House Party.

Up in Rainy lake, Canada, there are hundreds of beautiful islands and one of these a home is owned by D. H. Waller of this city. To that spot the Wallers go every summer, and this year they have invited a number of Council Bluffs people to join them for a month of good fishing, swimming and general outdoor sport. They plan to leave Council Bluffs Tuesday evening, and after spending a day in Minneapolis will go onto this haven of rest and quiet.

In the party will be Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Cutler and daughter, Mary Louise, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Flickinger and son, Tom, Mr. and Mrs. George Wickham and daughter Mary Virginia and Mr. and Mrs. Waller, with their sons, Jimmie and Donnie. They will be met on the island by Mr. Waller's mother and brother from Des Moines, who will also be there for the summer.

For Marlborough Girls.

Two students from Marlborough in Los Angeles have recently been visiting in Omaha and Council Bluffs with girls from this vicinity, who are attending that school, and many delightful affairs have been planned in their honor.

Last week Miss June Davis had as her guest Miss Blanche Condy, who was en route from California to her home in Minneapolis, and a preliminary to this visitor entertained at luncheon on Saturday. Others present were Misses Gretchen Empey, Emma Hoagland and Cornelia Baum of Omaha, all of whom were together in school last year.

Miss Louise Knott of Des Moines, another Marlborough girl, is now visiting in Omaha with Miss Cornelia Baum, and has been extensively entertained ever since her arrival. Miss Davis gave a dinner of 12 covers at the Country club in her honor Friday evening, the guests later attending the semi-weekly dance.

Before returning to her home Miss Knott will visit Miss Gretchen Empey at their summer home on Lake Manawa.

Motor Trip.

A very enjoyable motor trip to Itasca State park, Minnesota, has been planned for this week, and on Wednesday three cars will leave from here for that point.

In the party will be Dr. and Mrs. E. T. Seybert and daughters, Rose and Claire, Dr. and Mrs. B. A. Moore, W. E. Mitchell, Erskine Mitchell, Harry Cooper, Dick Barstow and Don Annis. Mrs. Annis, who has been ill at Mercy hospital, will go on the train with her nurse and meet the others at Douglas Lodge, where they will remain during the month of August.

Breakfast.

A 10 o'clock breakfast of 24 covers was given at the Country club Thursday morning by Mrs. George Gretzer and Miss Esther Groneweg.

Most of the guests remained at the lake for the afternoon, some playing bridge and others with needle work.

Golf.

Less than a dozen women were on the golf course at the Country club Wednesday morning and three of these were from Omaha.

In the putting contest Mrs. Dillon Ross won the prize.

Friday Bridge Club.

The Friday bridge club held their regular semi-monthly meeting last week, on which occasion Mrs. Howard Butler and Mrs. X. W. Kynett were club guests.

Mrs. L. L. Henninger and Mrs. Glen Reed were the hostesses and after luncheon at the Country club the afternoon was spent with bridge.

Club Reservations.

Among those who made reservations for the dinner dances at the Country club Tuesday and Friday evenings were: E. W. Hart, John Davis, Dr. Charles Woodbury, Norman Filbert, Roger Coker, Esther Terry, John Kimball, Fred Empey, Harry Seales, C. A. Williamson, Mrs. Metzger, Mrs. Van Arnum, Mr. Haverick, Mrs. N. O'Brien, Mr. Gretzer and Mr. Quick from Omaha.

Mrs. Frank Fox and little daughter, Lorna Jean, who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Reed, left Friday for their home in Des Moines.

J. C. Pryor, who arrived home last week from his European trip with the Rotarians, is staying at the Country club until the return of Mrs. Pryor and children, who are visiting relatives in California.

Returns From Abroad

LAURA MATTHEWS
RINEHART-MARSDEN

Miss Laura Matthews, Council Bluffs girl, who served overseas as one of two delegates sent by the Iowa Federation of Women's clubs, leaving in January, 1919, landed in New York last Sunday.

Varied have been her experiences abroad. Her first duties were at Dinard, France, a former summer resort on the northern coast of Brittany, which was given over to a leave-area for the A. E. F., which was on permission. The following June, when this resort was closed she was assigned to Pershing's regiment, which was stationed in Paris during the Olympic games. Miss Matthews, as one of the 12 girls in Y. M. C. A. uniform, did entertaining for this regiment, which was a composite one, being picked men from the first six regiments. While there she had the unusual experience of seeing General Pershing and his men, on July 14, march through the Arch of Triumph, in one of the greatest parades history has known.

During these seven months of service Miss Matthews had acquired such great respect and love for the French people that she was loath to leave them. On learning that with a little better knowledge of the language she might enlist her services with the reconstruction committee of the Methodist church, she went in the devastated regions, she went to the famous Yersin sisters for an intensive course in French, during which time she lived with a family who spoke no English. Very soon her efforts were rewarded and with a former Omaha girl, Miss Emma Robertson, known to Brownell Hall students as "Bobbie," she was assigned to a moral and physical piece of reconstruction work at Chateau Thierry. The heavy exposures and fatiguing duties, however, obliged Miss Matthews to discontinue this for a time, after which the committee sent her to Toulon, a large naval port, on the Riviera, where she was assigned to a moral and physical piece of reconstruction work at Chateau Thierry. The heavy exposures and fatiguing duties, however, obliged Miss Matthews to discontinue this for a time, after which the committee sent her to Toulon, a large naval port, on the Riviera, where she was assigned to a moral and physical piece of reconstruction work at Chateau Thierry.

The first floor is confined principally to a large recital and class room and a cafeteria. The second floor has a cafeteria, with a seating capacity of over 200, and the third, fourth and fifth floors are rented out to working women. The creche, or "Bird's Nest," as it is called, occupies the sixth floor. Here babies from 15 days to two years, all children of working women, are cared for under the direction of a physician, graduate nurse and her assistants.

In the building there is also an educational department offering classes in English, stenography, bookkeeping, sewing, millinery, etc. A choral society has been launched, and employment bureau established and there will soon be a Boy Scout organization. Concerts and entertainments for the benefit of the creche are often given, and at one held in May, Madame Chaminade contributed with some of her own piano compositions.

Miss Matthews was the only American in Toulon and states that during the first few months, when she was obliged to hire a French help, it was rather a difficult problem, but now she is not conscious of any effort to either read or speak the language.

When she landed in New York last Sunday she was met at the boat by two Council Bluffs girls, Miss Dora Lyon and Miss Hazel Long, who are taking post-graduate courses at Columbia. Miss Matthews expects to be in Council Bluffs later for a brief stay, en route to the coast where her father is now making his home.

Prior to leaving Council Bluffs Miss Matthews was actively engaged in the Red Cross work of this city. Colorado and next Sunday will occupy his former pulpit in the First Presbyterian church.

Miss Blanche Suing left Friday for her home in Spokane, Wash., after a short stay with her aunt, Miss Mary Paschel. Miss Suing teaches in the public schools of Kansas City, and before returning to her duties in September, plans to make another visit at the Paschel home.

Miss June Davis leaves tonight for Washington, D. C., where she will visit the Dr. Merritt family, who have made that city their home ever since leaving Council Bluffs. Upon her return home Miss Davis will make preparations to leave for Los Angeles as she graduates in June from the Marlborough school.

Cultivate That Company Habit

Don't get out of the habit of having guests in your house. Don't let your husband get to the point where he feels that he can be grouchy just because guests for dinner are expected. Don't let yourself get to the point where you feel a grievance if your husband tells you he is bringing a guest home for dinner.

There is a feeling that comes over a household, when guests have departed after a successful little dinner or luncheon or breakfast that is tremendously satisfactory. You have been stimulated and diverted by the conversation and personality of your guests, you have enjoyed a rather better dinner than usual, and you have been pleased to other. Then possibly there is mingled with these that other feeling that you are keeping the social ball rolling, that you are adding something to the friendly intercourse of your community.

It isn't a bad idea to make a practice of having guests about once every week. Many persons have more often, much often. Possibly some people have dinner guests so often that they hardly know the feeling of dinner strictly in the bosom of their family. But there are more families who get to be close corporations when all times come. If they have no maid their excuse is that it means extra work, and if they have maids comes the excuse that they are afraid the maids might leave if there was company.

Think over the people you know who have the company habit. Are they the people who generally look cheerful and get along well with their own families? And the people who practically never ask a guest to their table—aren't they the people who seem to be getting a little crabbed and forlorn?

and Mrs. McLean did the shopping, then the three went down to the dock and tried the samples everywhere till they got just what the first lady of the land wanted and approved of, and she is a woman who knows exactly what she wants and exactly what she does not want. It was considerable work, but the result is worth it. The Mayflower is a worthy sea-going vessel. It has had an honorable career, too. It was built more than 25 years ago for Robert Golet of New York. He offered it to the government for use in the Spanish war, at the close of which it was brought to Washington and put into commission as a yacht for the president. Colonel Roosevelt was the first to make much use of it. It was used also in the late war. At the end of next week, probably Friday, it will start for Boston with the President and Mrs. Harding on board and a small party of friends. They will sail for Plymouth for the celebration there and return here the following week.

One of the largest tea parties which Mrs. Harding has given on board was that given to some of the women writers of Washington, mainly those who write of society and the people. It was a charming party and the distinguished hostess was an unusually charming and informal one. Her costume, distinctly appropriate and distinctly "smart," was of white Moorish crepe with trimmings of jade green. It was a plain skirt and Tulle style coat, with which she wore a very smart small hat of white duvetyne, with a narrow brim turned up jauntily at the front, a little to the right side, where soft white and jade breast feathers held it.

Miss Esther McLaughlin, daughter of the representative from York, Neb., has returned to the McLaughlin home in Washington after attending the Christian Endeavor convention in New York, to which she was a delegate.

Mrs. Andrews, wife of the representative from Hastings, Neb., is regaining her strength steadily after her long illness brought on from overwork during the war, when she attempted to keep up her work with the Day Nursery which she organized and to look after the children of the young girl workers who could not find proper homes. Mrs. Andrews had intended to go home for the summer, but has changed her plans. She will take up duties as an official hostess again by the time the season opens next winter.

Mrs. Denise Barlow, who formerly was Miss Louise Peck of Omaha, returned on Wednesday from a several weeks' visit at Watch Hill, R. I., as the guest of Mrs. Phillips, wife of the senator from Colorado. Mrs. Barlow will remain in their pretty Georgetown home probably until the autumn.

Mrs. Clarence R. Day nee Smith of Omaha, who is prolonging her visit in the Canal Zone, Panama, was among the guests at a dinner given on July 2 by Governor and Mrs. Morrow in honor of Brigadier General and Mrs. W. D. Connor, who are also visiting there.

Mrs. Victor Rosewater came recently from Omaha and joined Mr. Rosewater for an indefinite stay. They are established in an apartment at Wardman Park Inn and have with them their young daughter. Their son is staying in Baltimore with his maternal grandparents.

Cocoon Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulised cocoon oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better. It does anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two bottles of Mulised will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulised cocoon oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces are enough to last everyone in the family for months.

Be sure your druggist gives you Mulised.

Mother's Vacation List.

YOU'VE heard of the Mother who was happy over an experience in a hospital "because it was the first real rest she had had in years?" The Brandeis Book Shop, main floor Brandeis Stores, suggests a selection from the following titles:

Fifteen Hundred Shoe Retailers Attend First Day of the Brooklyn Shoe Style Show.

INTERESTING, indeed, is the news which Mr. Tuttle of Thos. Kilpatrick & Co., Fifteenth and Douglas, brings to feminine Omaha from the Brooklyn Footwear Style Show from which he has just returned. Judging from the shoes displayed on living models at the style show, Mr. Tuttle declares for patent leather as the particularly new style note for the coming season. Milady's whims for fanciful footwear are expressed in strap models slightly shorter in the vamp with either high or low heels.

The knickerbocker suit, called the "Free Swing," is something quite new in sport clothes. It is a three-piece outfit, consisting of coat, knickerbockers and circular skirt. The suits are fashioned in tweed, homespun and a novelty knitted fabric with a tweed finish.

Specialty Shop Presents Unusual Appearance During the Closing Out Sale.

THE Lamond Specialty Shop, second floor Securities building, Sixteenth and Farnam, presents a most unusual appearance to the casual caller these days for every garment in the store is out on great revolving racks down the center of the store. The entire stock is being cleared out at special prices. A buying opportunity to be embraced, I assure you, for the new store, Seventeenth and Farnam, which is to be opened between August 1 and 10 will display only new fall apparel.

Printed foulard is very much used. It is often combined with serge and thus makes charming coat dresses.

When One Wishes A Friend Bon Voyage

QUITE the nicest thing to do is to avail oneself of the opportunity for a dainty gift from the selection offered at the John Hendrickson Jewel Shop, Sixteenth and Capitol. Any girl would be delighted to open a small package to find revealed a delicately wrought little Swiss watch of white gold mounted on a serviceable black corded ribbon! And if she's a wee bit vain, she would be enchanted by a silver vanity case in which to carry small coins so necessary on a trip by train or boat with compartments for powder, memorandum pad and puff.

Youthful cloth models show a tight bodice and full skirt, not circular, for the circular skirt has been tried and found wanting.

Fourth in Series of Corset Talks. HATTIE PUTNAM, of the Nabone Corset Shop, fifth floor Karbach block, Fifteenth and Douglas, continuing the educative corset talks, quotes a man who is on the board of directors of a big metropolitan hospital: "Economical women have changed," he said, "but physically you are just the same—perhaps not so strong as your grandmothers were. You women in business must not match only brains with the men, but if you are going to succeed you must match them in physique. Half the women who complain of backache would have no backache if they would support the abdomen with a proper corset."

Following Footsteps of Fashion

My Beauty: BEAURY spots the world over and beckoning a call to come and spend a happy vacation—long, sunny days of freedom from the cares that infest the days of a working world.

Nothing adds quite the dash of verve to a holiday as the consciousness that the clothes worn and packed into the smart luggage which you claim as your own are correct in every detail. May I help in their selection?

Enamelled bird cages of all the bright shades of the rainbow are sold now. One wonders just how a yellow canary feeds in a bright green cage and how a white, black and yellow bird feels in a cage of purple and rose color. Perhaps canaries have not a keen sense of color. At any rate, these enamelled shades are useful to use where one color is insisted on throughout a room.

Yellow garden chairs and green ones, of iron, heavily enamelled, are placed alternately at a gray enamelled garden table. Over them is an umbrella of green and yellow stripes. The effect is fresh and attractive.

Ash tray nests of colored glass bound with brass or nickel and with a rest for pipe, cigar or cigarette are especially good looking, and they are not very expensive and come in many colors. They may be chosen in an appropriate shade for each room in the house.
