Ocean Steamers To Be Converted Into Oil Burners

Noted "George Washington' Will Be One of Vessels to Undergo Change in Fuel for Boilers.

By HOLLAND. Some of the managers of ocean steamship lines in which American capital is invested, speak doubtfully about the ability even of such a master as is the chief of the shipping board to sell the great number of ships for which a market or disposition of some kind must be found. They say that it should be borne in mind in the first place that Great Britain is marketing the steamers which it received from Germany at about onehalf the amount necessary for duplicating a steamer. Therefore, the American merchant marine will be brought into competition with these low-cost steamers and it will be successful competition unless radical changes in our laws are made.

When the manager of one of the steamship lines was saked if there was any danger of a shortage of oil he replied that recent developments in South America made it certain that fuel oil in ample amounts will hereafter be obtained. Then too, the production of petroleum in the United States is increasing, notwithstanding the prediction that within 10 years we shall have exhausted our oil fields. In the month of May nearly 42,000,000 barrels of petroleum were taken from the American fields and these figures make a new record. How rapidly our petroleum fields are yielding is shown by the fact that in May the dally average production was 1,385,000 barrels. Cattle—About 4,800 cattle were received this morning, just a fair run for a Tuesday, and condition of the trade was much the same as it was on Monday. In the steers competition was best on the yearlings, which sold strong to 10@15c higher, reaching a new top of $9.35. Good handy weights also showed strength, while plain and heavy kinds were slow and in some cases hard to sell. Cows and helfers sold strong to 15c higher, being around 25c higher for the two days. Stockers and feeders were firm at yesterday's advance, supply being rather limited, Western beeves were slow and steady, quality of the arrivals being plain.

which will not receive a fresh coat of paint. There is no drydock on the Atlantic coast except possibly at Newport News, which is large enough to take in a steamship of the size of the George Washington, excepting one at Boston. This Boston drydock, which was built with private capital, was sold to the government. It is now under the control of the Navy department.

As the George Washington is to sail for Europe in a little over two weeks, it was thought advisable to put her into this great drydock. She steamed therefore from New York to Boston a day or two ago, was taken into the dock, scraped and steady, quality of the arrivals being plain.

to Boston a day or two ago, was taken into the dock, scraped and painted. The contract called for the completion of this work in 24 hours. The steamer will be ready to sail for Europe the first week in August.

Ships Not Crowded.

But the managers will not be embarrassed by demands for cabin space. That is true of all the steamers which have sailed from New York since early spring. There has been plenty of cabin space and hone of the steamers will be overcrowded during the rest of the year.

The George Washington and three other steamers of the United States mail line will be, in the course of a few months, cil burners. Late in the fall the equipment of the George Washington will be changed so that it can be made an oil burner. Already the managers of ocean steamship lines are convinced that there are many advantages to be obtained from the use of oil instead of coal. Probably it will not be many months before almost all of the ocean steamers will be offern the use of oil matead of coal. Probably it will not be many months before almost all of the ocean steamers will be been found. Chicago, July 19.-Wheat de-wheat for export and 100,000 bushels corn, latter worked overnight.

Sentiment in wheat was mixed. Market started out with fair recessions and rallied on subsequent trades, only to drop back below yesterday's resting spots. Commission houses had fair buying orders to execute on all dips, while an inclination to sell was noted on the part of locals on any bulge. A good part of the purchases were credited to eastern interests. Seaboard was again after wheat and it was said that additional sales to Germany were overnight. Harvesting is about completed in Illinois and threshing is under way in Iowa.

Pressure on Corn. Pressure on Corn.

Pressure on Corn.

Milling demand locally was of excellent character.

Action in corn was much the same as that in wheat. Local pressure was evident early, because of rains overnight in the central portions of the belt. Commission houses supported the market on the break and when wheat had a rally early sellers switched to the buying side. However, additional opposition was encountered on the buige and prices weakened. Forecast is for generally cool weather. Resports from Illinois and Iowa told of the excellent progress of the corn crop and every indiaction is for good yields generally. Cash market started out easier with no change being made in discounts. Receipts were estimated at 150 cars.

Oats dropped at the outset on selling by a prominent commission house. Locals and scattered commission house buying absorbed the offerings on the way down and when wheat rallied oats followed. Offerings came out on the upturn and values saged. Trade in this grain during the early hours was without much feature and prices were inclined to trail other grains. Country offerings of oats were so poor that they were not even threshed. Cash oats started unchanged. Cash rye, ½ @1c lower; No. 2 rye sold at $1.27@1.27½. Receipts, 41 cars.

Pit Notes.

One carso of wheat was reported bought Milling demand locally was of excellent while the export demand was slow except for a moderate business to Germany. Portland, (Ore.) grain authorities estimate the wheat crop of Washington, Oregon and Idaho at $5,000,000 bushels, which will break all previous records. Harvest is ready to begin, The Washington crop is estimated at 50,000,000 bushels. Oregon, 22,000,000 and Idaho 23,000,000 bushels.

Gulf premiums were a little lower today and the general export demand was quiet, with Germany about the only country reported as taking an active interest in the market.

It is understood there are about 5,000 cars of all grain on track in and around Chicago, mostly wheat.

Spring wheat flour prices were down about $1 per barrel from the recent top yesterday, owing to the decline in wheat prices. Minneapolis mills were asking $10,50 for their best brands to the retail trade. Rye flour was 25c off.

Export corn sales over night were placed at 100,000 bushels. The domestic inquiry was moderate.

Market More Cheerful.

In the second place, word overnight from Washington was to the effect that the threatened import duty on petroleum had been abandoned, and that in the new tariff measure, oil would be on the free list. Both developments affected particular groups of stocks, but other issues were carried along to advances by the moderate buying which developed and at the close the market presented a more cheerful appearance.

The recovery in the foreign exchanges was more or less a rebound such as usually follows any severe reaction. Sterling closed the day at $3.59%, as compared with $3.59% on Monday. This can not be looked upon as other than a very moderate advance after such a severe decline as has taken place. Exchange on Paris, Rome, Amsterdam, Berlin and Madrid showed better rates prevailing. Trading, however, continued quiet.

Shipments of agricultural products from the United States during June amounted to $150,675,917, an increase of approximately $7,000,000 over the May figures, but well under the agricultural exports in June of last year, which amounted to $222,192,991. Breadstuffs, meat and dairy products increased in value, while cotton, mineral oils and cotton seed oil declined as compared with the May figures. For the 12 months ended June 30, agricultural products show a failing off as compared with the year ended June, 1920, of more than $300,000,000, which, of course, is in part, accounted for by the decline in commodity prices.

New York, July 19.—Steadiness at the opening of the cotton market this morning, when prices were generally 4@7 points higher, was based upon firm cables, a forecast for showery weather over the belt and local Wall street and capies, a luteral color over the belt and local Wail street and Liverpool buying. Spot houses and New Orleans sold moderately, and after the start the list was about steady, having lost all of its early gain under this pressure. There also was scattered selling by room traders.

Much of the trading around midday was the the way of switching between October

Much of the trading around midday was in the way of switching between October and December at a difference of about 48 points and it was evident new buying was favoring the December rather than the nearer positions. Further boil weevil talk and the certain weather prospects held the market steady.

The market became still firmer on covering and buying due to buillish crop and spot reports at a net advance of 14@ 15 points.

New York Coffee.

New York, July 19.—The market for coffee futures acted somewhat heavy to-day, owing to a poor spot demand, liberal receipts at primary points, large stock and lower firm offerings, which caused moderate commission house selling and a decline that dropped September to 6.32c; December to 6.75c, and March to 7.05. While there was some trade buying of September against sales of actual, it had little stimulating effect, owing to the easier Brasil cables and the market from the opening, which was 2 points lower, continued under scattered selling pressure all day and at the close was 1 to 8 points net lower, July, 6.13c; September, 6.33c; December, 6.74c; January, 6.85c; March, 7.05c; May, 7.25c.
