Membership in the rival teams is as follows: Coyotes: Doc Frye, captain; Warren Blackwell, Elmer Rosengren, A. F. Rasp, William VonKrug, W. Elrod, Art Rogers, Porter, Allan Sam Dresher, W. H. Wagonseller, Don Amsden and George Heintze.

Omaha Is Using More Water This Year Than Last

Daily Consumption Increased Three Gallons for Each Person—Improvements In Gas Plant Planned.

Increase of city water consumption in Omaha this year amounts approximately to three gallons a day for each person more than the average daily consumption of last year.

This was deduced from figures submitted by General Manager R. B. Howell to the Metropolitan Utilities board yesterday afternoon. Mr. Howell's report showed that for the year ended June 30, 1921, the average daily consumption was 24,866,667 gallons, as against an average of 24,270,000 for the year ending June 30, 1920. Mr. Howell presented to the board a report from C. D. Robison, operating engineer of the municipal gas works, recommending improvements which will cost $115,300, estimated. The matter was referred to the committee on construction for investigation and report.

The principal item of the proposed gas plant improvements is a new 11-foot carburetted water gas set of modern design, to cost about $70,000. The improvements as outlined would give the plant a capacity of 6,000,000 cubic feet per 24 hours.
