Nebraska Congressman Would Have Representatives Apportioned According to Votes Cast in States.

By E. C. SNYDER. Vashington Correspondent, Omaha Bee Washington, June 1 .- (Special Telegram.)-Congressman Andrews of the Fifth Nebraska district, chairman of the committee on the election of president, vice president and representatives in congress, has pending before his committee an amendment to the federal constitution, which if made a part of that instrument electoral system now in vogue. Mr. Andrews' amendment is as "Representatives shall be apportioned uniformly among the several states upon the completion of each decennial census, according to the votes legally cast and returned at the presidential election next preceding such apportionment, and each state shall have at least one representa-

would make a radical change in the

Under the Andrews' amendment become the measure of the political power of each state in the house of representatives. At present the total population of the state is the basis. This rules makes the weakest infant equal to the wisest statesman; the worst criminal the equal of the most obedient law abiding citizen; the worst lunatic equal to the wisest philosopher; the anarchist equal to the loyal patriot.

Votes Actually Cast. The proposed amendment, how ever, would make the votes actualcast and counted under the laws of the state and the nation the real measure of political power in the congress of the United States. If, under it, any state by any device should deny to its citizens their rights of suffrage, that state alone would be responsible for its own

Under present conditions, Nebraska has six votes in the house of representatives. The total population of the state, according to the census of 1920, is 1,296,372, and its total vote cast at the presidential election in 1920 was 382,653. Contrast this with three other states, say Florida, Mississippi and South Carolina. The combined population of these states, according to the last census, is 4,-439,342. Their combined presidential vote, however, was only 298,465 in 100,000 More Votes.

Nebraska cast nearly 100,000 more votes than those three states combined, although it has only one-third as many people. Yet these states have at the present 19 members in the house of representatives. In other words 382,653 people living in Nebraska can vote to send only six members to represent them in congress, while the three states Filley Farmer Is Held named are sending 19 members to Washington to represent them.

Should the proposed amendment be adopted by the people it would necessarily have a direct bearing upon the number of votes in the elec-toral college also.
