By RALPH WAGNER.

METHING like 50 years ago the Indians were chasing Buffaloes over the plains of Nebraska, and even right here in certain sections of Omaha. But, times changed. Base ball clubs have been formed. Buffaloes have been put in parks inclosed with fence and Indians are kept on reservations.

Yesterday a tribe of Indians, who escaped from their reservation down in Oklahoma City last Wednesday, came to Omaha for the express purpase of capturing Burch's herd of Puffaloes, the only ones in the Western league, but after nine innings the Red Skins discovered that it required more than just common ordinary ball playing to win over the Buffaloes.

The score, by the way, was 6 to 2, which doesn't half tell the story.

Lee Scores First.

In the olden days, so old-timers say, Buffaloes didn't have much love for Red Skins. The same thing was true yesterday. The Omaba herd started pulling away from the Indians in the initial round when they scored one tally. Buffalo Lee singled and stole second. The Indians were asleep. Lelivelt got a life when a Red Skin made an error and Lee advanced to third. The Buffalo first haseman started to second and Lee sicked up the dust down the path to home, and before the Indians could open their glimmers Lee had crossed the pan with the initial counter.

Nothing happened that caused the customers to exercise their vocal chords in the second stanza, save a double play by the Red Skins and Buffalo Okrie's splendid pitching.

In the third spasm four Buffaloes made tracks over the home plate. Okrie doubled to left and advanced to third on Gislason's single. Haney forced the Buffalo pitcher at the plate and the game was resumed.

Okrie, p. plate and the game was resumed. Lee slapped one of Pitcher Stoner's deliveries on the nose and sent the ball out to right field for a dcuble, Gislason scoring and Haney advancing to third. Lelivelt walked and ail the bags were occupied by Buffaloes. Griffin forced Lelivelt at second and in the meantime Haney scored the third Omaha tally.

At this section of the contest one Red Skin by the name of Dick Breen, manager, started on the warpath. Breen was of the opinion that Griffin was out at first, but his epinion didn't amount to much, as Ump" Burnside ordered the Indian off the field. Red Skins are kinda contrary and Breen isn't an exception. He walked over to his team's dugout and planted himself on the bench. But, that didn't satisfy Burnside. A policeman was called and Breen was escorted off the field, leaving the Indians without a manager to finish the battle. Then Lee scored his second run and Griffin his first on O'Brien's single to right. Score Final Run in Sixth.

The fifth resulted in the sixth and final Buffalo counter when Haney tripled to center and scored on Lelivelt's sacrifice.

During eight innings the Indians were unable to solve Okrie's delivery. Oklahoma City collected five scattered hits in the eight rounds and was not able to shove a player past second base. This was due to the good pitching of the Buffalo southpaw coupled with the errorless Omaha support. However, in the ninth the Indians went on the warpath and nearly chased the Buffaloes out of a vic-Heatley nicked Okrie for a Harper was an easy out. but Shanley spanked the ball out to center for a double, scoring Heatley. Graham poled one out to center for single and things looked bad for the locals. Wright doubled to center and Shanley scored the second and final Oklahoma City tally. Parker forced Graham at the plate for the second out and Salisbury no-decision centest here last night went in to hit for Stoner. He popped by a knockout. Referee Jimmy out to "Cy" Lingle and the game Gardner of Boston gave the decision

Rain Causes Delay in State Tennis Tourney

Ol' Jupiter Pluvius turned on his The feature match brought de-the Omaha Field club tennis courts a bath. In fact, he gave the courts such a soaking with H20 that it was necessary for the state tournament committee to postpone all matches scheduled for today.

Yesterday's feature match brought up a good fight to show that he's not a "has been," but the easy sweeping strokes and clever headwork of the Missourian were too much.

Joe Adams made a strong comeback in the second set of his match with A. Philbrook Smith, Iowa state champ, but lost in straight sets. Godshall and Coffin made a real OxRohwer 1 0 0 6 comeback in their doubles match with O'Neil and Banister, defeating the local players, 7-5, 6-3. The Omahans had set point four times, but a rally by the visitors darkened the hopes of Percy and Eddie. Art Scribner's backhand held no terror for Wray Brown of St. Louis, for Mr. Brown placed the ball where the former city champion's famous stroke could not be used to any advantage, and won in straight sets of 6-0, 6-3. Godshall's match with Nichols did not speak so well for the Californian. He played splendid tennis during the first day, but didn't seem to get started until the latter part of the Nichols match when he walked all over his weaker opponent, winning, Mary Gant, former state champ, was defeated by Mrs. J. White, sister of State Champion Anita Currey, by the score of 7-5, 6-4. Mrs. White had a big advantage in a hard serve which Miss Gant was unable to return during the first set. Miss Gant made many points on her placements and on Mrs. White's lets, while her opponent excelled in a hard drive.
