

No Relief Seen From Heat Wave By Weather Man

"Ideal Circus Weather," His Only Consolation; Sunday Night Clouds Showered At Clarinda

No relief from the heat wave is yet sighted by M. V. Robins, local meteorologist. "Well, it's ideal circus weather," was all he could offer in consolation. "The record is 4 degrees above normal each day for the first 10 days of July."

Yesterday started out with a temperature of 75 at 5 o'clock, two degrees less than either Sunday or Saturday, when the mercury reached the height of 96 and 97, but the heat effect was just the same, despite the slight variation.

No shortage in the ice supply is feared on account of the big demand during the hot spell.

Private concerns and the municipal plant say they believe the supply on hand will be sufficient.

A wee shower, .08 of an inch, at Clarinda, Ia., was all that materialized out of the black storm clouds which hung in the sky Sunday evening, according to weather reports.

Clear weather is the forecast for the whole state, said Robins. An unidentified Mexican and Norman Clayton, negro laborer with the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, were heat victims here Sunday. The Mexican was picked up unconscious at the Union Pacific yards about 4 and taken to St. Joseph hospital. The negro was overcome at the corner of Twelfth and Cass streets and found by a police officer. He was able to return to the show grounds after being treated by the police surgeon.

Memory of Dead Daughter Impels Gift to Ice Fund

"Lover of Babies" Also Contributes; Visiting Nurses See That The Bee Aid Is Distributed Properly

Poignant but undoubtedly sweet are the memories conjured up for two loving parents who sent a $5 check to The Bee's milk and ice fund for needy Omaha children with this inscription: "In memory of, 'My name is Florence but daddy calls me Chatty.'"

Knowledge that their gift will help provide milk to nourish some equally lovely, prattling child as their own was to them, should comfort the bereft parents immeasurably.

"Please accept the enclosed bill along with my best wishes for the continued growth of your fund for the wee tots of Omaha," wrote "A Lover of Babies."

Milk and ice purchased by The Bee fund is distributed through the agency of the Visiting Nurses' association.

Sheriffs Raid Beer Garden; Arrest Four Bartenders

Deputy Sheriffs Halter, Hoye, Johnson and Quackenbush spoiled the joy of 300 merry-makers late Saturday night when they swopped down on the farm of Ollie Kanef, eight miles west of the city. The deputies arrested four "bartenders," who were released Monday morning on $200 bonds. Two trucks were required to bring the confiscated liquor back to the court house. Deputies said the place was doing a roaring business, making about $900 a day profit. Several inmates were arrested.

TIZ FOR SORE, TIRED FEET

Goodbye, burning feet; swollen, tender, tired feet. No more limping over hot sidewalks with your feet "on fire." No more standing day after day on aching feet. No more shoe tightness, limping with pain. Tiz draws out the poisonous exudations that cause puffed-up, burning feet. What gladness, comfort, rest when foot misery ends. Get a small box of Tiz now at any drug store. Don't suffer. A year's foot comfort guaranteed for a few cents.

City Employes Must Know What to Do When Person Faints

City Commissioner J. B. Hummel of the park and playground department believes that every man should know how to comport himself in case a woman should faint in his presence, and every woman should know her duty if a man should faint.

Members of the park department must know. Questionnaires have been sent to the playground supervisors, asking them what they would do if a playground attendant should faint.

Wrote Laura Thuringer, supervisor of Riverview playground: "If someone should faint on my playground I should lay him on the ground in a cool spot and get some cold water, sponge his face and head until he comes to, keep him quiet for a while and then see that he gets home safely."

"If possible give him some stimulant and keep quiet," wrote Helen Weymuller.

"But where do you get the stimulant," asked Commissioner Hummel.
