

Woman Saved From Suicide Drops From Sight

Found Unconscious and Rescued, Leaves Room at Midnight—Despondent Over Separation.

A few hours after police surgeons battered down the door of her bedroom and found a woman lying unconscious across her bed early Thursday evening, the woman, whose life they saved, slipped out of an apartment and dropped from sight.

A towel across her face, a partly filled perfume bottle by her side, and the strong fumes of an anesthetic satisfied the officers the woman had made an attempt against her own life.

After several hours of medical treatment the woman was revived to consciousness.

Separated From Husband.

She was not seen yesterday.

She is Mrs. Marie McDonald, 2010 Davenport street, separated from her husband, which is believed to have been the principal motive for her little attempt against her life.

Police surgeons were sent to her apartment at 6:30 by J. M. Gollehon, Blair farmer, visiting his kin at 2001 North Forty-fifth street.

Mrs. Thelma Sexton, 2010 Davenport street, saw Mrs. McDonald leave the apartment at midnight.

Gollehon told police he met her on the street Thursday and she told him her husband had left her. She had heard he was working on the South Side and asked Gollehon to aid her to find him and try to effect a reconciliation.

Search In Vain.

The McDonalds have been wed less than a year, Gollehon said.

Gollehon assumed the role of Good Samaritan, told Mrs. McDonald to get in his car and then searched for her husband on the South Side, he said.

The search was in vain and as he and Mrs. McDonald separated she handed him a note in an envelope, saying:

"Don't read this now. Open it and read it after while."

Gollehon opened the note right away. This is what he saw at the end:

Notifies Police.

"I am seeing you today for the last time. I hope and pray I can act natural."

"This is my last day. I am heart-broken. I am going to end it all. Goodby and God bless you."

Gollehon hastened to Central police headquarters where he notified police surgeons who frustrated Mrs. McDonald's attempt at suicide.

Mrs. McDonald came to Omaha from Fremont.

She is about 40, police say.

York Rite Masons Are Refused Incorporation

Lincoln, June 10.—(Special.)—D. M. Amsberry, secretary of state, refused to file articles of incorporation for the York Rite Masons, negro, also known as the King Solomon Masons of Kansas.

The attempt of this order to incorporate in Nebraska was hotly contested by the State Rite Colored Masons of Nebraska. Amsberry held that the present negro Masonic order with two lodges in Omaha and one in Lincoln hadn't, as yet, built sufficient financial and fraternal foundation to withstand competition.

Howell Confers With Nebraska Congressmen

National Committeeman Said To Be Supporting Senator Saunders for Omaha Postmastership.

Washington, June 10.—(Special Telegram.)—National Committeeman R. B. Howell yesterday paid his respects to members of the Nebraska delegation, including Congressman Reavis, who arrived during the morning from a speech-making tour in Nebraska; A. W. Jeffers of Omaha, who discussed the Omaha post-office situation with the national committeeman, and Judge Kinkaid.

It is understood that Mr. Howell is supporting Senator Saunders for the Omaha postmastership.

In view of the fact that the civil service commission has called for an examination for postmaster at Omaha on July 12, it will be a matter of interest to know who will take the examination. Candidates will not be required to report for examination at any place but will be rated according to the formal notice of examination on the following subjects, with their relative weights: Education and training, 20 weights; business experience and fitness, 80 weights.

In addition to full and detailed information called for in the general application blank candidates are required to furnish the following in connection with each responsible position held by them: (a) The number of persons under their supervision; (b) the character of the business done by the person, firm or corporation; (c) the volume of business done annually and (d) the commercial rating of each person, firm or corporation.

For offices paying $6,000, as Omaha and Lincoln do, the candidates must show that for at least seven years they have successfully filled responsible positions which required ability to organize, to direct, or to manage business affairs, including such positions in different branches of the postal service; candidates must also show that they have demonstrated their ability to meet and deal with the public satisfactorily.

Boy 'Can't-Help-It' Horse Thief Goes Back to the Farm

Lad of 8, Who Swiped Another Mount Thursday to Enter Races Flees to Escape Kearney.

Kermit Gasaway, 8, who dropped into town Thursday long enough to steal another horse, start for the races and get arrested, escaped to his uncle's farm this morning before the juvenile authorities got hold of him.

His father, Charles Gasaway, 2509 South Twentieth avenue, told the police the boy had just come in from his uncle's farm at Valley for a visit and he would send him right back.

An order to go to Kearney Industrial school to remain till he is 21 is hanging over Kermit, who seems unable to curb his propensities for horse stealing. This order was placed over him in juvenile court, April 30.

Just Can't Help It.

Although he is of such tender years, 'tis said he has stolen more horses than anyone else in Omaha. It seems he just can't help it.

He had stolen four horses before the Kearney order was made. One of these he stole while he was at Riverview Detention home for stealing another.

Three days after the Kearney order, above mentioned, Kermit was back in juvenile court for sealing another horse.

Pleas Save Him.

His tender years and his parent's pleas saved him from incarceration at the industrial school, where there are no horses. The parents said they would send him forthwith to his uncle's farm at Valley. On that condition Judge Sears let him go.

Since then Kermit has been on the farm where he has two horses of his own to ride.

But it seems stolen horses are the sweetest to Kermit. He came back to Omaha—he rode in, and Thursday he found a horse and wagon standing at Thirteenth and Castelar streets. He unhitched the animal, got upon its back and started for Ak-Sar-Ben field.

Going to Races.

As he galloped past Nineteenth and Leavenworth streets Thursday afternoon Detectives English and Ryan saw him. They stopped him. "Where are you going with the nag, kid?" they inquired.

"Going to the races," said the boy, "and I got to hurry."

He was putting spur to his steed again when he was further interrupted. "What's your name?" demanded the detective.

"Kermit Gasaway."

Back to Farm.

"You come with us," said the officers of the law. "We know all about you. Where'd you steal this nag?"

And, with Kermit astride the animal, the detectives leading it, they preceded to the police station.

Kermit's father was soon on the job and early yesterday morning he took him back to the farm.

Farmer Held After His Wife's Body Discovered

Aberdeen, S. D., June 10.—Dan Wampler, 43, farmer, was taken into custody today for questioning following the finding of his wife's body, Mrs. Mary Wampler, 37, buried in a cornfield near the Wampler home at Hecla, S. D.

For the past several weeks neighbors of the Wampplers had noted Mrs. Wampler's absence from her home, and early this morning a searching party located the body buried about 10 rods from the home.

Wampler declared that when he returned to his home three weeks ago his wife was gone. He said he had no idea of what became of her.

Yesterday was the first time Mrs. Wampler's disappearance was reported to officials. Wampler was brought here for questioning, but denied knowledge of his wife's whereabouts. State's Attorney Williamson, who was among the searchers who located the body at 3 a. m. today, said the head was crushed and that the body had been crudely buried without a casket.

Conferees Deadlocked On Naval Budget Bill

Washington, June 10.—Senate and house conferees on the naval appropriation bill were reported virtually at an impasse over senate increases aggregating about $98,000,000.

House conferees refused to agree to any important appropriation increases as proposed in senate amendments.

Another wide divergence reported was on the senate proposal for an enlisted personnel of 129,000 men and the house proposal for 100,000 men.

Although the conferees were begun only yesterday, predictions were made freely that there was no prospect except a deadlock.

Burglars recently carried away 14,000 artificial teeth from a shop in London.

Airplane Crash Seen by Crowd Going to Races

Pilot and Passenger Unhurt—But Man Slated for Next Flight Suddenly Changes His Mind.

In full view of hundreds of persons on their way to the concluding card of the Ak-Sar-Ben spring running races at 2:30 yesterday, an airplane, bearing two passengers, crashed to the ground at the west end of Ak-Sar-Ben field, turned completely over and wrecked the left wing, main rigging and propeller. The plane was piloted by C. A. James, with Ray Churchill, 2415 Cuming street, as a passenger. Neither was injured.

Stunts Above Track.

James was doing stunts above the race track.

Churchill was taking his first flight.

"I had intended to take up aviation," he said after the crash, "but I've changed my mind."

As the plane, which James was piloting to a landing, neared the ground it suddenly went into a nose dive, struck the earth and turned completely over.

Crowds In Rush.

Crowds rushed to the scene, expecting to see the mangled bodies of the two passengers.

Instead, they saw the two men

stepping from the plane smiling ruefully.

The crash had knocked out their wind. Otherwise they were unhurt. The plane was brand new. James estimated the damage at $1,000.

B. C. Morris, 2415 Cuming street, who stood waiting to replace Churchill as a passenger for the next flight, shook his head.

"No, thanks," he muttered as he walked off.
