Workers Declare Prohibition of Soviet Demonstrations Abridges Their Rights of Liberty.

Mexico City, June 24.—Protests against the recent federal order prohibiting bolshevik demonstrations and the flying of the communist flag from public buildings were voiced by a committee representing the coal miners of the state of Coahuila, which called upon Secretary of the Interior Calles and should be allowed to fly unless such action contravened the law.

General Calles declared there was some confusion among officials regarding the flag of communism. The prohibiting order stated that the flag was red and black, when, in fact, red is the color of the communists. The red and black flag, the secretary asserted, was the banner of workers the world over and should be allowed to fly unless such action contravened the law.

Reprimand Given Sims By Secretary of Navy

people think they are asses; but each one of these asses had a vote and it is one of the inconveniences of a republican form of government that American-born citizens thought it necessary to cater to these votes. This necessarily created a wrong impression on this side as to the sentiments of the great body of Americans; but the people of Great Britain know how much confidence to place in resolutions which are forced by these jackass votes.

Prophecy Came True.

"Eleven years ago I made a prophecy which came true. I will venture another now: I believe I shall live to see the day when the English-speaking peoples of the world will come together in bonds of comradeship, and if they will be able to run this round globe. Personally, I believe I shall live to see an inter-English speaking policy and when we have that we shall have all that is needed to secure peace and prosperity in the world."

"The department insists on maintaining both the precedent and the propriety which a government servant of your position discussing such matters in a foreign country."

"That the impropriety of such public utterances has once before been brought to your attention is shown by the fact that a public reprimand was administered to you in 1911 for making the following statement in a public speech in London:

"If the time ever comes when the British empire is seriously menaced by an external enemy it is my opinion that you may count upon every man, every dollar, every drop of blood of your kindred across the sea."

Disregard of Instructions.

"In the reprimand above mentioned the duties and responsibilities of officers of the navy who speak in public were clearly and fully set forth. Your remarks on the occasion now under discussion therefore constitute a flagrant and deliberate disregard of specific instructions."

"The department is not unmindful of your record and achievements as an officer of the navy, but the conspicuous position you now hold, coupled with the fact that you have previously offended in a similar manner, merely serves to add to the gravity of the present offense."

"The department deprecates the effect that it is necessary to rebuke a flag officer in public, but you have made such action unavoidable."

"The department expresses its strong and unqualified disapproval of your conduct in having again delivered a highly improper speech in a foreign country and you are hereby publicly reprimanded."

Misquoted Speech.

"Mr. Denby misquoted the speech of 1911, according to Admiral Sims, who says in his book that he referred to the menace of the British empire not by an 'external enemy,' but by 'a European coalition.' In 1910 the admiral, then captain, reported to his chief that Germany was preparing to precipitate war for world conquest within four years."

"In his letter to Secretary Denby, the admiral said he had been misquoted in cabled American reports of his speech, which contained this quotation:

"We have a class of people on the other side who are technically Americans, some of them born there; some naturalized. They are at war against America today and at war against you. The simple truth is they have the blood of American and English boys on their hands."

"In no part of my speech did I make any such statement as that just quoted above," said the admiral. "My reference was to the Sinn Fein section of the Irish people who fought us during the war and to Sinn Feiners in America who assisted them to fight us during the war. The above will show the essential difference between the two statements."

Man Knocked Unconscious When Car Tire Blows Out

Pawnee City, Neb., June 24.—(Special)—F. W. Parker, tire dealer, had a narrow escape from serious injury in a peculiar accident. He was putting a new tire on a car when the tire blew out, hurling the metal rim from the wheel against him. It struck him on the forehead, the chin and across the legs. His lip was badly cut and the blow on the forehead rendered him unconscious.

Thumb Severed by Saw

Pawnee City, Neb., June 24.—(Special)—F. A. McDonald, Pawnee City carpenter, suffered an accident in which his left thumb was completely severed from the hand by a buzz saw in his shops. He was alone and walked from the shop to the Pawnee hospital a distance of four blocks, unaided.

Gus Backward About Showing Form

He and Governor Stick in Mud—Hyers Starts for Shore Clad in Moonshine;—Seeing Women on Bank He Dives and Spoils Sunday Suit.

Lincoln, June 24.—(Special)—It took two teams of horses to get Governor McKelvie and Gus Hyers, state sheriff, out of a mudhole near Columbus last night as they were returning from the meeting of officers and peace officers at Norfolk.

They crossed the Platte river bridge in safety, although the machine was driven through water in accomplishing the task. But there were several rivulets left. Going through one the car struck a "chuck" hole.

After a short argument Hyers removed his clothes and started to wade to shore to summon help. Half way across the rivulet Hyers saw women standing on the bank. He waded back to the car, put on his clothes and waded through the rivulet, clothes and all.

One team couldn't pull the car out. After much trouble another team and a Ford car were pressed into service and amid a crowd of 200, which had gathered, the governor steered the car out of the rivulet and the party continued on its way to Lincoln. Governor McKelvie went to Kansas City today to keep a speaking date.

Bitter Debate Marks Hearing On Bonus Bill

Borah Opposes Measure, Taking Stand That Government Is Unable to Pay at This Time.

Washington, June 24.—Soldier bonus advocates and opponents today clashed head-on in the senate yesterday.

Initial debate on the measure which Senator McCumber of North Dakota will call up next week, disclosed that Senator William E. Borah of Idaho will fight against the bonus measure.

Senator Borah stated this afternoon that if the United States government is to economize the congress must not pledge the government to new expenditures in the form of bonuses to soldiers which will aggregate $4,500,000,000.

Senator McCumber, chairman of the subcommittee of the senate finance committee, which conducted the hearings on a just compensation for the soldiers and introduced the bonus bill as favorably reported to the senate last week, today led off in the fight for passage of the legislation.

Adjustment Required. The senator declared that common justice required the government to adjust the compensation of soldiers who offered their lives on the battlefields of Europe, while those who stayed at home extracted unprecedented profits for their labor and products.

"Great as it seems to be when crystallized into dollars and cents," said Senator McCumber, "we are compelled to admit that it is much less than is actually due the soldier selected for military duty as compared with that which was received by his countrymen who performed civil duties only."

"This bonus bill, euphonically called the adjusted compensation bill," said Senator Borah in reply, "should either make an adjusted compensation bill instead of what it is—a pretense—or if the republican party is courageous and honorable it will send this bill back to the committee and do one of two things: Tell the country and the soldiers the bonus cannot be paid in cash or face the prospect of doing it. This bill undertakes to promise 4,000,000,000 in cash to the soldiers and to promise taxpayers that it will not cost them anything."

Declares Scheme Unjust. "I venture to say that every service man understands that it is a proposition to give him $500 or $600 in cash. In fact, it proposes to give him $50 in July, 1922, and $55 every four or five months thereafter. Why the delay, if this is a moral obligation of our country, a delay for three years and a half after the war? It is because we dare not put upon our constituents this $4,000,000,000 obligation and then go out and ask for more money."

"The scheme is unjust to the soldier, the taxpayers and discreditable to the senate."

"We spent $8,000,000,000 in 1920 and I can see no reduction of taxes for the next year. We will soon reach a point beyond which the people will carry their burden no longer. They will reach a point where they cannot carry it longer."

Playette Given at Program Of Wymore Dorcas Society

Wymore, Neb., June 24.—(Special)—The Dorcas society entertained at the home of Mrs. E. N. Ingham, Mesdames J. D. Jones, C. B. Scott, J. S. Jones, E. M. Short, L. H. Jones and John Kinman assisted as hostesses. An attractive feature of the program was a playette, "Six Cups of Chocolate," presented by six of the women. A fish pond and candy booth netted a sum of money. Refreshments were served. Mrs. G. H. Bradford of Seward, a former president of the society, was present.

Harvest Hands Not Needed At Wymore; Asked to Leave

Wymore, Neb., June 24.—(Special)—Twenty-nine young men who said they were looking for work in the harvest fields were picked up around the Burlington yards by officers, who decided to give the bunch a chance to buy tickets and get out of town. The men acted on the suggestion. The harvest of wheat in this part of the country is about all over and but little extra help was hired as farmers pooled their labor and helped each other.

City Will Protest Raise Asked by Telephone Co.

Central City, Neb., June 24.—(Special)—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Commercial club, Secretary Henry Phares was instructed to file a protest with the state railway commission against the increase in rates requested by the Northwestern Bell Telephone company.

Fire Destroys Tent Camp

Pawnee City, Neb., June 24.—(Special)—Fire, supposedly resulted from ashes of a discarded pipe, destroyed a tent camp here which had been established by a group of young men for summer use.

Value of Farms Nearly Doubled In Past 10 Years

In the Great Grain Belt the Average Value Went Up From $10,464 to $22,317.

By ARTHUR M. EVANS. Chicago Tribune-Omaha Bee Leased Wire.

Chicago, June 24.—An increase of $32,994,839,687 was added to the value of the farms of the United States, meaning, value of land and buildings—during the 10 years ended January 1, 1920. Figures released by the bureau of the census place the full value at $67,795,965,384, as compared with $34,801,125,697 on April 15, 1910. It represents an increase in value during the decade of 94.8 per cent. Thus the value of the agricultural plant has been climbing at the rate of about $3,300,000,000 a year, which ought to chirp up husbandry a bit despite the tremendous drop in prices of farm products.

The number of farms increased only 1.4 per cent during the decade; the total areas of land in farms increased 8.7 per cent; the total acres of improved land increased only 6 per cent, while the value of farms nearly doubled. The figures are lower than the estimates in the secretary of agriculture's report last winter, but they are the final authority.

"Maggie" Recognized in Society

Paris Women Ape Mrs. Jiggs' Cavewoman Tactics Made Famous by Cartoonist George McManus.—Turn to Page 14.

By Universal Service. Paris, June 24.—Mrs. Jiggs, whose cavewoman methods of "Bringing Up Father" have started a new longing in the hearts of European women, is to have her part in revolutionizing the fashions of Europe.

Cartoonist George McManus, creator of the Jiggs family, is being blamed by many men for spoiling the cherished femininity of the French women and turned them into domestic dictators.

"Under the racing betting both the modern woman stands; the muscles on her sleeveless arms stand out like iron bands," chattered Cortland Bishop at the paddock in the Autenai track as he watched hundreds of society women demonstrating the new "back to the primitive style." This is the style which decrees that every really fashionable woman shall have athletic arms and legs "a la Carpenter."

While the big fight is ostensibly responsible, the real reason is found in the changing ideas of the smart set, who with one accord are following the "evening gowns for afternoon" fad.

Elegantly slim women decked out in barbarous jewels paraded between the betting booths and the grandstand displaying bare arms and legs with large bands of muscles exposed. One woman from slightly roughed her arms from the elbow up in order to accentuate the physical idea.

Man Found With His Throat Cut; Dies Within Hour

During Moment of Consciousness Says "I Don't Remember What Happened"—Has Feared Murder.

With throat cut nearly from ear to ear, the body of a man was found lying between two strings of street cars in the rear of the street car barn at Twenty-fourth and Vinton streets yesterday afternoon.

Beside the body lay a bloody knife. Walter Nelson, 3925 North Twenty-second street, discovered the body and recognized it as that of Matthew Bowers, 50, 3117 South Eighteenth street.

Examination showed he was still living. Nelson ran into the office and summoned police. Drs. J. S. Keuren and J. P. Swoboda were called.

They stemmed the flow of blood and removed Bowers to the South Side General hospital.

Regains Consciousness. There Bowers regained consciousness for a moment, opening his eyes and gazing with a startled expression on his surroundings.

"What made you do it?" he was asked by detectives. "I don't remember a thing. Everything just went black all of a sudden," the detectives say he replied, and fell into unconsciousness.

An hour later he died.

Feared Slayer. Bowers had been working for the street car company for two years, officials at the office said. At certain times he became obsessed with the fear some one was seeking to take his life, fellow employees declared, but would never give a reason why he felt that way.

Yesterday he complained to the foreman of the South Side street car barn that some one was "after him," they said.

When he was first taken to the hospital, the doctors said he had an even chance for recovery because the knife thrust had failed to sever the jugular vein.

Talked in Sleep. Bowers' wife told Detectives Brinkman and Kean her husband had labored for some time under the impression some one was seeking to take his life, and at times even talked in his sleep of his fears, the officers reported to South Side police headquarters.

Bowers' body was turned over to the Larkin morgue pending a probable inquest.
