

Turkish Leader Threatens Drive Upon Black Sea

Large Reinforcements Received by Mustapha Kemal; Angora Government Arrogant to Allies.

London, June 9.—Large military reinforcements have been received by Mustapha Kemal Pasha, head of the Turkish nationalist government at Angora, and he is threatening to advance on the Black sea and the sea of Marmora.

The Angora government is said to have taken an arrogant attitude toward the allies. Dispatches containing these statements were featured by the London newspapers today.

Assertion is made by the Daily Sketch that the British government has received reports of a grave nature from Constantinople, which is declared to be menaced with capture by the Turkish nationalists. British representatives there, it says, have advised the government if reinforcements are not available, it is desirable that British forces in the near east and middle east be withdrawn to India.

Information received by the Journal would appear to imply the inability of the Greek army to stem any advance by the nationalists.

A Constantinople dispatch to the Daily Mail reports that two British battleships have been ordered to the Dardanelles, it being intended that they will join in operations against the nationalists by blockading Black sea ports and covering the landing of Greek reinforcements. The dispatch implies that British warships, Benbow and Centaur, which have been engaged in target practice on the sea of Marmora, will co-operate with the two battleships and prediction is made that British destroyers will soon arrive in the Straits.

Confirmation of these reports is lacking in official quarters, where it is stated the British government has not reached any decision.

Disabled Veterans Of World War Guests At White House Party

Washington, June 9.—More than 1,500 soldier patients in army, navy and public health hospitals in and around Washington, with their wives, families and Red Cross nurses, were guests for whom the president and Mrs. Harding entertained at a garden party given especially for them yesterday.

Officers and private soldiers, sailors and marines, native and foreign-born, colored and white, in and out of uniform, in wheel chairs, on crutches, with canes, with an arm in a sling or resting on carefully rigid supports; some with darkened glasses and others with a bandage where an eye had been, together with others almost wholly recovered from less serious wounds, the "boys who served," thronged the White House grounds for two hours. Every one who could walk on the long line which was nearly an hour in passing the receiving party, because the president and Mrs. Harding had a special word for each one, and after that the commander-in-chief and the first lady went about the grounds trailed by little groups of doughboys and "kiddies" to greet those who sat in their chairs under the trees.

Wheat Prices Climb as Result of Crop Report

Chicago, June 9.—Possibility of widespread labor tie-ups on the railroads July 1 had a good deal to do with a rapid advance today in the price of wheat. The market in some cases ran up more than 7 cents a bushel for July delivery, which commanded as high as $1.39 3/4, against $1.32 at yesterday's finish.

A big falling off in production of wheat this season, as shown by the government crop report, had made the trade anxious, and then talk of general strike possibilities sent the market soaring.

City Mission Is Home and Happiness to Omaha Needy

Miss Mary Anthony and one of the Mission babies.

Home, church, settlement, library, school, club and theater—that's what the City Mission, located at Twelfth and Pacific streets, means to Omaha's needy, according to one of its particular warts.

But to be all this, the mission needs funds.

Hence the tag day, Saturday, when red hearts with inscription "Give a Heart for the City Mission Kiddies," will be sold on downtown streets by prominent Omaha women and girls.

"Our woman's shelter, for those temporarily in need, or as a home for working girls, is the only one of its kind in Omaha," said Miss Mary Anthony, superintendent. "It fills a great need for transient poor, since we are only three or four blocks from the railroad stations."

May Obtain Room. Working girls may obtain a room, with the privilege of cooking their meals and the use of the laundry in the basement for only $1 per week.

A day nursery for children whose mothers must work, a gymnasium for the spirited boys of the neighborhood and a roof garden for the use of the mission habitues during the hot summer make up part of Miss Anthony's dreams for the future.

Baby Health Station. A free dispensary and baby health station, Bible and study classes, sewing, cooking, music lessons, boys' and girls' clubs, moving pictures, playgrounds and mother's clubs are other high spots in the mission's service, according to Miss Anthony, the superintendent, who is here pictured with one of her little Syrian charges, Mary Frances, named for her by its grateful parents.

Friday night is family night. The men are entertained in one room, they talk politics or the weather, or working conditions while the women are given home nursing hints or some other practical knowledge. Then there are movies to wind up the evening, the movies being furnished by the Americanization committee of the Y. M. C. A.

To make "family night" the big success it is, no child may come to the mission without one of its parents.

"You can bet this brings results. The kiddies won't stay away from the mission and they insist on their parents coming; thereby bridging the gap between the home and institution, which is the hardest thing to do in dealing with foreigners," said Miss Anthony.

The Mothers' club, 40 strong, meets every week to sew for its members or their kiddies and to be taught other things of benefit.

As many as 20 infants are brought to each meeting for the mothers have no one with whom to leave their little ones.

Boy Swipes Horse To Ride at Races

Kermit Gasaway, 8, 2509 Castelar street, who has been up in juvenile court frequently in the last six months for stealing horses, was arrested yesterday at Nineteenth and Leavenworth by Detectives Ryan and English, with a horse which he is said to have stolen at Thirteenth and Castelar streets.

The small boy was riding the animal and told the officers he was on his way to the Ak-Sar-Ben track to get into the races with his "mount."

A few weeks ago, Kermit was in juvenile court for stealing his fourth horse and his parents agreed to send him out to a farm where he could ride horses to his heart's content.

was addressed to Desmond Fitzgerald, Sinn Fein minister of propaganda. This letter is dated June 15, 1920.
