

Council Fixes Howard Street Building Lines

Objection to Plan for Ceding Strips on South Side Met by Agreement Reached With Property Owners.

The Howard street controversy was adjusted by the city council yesterday when the city commissioners visited the site of the proposed change of building lines between Seventeenth and Eighteenth streets.

No difference of opinion existed as to the necessity or the method of straightening the north side of Howard street by condemning 10 feet, which new line is being observed by the paving contractor who is at work.

Permitted Building Extension.

The chief objection to the proposed plan for ceding a strip on the south side of the street was that it permitted a possible building extension of 23 feet for the Flatiron building at the Seventeenth street point and thus would place the new building line out of harmony with a line of vision from the east or west.

The owners of the Flatiron property agreed to accept 17 1/2 feet of additional building space instead of 23 feet, which proposition was agreeable to L. V. Nicholas and other protesters. This contemplates a wide sidewalk at the Flatiron corner.

Wolf to Get $20,000.

The proposition submitted by City Commissioner Koutsky and informal approved yesterday afternoon by council was that city pay Harry A. Wolf $20,000 for his leasehold interest of half of the north strip and the Kountze interests on the south side of the street pay $6,000 as their share of the $20,000, the balance to be paid through the medium of special taxes to be assessed through the district.

Howard street will be 67 feet wide between Seventeenth and Eighteenth, according to the new plan.

Flanagan May Join His Wife in France And Make Home There

Celine Rossi Flanagan, pretty French bride of Charles Flanagan of Omaha, will remain for the present in France, where she is now visiting her parents, instead of returning to this country next month, as she was expected to do.

Her husband may join her there this fall and make his home in France.

"Her father is interested in a string of hotels, is taking over some more which he would like to have as help him run," said Flanagan. "I haven't decided definitely yet whether I will go over or not."

He said his wife naturally retained a deep love for her native land and would rather remain there if he would consent to live there.

Flanagan is a brother of Mrs. Charles E. Fanning.

School Tax Levy of 12 Mills To Net District $4,000,000 This Year

The school tax levy for this year will be 12 mills, netting the school district $4,000,000 for its budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The new levy, approved yesterday by the Board of Education, represents a 20 per cent increase and is only 1 mill under the maximum on the full valuation basis of applying the levy.

The 12-mill levy is based on a full valuation of $304,308,000, as against a 50-mill levy on one-fifth valuation, last year.

A $241,000 item provided is to remove part of a deficit of $1,802,000 carried last year.

Grain Shipments Increase 85 Per Cent Over Last Year

Grain shipments on the Burlington railroad are 85 per cent heavier this year than last, according to General Manager Thiehoff of the Burlington lines west.

Wheat began to move speedily last week and for the past eight days railroads have been using all their cars to move wheat which is being shipped to Chicago, Kansas City and Galveston.

A shortage of cars is threatened by an embargo placed on the port at Galveston. Officials are doing all they can to expedite loading and releasing of empty grain cars in order to keep the grain moving from the farms.

Mother Fights Reduction Of Alimony for Her Son

Mrs. Florence L. Crow, first wife of Donald Crow, president of a local tire and rubber company, will oppose her former husband's efforts to reduce her $150 a month alimony to $20 for the support of their little son, Joseph.

Florence objects to Bessie, the second Mrs. Crow, living in the exclusive Tadousac apartments and driving a fine automobile while she works for $50 a month to augment her allowance.

Dakota Benedict Held for Bringing Girl to Lincoln

A married man in search of adventure, John Nichols, of Sioux Falls, S. D., languishes in the Lincoln jail, awaiting return orders to his home town.

Nichols is accused of taking Beulah Conn, also of Sioux Falls, from there to Omaha last week and thence to Lincoln. E. W. Byrn, Department of Justice special agent, had them arrested under the Mann act.

THE BATHTUB PIRATE

Though gales be strong and billows rough
And black with storm the skies,
From Faucet Point to Porcelain Bluff
His evil signal flies,
And well may mariners turn pale
And head their craft toward home,
When they descry his belying sail
Across the tossing foam.

Where he has cruised, along the beach
Are stately ships and grand
Whose gaunt and naked timbers bleach
Upon the sunlit sand,
Where he has sailed, beneath the waves
Are heaps of human bones
Consigned to the eternal grave
Watched o'er by Davy Jones.

Blow high or low, he holds his course
Forever in pursuit—
(Untouched by pity or remorse)—
Of galleons to loot,
And treasure vessels seek in vain
To double Shower Cape,
When he appears upon the main
He baffles all escape.

But even pirates need not rest,
And when the shadows fall,
Across the ocean's heaving breast
A deep and purple pall,
He says farewell a while to crime,
For Mother pats his head,
And murmurs: "Don't you think it's time
That children were in bed?"

SLEEPY-TIME TALES THE TALE OF CHIRPY CRICKET

BY ARTHUR SCOTT BAILEY

CHAPTER XV.

Tommy Tree Cricket.
After meeting that odd Mr. Mole Cricket, who claimed to be his cousin, Chirpy Cricket tried to find out more about him from his nearer relations. But there wasn't one that had ever seen or heard of such a person. One night Chirpy even travelled quite a distance to call on Tommy Tree Cricket with the hope that perhaps Tommy might be able to tell him something.

Chirpy found Tommy Tree Cricket in the tangle of raspberry bushes beyond the garden. It was not hard to tell where he was, because he was a famous fiddler. He played a tune that was different from Chirpy's cr-r-r-i! cr-r-r-i! cr-r-r-i!

Tommy Tree Cricket fiddled re-teat! re-teat! re-teat! And many considered him a much finer musician than Chirpy himself. He was small and pale. Beside Chirpy Cricket, who was all but black, Tommy Tree Cricket looked decidedly delicate. But he could fiddle all night without getting tired.

"I've come all the way from the yard to have a chat with you!" Chirpy called to his cousin Tommy. "Come up and have a seat!" said Tommy Tree Cricket.

"I can find one here, thank you!" Chirpy answered. "Oh! Don't sit on the damp ground!" Tommy cried. "That's a dangerous thing to do."

Chirpy Cricket smiled to himself. In a way Tommy Tree Cricket was queer. He always clung to trees and shrubs, claiming that it was much more healthful to live off the ground. But he was so pale that Chirpy Cricket was sure he was mistaken.

"The ground's good enough for me," Chirpy told his cousin. "Well, we won't quarrel about that."

"How quickly it heals! Yes, that's the point. Almost the moment this gentle ointment touches the sick skin, itching stops and healing begins. Does not burn or sting even when applied to the most irritated surface. You get it from your druggist."

Chirpy Cricket thought that his cousin's face was slightly darker, as if a flush of annoyance had come over it. He certainly didn't want to quarrel with Tommy Tree Cricket. So he said to him, very mildly, "I fear you do not like my playing."

"I can't say that I do," said Tommy. "It makes me think of that creaking pump at the farm house."

"And of what?" Chirpy Cricket stammered—"of what, pray, does your own fiddling remind you?"

"Ah!" said Tommy. "My own music is like nothing in the world except the sound of a shimmering moonbeam."

There is no doubt that Tommy Tree Cricket thought very well of his own fiddling.

Bee Milk Fund For City's Babies Closes August 1

New Contributions Bring Total Near to $1,000 Mark—Work to Continue While Money Lasts.

The 1921 Bee milk and ice fund closes August 1.

With subscriptions nearing the $1,000-mark, the goal set by Miss Florence McCabe, superintendent of the Visiting Nurse association, as necessary to provide milk and ice for poor children of Omaha throughout the hot summer months, The Bee set this date to terminate the fund.

Hundreds of underfed kiddies in the city have been nourished and their thin little frames built up through the generosity of The Bee readers. The good work will continue as long as the fund lasts.

"I hope this check will help keep at least one baby comfortable," wrote L. P. U., enclosing a $5 check.

To date, subscriptions are as follows:

Previously acknowledged ..... $990.58
L. P. U. ..... 5.00
Total ..... $995.58

Brief City News

Backs Woman's Club Drive.

Mayor Dahlgren urges the city to support the $20,000 drive of the Omaha Woman's club for funds for their new clubhouse.

Carriers Must Walk.

Mail carriers may not take street cars for distances less than one-half mile, according to a new ruling from the department in Washington.

Returns From Prague.

Miss Catherine Gavin, who has been in Red Cross work in Prague, Czechoslovakia, for more than two years, is expected back in Omaha the end of August.

Wait for Lower Bids.

Believing that lower bids can be obtained next spring the city will hold up paving of Forts-fifth street, from the Deaf Institute to Bedford avenue, and other streets in that vicinity.

May Continue to Shine.

Despite a petition signed by leading Omahans the city council declined yesterday to take action against an alleged offensive electrical sign in front of a Farnam street mortuary.

Evades Constables.

Paul Musser, Wichita ball player, was successful in evading constables who attempted to serve him with papers for a $10,000 breach of promise suit brought by Helen Tomlinson, who says he is the father of her child, born July 2. Musser left with the team yesterday.
