

Baby Lips Plead For Cooled Milk; Ice Fund Gives It

Visiting Nurses Find Many Omaha Homes in Need of Relief During Hot Summer

"Please, mamma, may I have a drink of milk?"

Lipsed by baby lips, this simple little plea would be vain in many Omaha homes were it not for The Bee's free milk and ice fund.

For there are many homes in the city too poor to have on hand this necessity of child life, so the Visiting Nurse association finds.

In such homes, and for such helpless little ones, milk and ice are provided daily throughout the hot summer by The Bee.

More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

A FEW WORDS ABOUT BUNK

I know that the manifold millions Which prominent persons possess, Are a burden of care that is grievous to bear And bring only grief and distress. I frequently hear them complaining That fortune is hard to endure, And wishing they might share the simple delight That alone can be known by the poor. And I've wondered, if sorrow increases As bonds and investments accrue, Why they cling to their store, and keep on making more— Yet somehow or other, they do.

I know that a statesman holds office At a terrible price to himself, That the ungrateful state lays the man who runs straight With a sneer of contempt, on the shelf. I've often heard statesmen asserting In voices they scarce could control, That the struggle and strife of political life Destroys a man, body and soul. And I've wondered, if such is their feeling, That they ever hold office at all. Yet the very same men will be running again For the very same jobs in the fall.

I know that the lot of an author Is more than uncommonly tough; He has few delights,—has the person who writes,— And nobody pays him enough. Great authors will frequently tell you They wish they had learned to be cooks Any life they'd prefer, so they frankly aver, To wearing their hearts out on books. And I've wondered, if authors are martyrs Why they do not speak out, loud and strong, And say that the pen they will not lift again, For I notice they write right along!

DIVISION OF LABOR.

There is no dodging the dairy interests. The farmers raise the cows and the distributors raise the price of milk.

Hustlers for Ak Must Average 15 Members an Hour

Only 180 of Quota of 700 Signed Up, But Both Teams Promise Burst of Speed Today.

But a day and a half remain for the Ak-Sar-Ben membership hustlers to reach their quota of 700 new members.

A total of 180 new members had been rounded up as the sun set gently on the western horizon last night. Here's how the rival membership teams stood:

Coyotes 92 members
Jack Rabbits 88 members

Both teams are determined to show a startling burst of speed today.

"We'll win this race or die in the attempt," quoth "Doc" Frye, captain of the Coyotes.

"We'll walk away with the race," declared Captain Docherty of the Jack Rabbits. "We may be behind, but them Coyotes ain't seen nothing yet."

If the two teams are to bring the total of the drive up to 700 they must average about 15 members each hour, starting at 1 this morning.

"But I think they'll do it," asserted Secretary Gardner.

Matters Asks That Charges Be Quashed

Matters, who recently was released from Leavenworth penitentiary after having served 44 days, requested Attorney Kinsler yesterday to quash the charges which are pending.

City and County Strong Box Contains $10,000,000

The joint strong box of Omaha and Douglas county now contains $10,000,000 in cash and securities, the largest amount ever held at one time by the county and city treasurer.

This amount includes the funds of the school district, the Metropolitan Utilities district and the various city and county departments. Two of the local banks are carrying nearly $1,000,000 each of city and county funds.

Fort Prisoner Bores Through Wall With Knife

Deserter Held Here Escapes From Guard House Under Cover of Electrical Storm.

An ordinary aluminum table knife was the instrument which Rollic Styles used to bore through a 12-inch brick wall at the Fort Omaha guard house, making his escape under cover of an electrical storm Wednesday night.

The fugitive is 25 years old and was brought to the guard house in April from Fort Sheridan, having been arrested for desertion. Last Tuesday he faced a court-martial at Fort Crook and a sentence of two years at Leavenworth prison was imposed.

Styles released the lock of his cell with a back saw which authorities believe was slipped to him by friends. The digging into the wall was done between midnight and 4 a. m., the noise being drowned out by thunder and rain.

The fugitive is said to have worn civilian trousers when he escaped. He is tall and combs his hair in a pompadour. Several companion prisoners stated they knew when he broke the lock, but they did not report the matter.
