

Gypsy Costume Of Mrs. Stillman Sets New Vogue

Husband Objects to Being Target of a Curious Crowd And Battery of Newspaper Photographers.

Joughkepsie, N. Y., June 17.—James A. Stillman objects to being made the target of a curious crowd and a battery of newspaper photographers and publication of the agreement by his attorney to have him present at the hearing before Referee Gleason today "injured him greatly." For this reason, C. J. Sullivan, one of his attorneys, withdrew the agreement.

John F. Brennan, chief counsel for Mrs. Stillman, said he would insist upon Mr. Stillman appearing for cross-examination, and it was finally agreed that he would be brought in before the hearing ended, but the exact date was not to be announced. Mr. Stillman did not fare well in today's proceedings. The testimony was given by servants formerly employed in "Mondanne," the Stillman country home at Pleasantville, N. Y.

Inscription on Moccasins.

Mary Kelley, former parlor maid of Mrs. Stillman, was positive regarding the inscriptions on the moccasins of a pair of moccasins given by Fred Beauvais to Guy Stillman. Miss Kelley said she was acquainted with Beauvais' handwriting and was sure he had written the inscriptions. In one moccasin this appeared: "I hope Guy will always be good to his mother," and on the inside of the other was this inscription, according to Miss Kelley: "I hope Guy will some day know his father."

Miss Kelley, under cross-examination, contradicted testimony she had given on direct examination, declaring that a letter alleged to have been written to Mrs. Stillman by Beauvais, and which was placed in evidence by Bernard Kelley, was the letter she had handed to Kelley. This testimony concerning the inscriptions was corroborated by Marguerite McDonough, former nurse of Alexander Stillman, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Stillman who also testified that she saw Mrs. Stillman coming from the bath room at Mondanne one morning while Beauvais was staying there and saw through a partly open door that her bed had not been slept in.

Tells of Bed Scenes.

Mrs. Irene Kelly wife of Bernard Kelly, former superintendent at "Mondanne," was once Mrs. Stillman's personal maid, while they were at the Stillman country home and had seen him stand by Mrs. Stillman's bedside and play the victrola and read to her, while she was in bed. The force of this testimony was somewhat weakened when she admitted on cross-examination that she had seen "Bud" Stillman, Mrs. Stillman's oldest son, and H. Phelps Clawson of Buffalo, a friend of Mrs. Stillman and her children, in Mrs. Stillman's bedroom on some of these occasions. It was explained later that Mrs. Stillman frequently rose late and received friends in her room.

Mrs. Stillman's gypsy-like costume of Wednesday, which was topped by a bright-colored bandanna as a head-dress, seems to have set a style in Poughkeepsie. A number of young girls wore bandannas today, and when a group of girls from Arlington, the home of John E. Mack, special guardian for Guy Stillman, came to present Mrs. Stillman a bouquet of flowers, several of them wore bandannas.

Railway and Signal Wires

In London Cut by Feiners London, June 17.—(By The Associated Press.)—A campaign of widespread cutting of railway and signal wires and burning of signal cabins around London, attended by violence against signal men, was carried out last night by men who, the police declared, were "Sinn Fein" and members of the Irish Self-Determination league. Nine men were arrested. "It has been known for some time that the heads of the Irish Self-Determination league in London have been in correspondence with the so-called Irish republican army, which has been directing the murders and outrages in Ireland," the police announcement said.

British Miners Are Said To Have Rejected Settlement

London, June 17.—Unofficial reports from various mining districts throughout England indicate the coal miners have rejected the terms offered by the mine owners in settlement of the coal diggers strike which began April 1. There was pessimism over the prospects for ending the strike, which has virtually paralyzed many lines of business.

Finance Minister of Japan Is Pessimistic

Tokio, June 17.—(By The Associated Press.)—The newspapers yesterday gave prominence to a statement by Baron Takahashi, the finance minister, concerning Japan's economic relations with China, in which he declares that Japan, which has poor national resources, must realize the economic interdependence of Japan and China. He pointed out that China's trade alone has shown a favorable balance in Japan's recent foreign commerce.

The new Chinese consortium, he continues, is an economic syndicate of which railway loans are the principal object. The newspapers quote the concluding paragraph of Baron Takahashi's statement as follows: "In the event of the new consortium failing to give effective services in this direction, I believe it may be found necessary for Japan to act independently and take such measures as would furnish the railway loan, with the approval of the Diet and under guarantee of the government."

Congressional Leaders Confer on Peace Plans

Washington, June 17.—Republican senate and house leaders began today an informal attempt to settle differences between the peace resolutions passed by the two houses. Senators Lodge and Knox, author of the senate resolution, were said to have held that the house resolution did not protect American property adequately. The conference will be continued tomorrow.

330-Foot Steel Bridge Collapses at Brattleboro

Brattleboro, Vt., June 17.—A new steel bridge, 330 feet long, being built across the Connecticut river here, collapsed today. A working party of 23 men were on it when it went into the river, but all were saved.

Another Chorus Beauty Files a Divorce Suit

Triangle Result of Gay Party On New Amsterdam Roof —Wife No. 2 Sticks With Hubby.

New York, June 17.—The filing of a suit for divorce in Poughkeepsie by Olga Harting Mackay, former Ziegfeld chorus beauty, against Donald Francis Mackay, former Yale athlete, sportsman and wealthy man about town, has brought to light another triangle. Mr. Mackay says he has no recollection of ever having married the former Ziegfeld beauty and is married and living happily with a divorcee prominent in New York society.

Hubby Tires of Dodging Chairs So Asks Divorce

For three months Opro Aldia has been dodging chairs wielded by his wife, Martha, in their home, 3535 Monroe street, he declares in a petition for divorce filed yesterday in district court. The wedding bells rang for them just two years ago this month. But her love has waned, he says, or rather has switched, he alleges, to one John Negra. He says she has threatened to take his life.

St. Louis Fur Exchange Holds Last Auction

St. Louis, Mo., June 17.—The passing of the International Fur exchange at which some of the largest auctions in the history of the trade were held was announced this afternoon following a conference between bankers and officers of the exchange.

Men Must Stand Trial For High Court "Leak"

Washington, June 17.—Ashton R. Embury, James Harwood Graves, Barnett E. Moses and E. Milard Meyer, must go to trial on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the United States in connection with "leaks" on supreme court decisions. Justice Siders of the District of Columbia supreme court today overruled their demurrer that the indictment did not charge a crime was committed against the government.

An investigation of rumors that advance information on decisions had been used to influence the stock market resulted more than a year ago in the arrest of the men. Embury was a clerk in Justice McKenna's office, Graves, an attorney in the Department of Justice, and Moses, a Washington lawyer. Meyer formerly was in business in Cincinnati.

The BEE BOOK MARKET

As pleasant a novel for summer reading as one need hope to find is "The House With the Golden Windows," by J. E. Buckrose (published by Doran). It is the story of an English girl who fell heir to the fortune of an old family, although under conditions amounting to fraud on the part of the man she believed to be her father. Wooed then for her fortune, only to be jilted when, in spite of her rascally suitor, she decides to renounce her wealth, she later is rewarded by a romance of the true blue kind.

The golden sunshine of an English seaside village, the good humor and the kindly gossip of small town life, the cleanliness and charm as of the sparkling waters and the sea breezes, all go to make this a jolly novel.

One-Minute Store Talk

"Why, I know stores that would call up every man in town on the telephone if they could give value half as good as yours. Will you people ever get over the idea that all men have learned to compare values and do it without being urged to do it. Isn't there some way to let all know emphatically what you are giving to your customers?" said an enthusiastic patron here yesterday.

Most Men Do Compare—That's Why This Store Grows and Grows. COMPARE!

A Novel with Sweet and Appealing Religious Atmosphere is "A Bridal Trip in a Prairie Schooner," by Gilbert Guest, the pen name of an Omaha woman who has written a number of novels, plays and books of essays from the Catholic standpoint.

The dangers of a journey across the woods of a western camp, the situation of women, cast among the teeming bachelor life of a primitive community, and the strong faith that brought happiness and security are powerfully depicted in this romance. It is published by the Burklely Printing company, Omaha.

A practical and simple work on a most popular subject is "Outwitting Our Nerves," by Dr. Josephine A. Jackson and Helen M. Salisbury. Many misapprehensions which complicate existence for so many people are cleared away by this interesting recital of the effect of what may be called plain psychic common sense.

Through the discussion of various cases met with in medical practice the authors convey an easy fundamental knowledge of the nature and uses of psychoanalysis. Published by the Century company.

A real boy's story of adventure among the Hindus is "The Emerald Buddha," by Joseph B. Ames. Two boys share the thrills and brave the terrors of a journey through India, laden with this precious gem. Published by Small, Maynard & Co.

"A Free Union," by Mary Marcy published by Charles H. Kerr & Co., is a one-act play based on the struggle for freedom and the love of man for woman, which in some cases may approach the instinct for property. There is humor of a kind in it, but still not of a sort for open display.

"The Case of Korea," written by Henry Chung, Korean commissioner to America and Europe, is a powerful

The concise record of how a large city church met the problem of religious education triumphantly is told in "A New Way to Solve Old Problems," by Frank E. Duddy (published by Scribner's.) Everyone engaged in Sunday school work and in making it a greater asset to his church will find much that is helpful and suggestive in these pages.

In England, during the reign of George III, fashionable ladies wore head-dresses which involved so much preparation that they were often not undone for weeks.
