Hully-Sage.

Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Sage announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Vera, to Edwin W. Hully of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hully of Elliott, Ia., which took place Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. R. D. Wheeler officiating.

There were no attendants and the ceremony was performed in the presence of relatives and a few friends.

Mrs. Walter Galloway played the wedding march and Raymond Sage, brother of the bride, sang.

The bride wore white satin with a veil of tulle and duchess lace, caught with pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and sweet-peas.

Following a short wedding trip the couple will be at the home of the bride's parents, 2520 South Thirty-second avenue, until September 15, when they will move into their new home at 153 Besley avenue, Council Bluffs.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. William Hully of Elliott, Ia.; Mr. and Mrs. Clay Hully of McLeland, Ia.; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hully, Elliott, Ia.; Miss Clara Hully of Chicago and Miss Ida Reynolds of Union, Neb.

Problems That Perplex

Answered by BEATRICE FAIRFAX.

Brace Up, Jack.
"Dear Miss Fairfax: Worked with a girl at the same place for a year. She left a few months ago, and I can't forget her. We were just friends, and I didn't ask her out, as I knew she had gone with other fellows. As I never had much to do with girls, and am old-fashioned, I don't dare to ask her out. What shall I do? We didn't meet but once since, and I lost my nerve then. What shall I do?"
"JACK,"
Jack, you have to do something for yourself! You know the old story about the faint heart and the fair lady. Brace up, Jack, and dare to ask her out. Call her up on the telephone, and ask if you may call on her first.

That Is Selfish.
"Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a girl of 19, keeping company with a young man five years my senior. I like to enjoy myself and have good times, as I only see him once a week. Now, I would like to join a pleasure club which my girl friends and fellow friends belong to. He objects to it. Do you think I would do with right by not doing so, as I am not engaged to him?"
"MAY,"
To begin with, it is selfish of him not to want you to join the club. Being older, he ought to realize that a young girl like you wants to have a good time, and what more innocent than a club of your girl and boy friends? Join it, I would say. He will probably want to join it himself later.

E. A. S.: My advice to you would be to forget the man who is 10 years older than yourself. I am not sure that this is the right advice in your case, however. Some girls of 18 are discriminating enough to know when they really care for a man and a man that much older than yourself ought to know his own mind. The fact that your parents object to your going with this man and the further fact that he is now going with another girl, lead me to advise you to forget him. I think if he really loved you he would be willing to wait for you and would not care to go out with another girl in the meantime. I am afraid he is not sincere. Finish your high school course and take your parents into your confidence about the man. Your hair is medium brown. Your writing is easily read.
