of his purely imaginary wealth and position, asked the court for just three minutes in which to shake the dust of Alliance from his feet after he had received a suspended fine of $10 in police court on a charge of vagrancy.

John arrived from parts unknown and decided to go into the ranch business. He "hired" four Alliance young women as cooks for the ranch and a man to work for him. He told each of his "employees" that he had leased the Hugh Smith ranch south of town. He casually mentioned his big touring car and outlined his plans for running the ranch, promising to come in after the young women and the hired man the following day.

When arrested by police as a vagrant the bubble burst. John confessed that he had no automobile, no intention of going into the ranch business and that he had utterly neglected to consult Mr. Smith about leasing the ranch.

One way to get Big Mileage Regularly

The importance of gasoline with a complete chain of boiling point fractions

You wouldn't expect to light a green stick with a match. Yet some gasolines are like green sticks. They neither ignite quickly nor burn up completely—because they lack sufficient low-boiling point fractions for kindling, and have too great a proportion of slow-burning elements.

Straight distilled gasoline possesses the complete chain of boiling points which assures quick ignition and practically instant, complete combustion. Every bit is converted into heat and power—gives bigger mileage per gallon than slow-burning mixtures, or less carefully refined gasoline.

Red Crown Gasoline has a complete chain of boiling point fractions

Red Crown Gasoline is straight distilled gasoline. It meets all specifications required by the United States Government for motor gasoline. It has a complete chain of boiling point fractions—low, medium and higher boiling point fractions—which, in right proportion, assure big power and big mileage. It is uniform and dependable wherever you buy it.

How to get better results at less cost

The way to get mileage and power economically, to escape carbon troubles, to have a spry, quick-starting engine, is by perfect adjustment of the motor to the fuel used. This can only be secured by using gasoline that is UNIFORM—gasoline you can get wherever you are—gasoline that gives a clean, dry, powerful mixture under all weather conditions. Use Red Crown Gasoline.

Look for the Red Crown Service Station

Always drive in to a Red Crown Service Station. You are certain of clean burning, powerful gasoline that is as uniform as modern refining can make it—big-mileage gasoline. Polite service, free air, water for your radiator and road information and directions are some of the little things which reflect the ideals of this company—prompt, courteous service, products of highest quality, full measure—and an expanding service which anticipates the growing needs of the motoring public.

OLD TIME RIVER CAPTAIN SAYS IT HAS WORLD BEAT

"I Can't Say Enough for Tanlac," Writes Robert H. Trombley.

Capt. Robert H. Trombley, well-known proprietor of the Majestic Annex hotel, 323 Main street, Dubuque, Ia., writes that Tanlac has helped him so much he believes he will be doing any one a good turn by getting them to try the medicine. Captain Trombley is an old Mississippi river captain. He was on the river from 1881 to 1916 and numbers his friends by his acquaintances all the way from Minneapolis to St. Louis.

"Tanlac is such a wonderful medicine and has fixed me up so fine that I just can't help but write in and tell about it," says his letter, "and if my statement will get others to try Tanlac I hope it will be published, for I don't believe anything can help them as much as this medicine will."
