

Rohrer to Shut Down on Alcohol For Drug Stores

Pharmacy Owners Must Toe Mark Says Enforcement Officer Who Also Has Eye On Wholesalers

No more alcohol can be obtained by any druggist in the state who has been convicted for violation of the "dry" laws until he can prove he is now selling in good faith.

U. S. Rohrer, state prohibition enforcement chief, so outlined his stand against "black-listed" druggists yesterday on the heels of Wednesday's big conference of city, county, state and federal "dry" enforcement officials.

"The burden of proof is going to be on the druggist to show this office why his withdrawal of alcohol should not be restricted," Rohrer declared.

Gets State List.

He said he had requested Gus Hyers, state sheriff, to furnish him the names of all druggists or other license holders in the state who have been "black-listed" for any anti-dry charge.

"The next time any one of these men applies to have alcohol drawn on his liquor permit, his application will be refused unless he can show this office why he should be again permitted to use his withdrawal sheet," said Rohrer.

Watch Wholesalers.

Special watch will be kept on wholesalers who may be overstepping the limits, Rohrer intimated.

"I shall also write to other state officials who may have additional names of past violators to furnish me," he said.

Records from Minneapolis, the former district supervisor's office, relative to Nebraska cases, have been shipped to Omaha, Rohrer was today informed.

He has not yet been notified when to expect the three or four federal agents who will be transferred to his department from Minneapolis.

Evils of Moonshine.

Rohrer announced his intention to keep the public informed from time to time of the evils in the wake of bootleg whisky.

"Medical men in the state are advocating more insane asylums and other state institutions for the care of the unfortunate—all meaning increased taxation—unless something is done to wipe out this evil."

"Blindness, in the vast host of illnesses has been increased to untold proportions by 'white mule' whisky," he declared.

Wireless Telephone News Service for Farmers, Plea

Washington, July 21.—A wireless telephone news service for farmers and business organizations made up of government information, including market reports, was proposed today by members of the national radio service commission in session here.

The commission was appointed by Postmaster General Hays and Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

Proponents of the service said the radio stations of the air mail service could be used to disseminate the information requested by many farmers, bank and county officials.

The postal radio stations cross the continent at about 400-mile intervals and each would serve 125,000 square miles of territory.

High School Athlete Near Death From Broken Back

Lincoln, July 21.—Emil Deuser, 18, of this city, a son of A. Raymond, Nebraska banker, was probably fatally injured last night. He broke the fifth vertebrae of his back while swimming. Deuser and some companions were swimming in the "sand pits" near town and his companions say that he dove into shallow water, striking on his head.

During the past two years the boy has been acclaimed one of the best all-round high school athletes in Nebraska. He has not regained consciousness and is paralyzed except for his head and shoulders, physicians state.

Monroe Farmer Dies of Injuries in Auto Accident

Denver, Colo., July 21.—(Special Telegram.)—Injuries suffered when his automobile plunged over a cliff near Berthoud Pass, 12 miles above Idaho Springs, Sunday resulted in the death at the county hospital of A. Bigley, 36, a farmer of Monroe, Neb. Had Bigley lived, according to the doctors, he would have been a cripple for life. His wife is in the hospital also with a broken ankle and several deep lacerations. His son, Henry, has a broken leg and numerous bruises. The touring party was injured when the steering apparatus broke and caused Bigley to lose control of his car.

Lincoln, July 21.—(Special.)—Thorne A. Brown of the state railway commission returned to Lincoln today from Chicago, where he was appointed a committee of five to represent railroad commissions of western states in their fight for lower freight rates. Monk Wields Wicked Tail and Wins Draw In Battle With Dog

Grand Island, Neb., July 21.—(Special.)—If the monkey didn't have a tail things might have ended differently; but it was a great fight which lasted. An interested group of spectators gathered in front of the municipal water and electric plant witnessed a fight between a "monk," the pet property of Aviator Smith, statute-proof features.

For a moment the monkey had wandered away from its master and was challenged by a dog. The fight began and with it the activities of the monkey's tail.

It coiled and uncoiled. It patted the dog on the nose and encircled his neck. The dog grew angry and growled; the monkey danced and smiled; the crowd cheered and laughed.

After a display of tactics lasting fully 10 minutes, both contestants, apparently through some tacit and unspoken agreement, called a halt, and the tail withdrew with the monkey. Fido seemed to have been outclassed and to be nursing aching jaws from snapping at the atmosphere. He had fought but it was against the handicap of a wickedly wielded tail.

"Some tail," commented a departing fight fan.

Body of Drowned Youth Is Found

Lost Life While Trying to Ford Nemaha River During Flood on Horseback

Pawnee City, Neb., July 21.—(Special.)—The body of a man who attempted to cross the waters of the swollen Nemaha river a few days ago on horseback, has been found. The horse, saddled and bridled, was found shortly after the water went down, but no owner or rider could be located at that time.

The body was found by a boy in a clump of bushes some distance up the river from where the horse was found. It was so badly decomposed that identification was difficult. He was finally identified as a young man who had been working in Seneca, Kan. He is not well-known and no relatives are known. He had evidently ridden to Dubois, Neb., and attempted a crossing of the flooded stream.

The body was taken to Seneca and an attempt will be made to locate relatives or friends.

Former Soldier and Wife Hiking Across Country

Fremont, Neb., July 21.—(Special.)—Walter H. King, recently discharged from the U. S. army, and wife passed through Fremont on the way by foot from San Francisco to Rhode Island. This is Mr. King's fifth transcontinental hike. His first was made in 1911 when he failed in an attempt to lower the record established by Weston, world's champion hiker, who crossed the country in 92 days.

The couple have been walking for two months and expect to reach their destination by the middle of September. The object of the hike this time is to benefit the health of Mrs. King, who has gained in weight and health surprisingly.

The deserts in Utah and Wyoming presented their greatest trouble because of the scarcity of water. By following the railroads, their caravans were filled at the section houses along the railroad.

Aurora Makes Money on Sale of Paving Bonds

Aurora, Neb., July 21.—(Special.)—By reason of an agreement with the contractor on the paving here, made at the time the contract was let, the city council has saved the people of Aurora about $7,600. In the original contract they provided that the contractor should take the bonds at a specified rate if the council was not able to dispose of them at a rate more advantageous to the city. Mr. Chapin, the contractor, was able to sell the bonds at par and at a rate less than the council could sell them in the open market.

Row Is Resumed Between Coyotes And Jack Rabbits

King Ak Finds He's Short 256 Subjects and Orders Roundup to Start August 5

Those Coyotes and Jack Rabbits just won't stay peaceful. They're at each other's throats in membership drives for Ak-Sar-Ben.

Members of both sides sat down amicably Wednesday night to a big dinner of roasting ears, chicken, and everything in the Live Stock exchange.

Everything went along smoothly until it was learned that King Ak is short just 256 subjects before equalling last year's memberships.

And then the fight was on. At each other's throats went the Coyotes and Jack Rabbits again, and they were only restrained when a decision was reached to launch another membership drive to close August 5. The total membership now is 4,105 Knights of Ak-Sar-Ben.

Everett Buckingham promised another dinner at the end of the drive. Charles Docherty will remain as Chief Jack Rabbit while "Doc" Frye stays as leading Coyote. Each team member was given a belt with his initials on the sterling silver buckle.

Next Monday night, the Omaha Base Ball club and visiting team will be entertained at the Den.

August 8 will be live stock night and the following Monday the professional men will be the guests of the king.

Former Army Nurses To Operate Hospital

Fremont, Neb., July 21.—(Special.)—The management of the Fremont hospital has been transferred from Mrs. Marie L. White to Miss Nora O'Connor and Miss Laura Nielsen, former army nurses, connected with the institution for the last two years.

Miss O'Connor, formerly head nurse of the hospital, will act as superintendent, assisted by Miss Nielsen. Miss O'Connor served 14 months in the army nurse corps, spending 11 months in France. Miss Nielsen was stationed at an edarbak hospital on this side and is a graduate of the Jenny Edmundson hospital at Council Bluffs. Both are members of the American Legion.

The hospital will be operated by graduate nurses in the future and no more student nurses will be allowed to enter. The Fremont hospital was built in 1897 and was furnished by the Fremont I. O. O. F. lodge.

Carnival Company Victor In Fight at Grand Island

Grand Island, Neb., July 21.—(Special.)—A truce seems to have been accomplished between the city and county authorities on the one hand, and a carnival company, which located itself just outside the city limits, but at a point close in to the business section. The city authorities are without jurisdiction. County Attorney Suh threatened injunction proceedings. But it appears that the carnival company was willing to dispense with all gambling or other features that would violate state laws, and is showing only its statute-proof features.

C., as rate expert of the commission to take the position vacant for two years, since the resignation of U. G. Powell. Little will take charge of the rate accounting department August 1. His salary will be $5,000 a year.

Little was in Lincoln today.

Parrot Aids Woman Trail Her Husband

Errant Spouse Believed on Way to Winnipeg With Woman

Crookston, Minn., July 21.—The trail of a talking parrot and tobacco juice is being followed by Mrs. William Hayes in search of her runaway husband, who, she asserts, is making for Canada with another woman. The trail was a week old when the deserted wife took up the search.

Without funds, Mrs. Hayes declared, she had followed the run-aways from their home in West Virginia. Sometimes walking from town to town, sometimes riding on railroad cars and at other times getting a "lift" from passing automobiles, Mrs. Hayes made it a point to ask at every town she visited:

"Have you seen a man who talked tobacco with a woman and a talking parrot in an automobile pass?"

The combination was always remembered, if seen, she said.

She believed her husband is headed for Winnipeg and hopes to overtake the party before it gets to the border to reclaim her parrot, her automobile and, if possible, her husband.

Barrows Explains Joke to Congressmen

Lincoln, July 21.—(Special.)—Failure of the Nebraska representatives at Washington, D. C., to catch the humor in a letter written by Lieutenant Governor P. A. Barrows, recommending himself as a possible solution to the tie-up over the appointment of a United States marshal and telling the delegation he would be a good officer as he always reached the seat of trouble after the trouble was over, necessitated the lieutenant governor writing the delegation today to explain the joke.

"Kindly withdraw my name," Barrows said. "I did not think when I wrote the letter some time ago that it would be taken seriously. It was intended as a 'jolly' of the delegation in a good-natured way, and I thought it would be so considered, knowing that I was already a public official."

State Demurrer In Language Law Suit Overruled

Temporary Injunction Obtained by Lutheran Synod Stills Holds—Delay in Trial Appears Certain.

Fremont, Neb., July 21.—(Special Telegram.)—Suit of the German Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Missouri to enjoin the governor and attorney general of Nebraska from enforcing the Reed-Norval act, on the grounds that the law is unconstitutional, will be tried in the Dodge county district court.

The action was started in the Platte county district court, where the synod obtained a temporary injunction restraining the state from preventing the teaching of German language, and the hearing for a permanent order was held in Dodge county with District Judge F. W. Button presiding.

The state sought to show that a court of equity was not the proper place for a hearing and was overruled on its demurrer that there was no cause for action. The case stands just where it did before. The attorneys for the defense attempted to get quick action, in order to get the case before the supreme court for an early decision, so that there would be no interference with school next fall. As the case now stands, German may be taught until the temporary injunction is dissolved.

The American Legion was injected into the suit and was represented at the hearing by Attorneys William Ritchie and Anan Raymond of Omaha. They took no part in the arguments, but will be heard when the case comes to trial.

Former Judge Alberts of Columbus, Arthur Mullen, Omaha, and Attorney Sandall of York, represented the Synod. Myron Wheeler and Charles Reed, the latter one of the authors of the law, represented the state.

Attorney Wheeler tangled with the court when he argued for a demurrer and asked the privilege of added time for answering if it should be overruled, stating that the state would make a "dogged and persistent fight in the case."

Wheeler and Judge Albert also argued over the same phase and during the discussion Judge Button said that he would overrule the demurrer and put an end to the argument.

Judge Button leaves soon for Colorado and announced that he did not intend to change his plans for this case. As a result months may pass before the case is heard.

$53,000 Damages Asked For Ravages of Flood

Fremont, Neb., July 21.—(Special.)—Claiming that flood damages, resulting from the inadequate protection given from the waters of the Elkhorn, the Idlewild Farm Co. of Fremont has filed suit against the Elkhorn River Drainage district for $53,000. The Idlewild farm consists of 1,400 acres of Dodge county's best land. Mrs. Isabella D. Schneider is president of the company. The plaintiff alleges that the drainage company started the excavation of a ditch through its property and directed the course of the Elkhorn river through that runway. It is claimed that the ditch was never completed and that the part completed was constructed with negligence and disregard.

The land is said to be worth $250 an acre at market value and the plaintiff states that 100 acres has been ruined by the flood, and that buildings and improvements worth $30,000 have been damaged to the extent of $25,000.

This is quite harmless, but to avoid disappointment be sure to get the delatone in the original package.
