

Poor Families Enjoy Outing

Toil-Worn Mothers With Kiddies Forget Cares at Volunteers of America Picnic.

"Did'ja ge enough watermelon and ice cream, Mike?" "Should say I did. Gee, ain't it great out here where it's cool?" Thus did the conversation fly among youthful guests of the Volunteers of America at their annual picnic for poor mothers and children of the city in Elmwood park yesterday. And if the kiddies enjoyed the outing, so too did the mothers. There were mothers carrying babies in their arms and five or six more kiddies hanging to their skirts; there were mothers whose toil-worn hands and care-lined faces told of grueling work and worry.

But for the moment they had cast care aside; their tired eyes brightened and their pale faces became flushed with the fresh air, the excitement of the merry games. Maj. F. McCormick, in charge of the picnic, estimated there were 600 mothers and children present.

There was no creed or nationality recognized at the picnic. There were Italians, Roumanians, Armenians, Russians, Germans and many of native birth. Nor was there any dissension; all were too busy enjoying the all-too-short hours of freedom.

Mrs. Laura Hoffman and Alice McCormick had charge of the games. Mayor Dahlman, after inspecting the picnic, exclaimed: "Wonderful. It is a wonderful work."

Arrest Joyriders in Stolen Automobile

Four youthful joyriders motoring along Cumming street yesterday morning at 2:45 were halted by Detectives Trapp and Munch.

Those arrested were: George Mahoney, 4401 Farnam street; Joe Cody, 108 North Fortieth street; W. J. Donovan, 819 North Fortieth street, and E. M. Hawley, 1417 North Fortieth street.

Police reported that the car used by the quartet had been stolen from the Peterson garage at Fortieth and Cumming streets.

Man Sent to Jail for 30 Days for Abusing Family

Burning words were fired at Emil Spaustat, 5615 South Twenty-third street, by the judge in South Side police court yesterday, and then a 30-day sentence in jail was levied against him, after neighbors and Mrs. Spaustat had testified Emil came home Wednesday night and began abusing his family while under the influence of alcohol. He's been doing that little thing quite a bit lately, the neighbors said. Emil is a cigarmaker.

WHY—

Do We Get Corns?
Defined by the dictionary as "a callous growth of the skin caused by intermittent pressure," a "corn" is therefore seen to be due to rubbing or pressing upon any portion of the body—although we generally apply the term to the feet only. Here the callous growth is due to the pressure of the leather of the shoes upon some outstanding portion of the foot, principally the joints or sides of the toes. But note that word "intermittent" in the definition of the term "corn," for there lies the entire reason for the hard growth. Inasmuch as we remove our shoes at night, no pressure of this kind can be regarded as continuous and, if it were, no corn would appear, but the skin would be worn away like a cushion instead of a lump. Removing the pressure from time to time permits the skin to build up the injured tissues and to attempt to guard this portion of the body by a coating of a hard substance or callous. It is this coating which causes the pain of a corn, for it presses upon the more delicate structure underneath and results in a hurt precisely similar to the one which we experience if we press against any portion of the skin with a blunt instrument.

Common Sense

By J. J. MUNDY.
Ever Have a Grouch?
Did you ever know anyone to be grouchy who did not think they had a grievance?
What would seem like a grievance to another might not affect you at all, but nevertheless the man or the woman with a grouch has a personal grievance.
If you are closely connected with the grouchy one, you are the first to notice it and wonder why.
You cannot imagine, when you are feeling good, why another should feel quite the opposite.
When persons think busy every minute there is no time to think, but when a rest is imperative or there is a bit of leisure, the mind begins to think.
Look out that no one has a chance to feel lonely on your account.
Because specific facts are not mentioned from day to day in this regard is no reason for believing that the time is far distant when certain things are going to strike home to the other fellow.
In providing yourself amusement, do not think to ease your mind about those dependent upon you to state their personal likes and dislikes in the amusement question and take a definite sum and do a certain thing to "make up" for what you do.

Dundee Children Hold Carnival for Milk Fund

A carnival, given by a group of Dundee children, netted $3.06 for the Bee milk and ice fund for the poor.

Twice as Much.

Howell to Speak For Open Primary

Requests N. P. League to Be Allowed to Express Views When Referendum Filed.

R. B. Howell, republican national committeeman and candidate for United States senator, asserted yesterday that "certain persons" are endeavoring to connect him with the Nonpartisan league.

Mr. Howell is interested in the preservation of the open primary. Recently he wrote to C. A. Sorenson, counsel for the Nonpartisan league at Lincoln, asking to be advised when referendum petitions will be filed with the secretary of state, particularly with reference to the new law which affects the open primary.

"I am going to Lincoln next Monday morning and expect to have something to say when these petitions are filed," said Mr. Howell.

"The Nonpartisan league did not invite me to speak on this occasion; I asked the Nonpartisan league to be advised of the time so that I might appear and express myself. I am against any curtailment of our primary system."

Semi-Anthracite Coal Price Goes Up $1 Ton

A drop in the price of oil is offered as the explanation of the increase of the price of semi-anthracite coal.

Builders' Exchange And Crafts Agree on Adjustment of Wages

Adjustments of wages are being accomplished between the Builders' Exchange and some of the crafts through an adjustment committee.

It is believed that the carpenters will agree to a scale of 90 cents an hour. The contractors' committee announced that ironworkers and hoisting engineers have accepted a reduction of 20 per cent, bringing their wages to $1 an hour.

Bricklayers are working for 10 per cent less than last year and the committee anticipates that this craft soon will accept another reduction of 10 per cent.

First Real Action To Prevent Future Wars

The discouragement and pessimism of people the world over who thought all the bloodshed and suffering of the black years of war had brought nothing but heartache and taxes, seemed to turn again into hope a few days ago when President Harding sent out a call to the Great Powers for a disarmament conference, and they all agreed to come. Nation seemed to call to nation in the cable dispatches from London, Paris, Rome, Tokyo and Berlin, telling of cheering parliaments, and approving statesmen and leaders of opinion in the press rising to a world-circling chorus. "A start has actually been made" toward disarmament, and, the New York World notes, "the richest and most powerful of all countries has taken the first step. . . . Peoples staggering under an unbearable burden of taxation are not likely to support governmental quibbling and halting," now that the start has been made. "We are ready to discuss with American statesmen any proposal for the limitation of armaments which they wish to set out, and we can undertake that no such overtures will find lack of willingness on our part to meet them," declared Prime Minister Lloyd George. In Japan, former Minister of Justice Ozaki, touring the country for disarmament, declared on July 4th that such a conference as President Harding has now called would "surely be the beginning of a solution of all the diplomatic questions between Japan and the United States."

While there are some skeptical voices raised in various quarters, there is no doubt that there is a real world demand for the limitation, if not the entire scrapping of present day navies. THE LITERARY DIGEST, in this week's number, dated July 23d, presents public opinion upon the question as reflected in the press of the leading nations.
