May Begin Your Training at Any Time in College

Business School Head Points Out Advantages of Enrolling in Courses During Summer Months.

"If you plan to enter the business world, it would be well to start your business training at once, and not waste the summer."

For one thing, business men are watching you, though you may not realize it. They are constantly on the lookout for young men and young women who have the right "stuff" in them. They want young people who are producers, not idlers.

In the second place, by entering actually be from $180 to $375 ahead upon a business course now, instead of waiting until fall, you can accept a position three months earlier and if you want to know in dollars and cents how much it will cost you to postpone your start, multiply the salary you might receive by each week's delay.

"There is positively no need for any one to wait until fall to start his business training," remarked H. B. Boyles, president of Boyles college. "He can enroll here any day. Every day is an enrollment day with us."

"The courses are so arranged that we can and do take care of new students at any time. Since all beginners are given individual training, it makes positively no difference when they enter. They can start at once. They will not be held back on account of anybody else, and they will get the same intensive training during the summer months that they would get if they started at the opening of the regular fall term."

Summer Class of Misner School Opens for Work

The summer class of the Misner School of the Spoken Word opened Monday, June 13, with the largest enrollment for summer work in the history of the school. There are special courses being offered for beginners, professionals and teachers.

During the summer the dramatic department will produce a number of plays and playlets, which will be rendered in the studio auditorium. The first recital of the season was held in the studio on Saturday morning, June 18. Mrs. Katherine Morgan Hayes read the play "Experience." Short readings were given by Norma Lee Towne and John Darbow. Recitals will be held on each Saturday during the summer school at either the studio auditorium or in one of the local parks.

Creighton University.

The ninth session of the Creighton university summer school opens with registration Tuesday, June 21, and classes begin on the following day. They will be held every day except Sundays and Independence day, and will close Tuesday, August 2. Courses will be offered in biology, botany, chemistry, education, English, expression, French, German, history, Latin, philosophy, physics, physical sciences, and Spanish.

The Creighton summer school draws students from a very broad territory. Last year the 175 registrants represented Nebraska, Iowa, Wisconsin, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Kentucky, Tennessee, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, California, Oregon, Washington, Montana, South Dakota, Minnesota and Nova Scotia.

The pleasant summer weather of Omaha makes it a good location for a summer school.

The clergy of the Omaha diocese were assembled at Creighton university from Monday evening June 13, to Friday morning, June 17, to follow a course of spiritual exercises directed by the Rt. Rev. J. Henry Thiel, D. D., Bishop of Denver. The assembly at Creighton is an annual affair. The spiritual exercises are a brief, but intensive course. They consist of religious services and a series of talks. The Diocese of Omaha covers more than 14,000 square miles, comprising 23 counties of the state of Nebraska. It has more than 160 diocesan priests and a Catholic population of more than 26,000.

The Rev. William P. Whalen, rector of the Sacred Heart church, returned to Omaha Thursday evening, June 16, from O'Neill, Neb., where he had conferred the honors and delivered the address to the graduates at the commencement of the Twenty-first year of St. Mary's academy. He left again Thursday, June 17, for Chicago, to attend a conference of the regents of a number of American medical schools.

Papillion News.

Miss Esther Fricke and Edward E. Sandfort were married Saturday by Rev. Johansen, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist church. They will live at Humboldt.

Eleven applicants for citizenship papers in Safford county passed the final tests in district court.

Miss Maxine Fry is visiting at the home of her uncle, C. S. Fry, near Irvington. Miss Lilly Bolling is attending summer school at the state university at Lincoln.

Miss Ida Langdon, who has been attending college in Massachusetts, spent several days with her father, A. E. Langdon.

Claude Welch returned Saturday from Kentucky, where he attended the wedding of his brother, Lieutenant Clarence Welch. Anthony Hughes, county highway commissioner, has been deputized by Governor McKelvie as a special deputy state sheriff to enforce automobile laws, especially seeing that proper licenses and tags are secured, glaring headlights controlled, etc.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miller spent Sunday at the Mrs. J. N. Chase home.

A divorce was granted Mrs. Anna Kovach from her husband, Peter Kovach, in district court. She was allowed $1,500 permanent alimony.

Mrs. J. Johansen and two children left this week for Missouri, where they will spend about three weeks visiting relatives.

A. E. Langdon left Monday for McAlester, Okla., where he is attending to legal matters. He goes from there to Texas and then to Missouri.

Wayne Teachers' College.

The two gala events of the year at the Wayne normal are booked for this week: the banquet of the Nehardt club Thursday and homecoming day for the alumni Friday. Mr. Nehardt comes from his winter home in Branson, Mo., and will read lines from his unpublished poem, "The Song of the Indian Wars," the third piece of the national epic which Nehardt is composing.

The celebration of homecoming will consist of a special chapel service; a play, "Triumph of Pauline," and the alumni banquet, when the class of 1921 will be admitted into full fellowship. The officers of the association are: Margaret Schenel, president; Elizabeth Mines, vice president; Minnie Marquardt, secretary. Arrangements for the homecoming were made by the secretary, Miss Marquardt.

Prof. Fred G. Dale of the state university has been chosen director of physical education for men in the normal.

Keareney Teachers' College.

Under the direction of Principal Yeakam, Hans Olsen is conducting what has been termed an "opportunity school." The pupils are those from the fifth, sixth and seventh grades, who are either ahead or behind the average in the class. A variety of tests are being used in the study of these children and individual instruction given in order that they may more exactly fit the grade next fall.

Mr. H. W. Noyer delivered the first address before the Summer Rural club, his subject being, "The Present Tendencies in Educational Finance." He stated that we had reached the limit of taxation for education on its present basis. With great force and clarity he pointed out the present injustice in the distribution of funds for educational purposes and the consequent inequality of opportunity of children in the country, as compared with those in the city.

Chadron Normal College.

Authorities are gratified with the large enrollment this summer. The enrollment at present, is the largest in the history of the institution and some are still enrolling. The registration in some classes is from 60 to 70. Many of these young people are preparing to teach during the coming year and have come to receive the necessary normal training.

Improvements are constantly being made on the normal campus. A new sidewalk from the main building to the gymnasium and from the gymnasium to the girls' dormitory will be completed this month. The work of enlarging the heating plant is now under way.

The large school garden is helping to feed the large numbers of students who take meals at the dormitory. Owing to the many recent rains the garden is looking finer than is usual at this time of year.

You who are graduating from High School or Prep School—toward what goal does your ambition point?

Do you lean toward a career in business or in one of the professions? Is it your intention to become an educator, a scientist, an agricultural expert? Do you plan to prepare yourself for the strenuous battle of life by thorough training in any line?

There has never been a time when such training was more essential, when its advantages were more apparent. We live in an era of transition and adjustment; in a world new-born after the cataclysm. Profound changes have been wrought. Trying times and times of glorious opportunity are just ahead.

The University trained man or woman will approach these trials, these opportunities, equipped with sound training and sure knowledge. And, in comparison with these advantages, the time, the effort, the money involved in securing such training will count as little.

Your State University, time-honored and hallowed in tradition, offers a well-rounded education in your chosen vocation, together with a host of pleasant and worth while activities for your leisure hours. A comprehensive curriculum, an unexcelled corps of professors and instructors; athletics, debating societies, music, dramatics—all these await you at Lincoln.

Especially interesting to you will be the literature describing the University and its manifold activities, which is now ready for distribution to 1921 Seniors. Send for your copy. It will be of help to you in making your plans for the future.
